New Playground Opened by Taylor on Site of Big Stough Tabernacle

Children's shrill laughter, shrieks of delight, shouts of encouragement and the clash of baseball bats, the jangling of quoits—these are the noises that now replace the sound of hundreds of voices raised in prayer or hymn that once resounded from the section of the vacant block at North and Elbert streets, the site of the great Stough tabernacle in the Eighth ward.

The space has been thrown open as a temporary playground for the colored children.

Within a day or two Park Commissioner Taylor will also open a smaller section of the same plot for white boys. The commissioner obtained the use of the site for the summer from the Capitol Park Extension Commission.

Six-Weeks Bride Loses Husband She Married Propped Up in Bed

Six short weeks after Miss Katherine Stemer, Duncannon, became the pretty bride of Daniel Smith, 1312 North Sixth street, this city, she became his grieving widow. That is only part of the romance of Daniel Smith and Katherine Stemer; there's another end of the story in which the Grim Visitor of the Shadows played an important part.

Miss Stemer, 18, and Mr. Smith, 23, had been engaged since last Fall and June 4 of this year was fixed for the wedding. Only a few months ago Mr. Smith became seriously ill and after the physicians had made a careful examination, the groom-to-be had a very solemn little talk with the weeping bride-elect—and both decided that if they were to be married at all the time for the ceremony would have to be advanced. So the wedding occurred on April 15. Smith was propped up in bed on pillows while the Rev. Dr. S. Edwin Rupp, pastor of Otterbein U. B. church, read the marriage service.

Six weeks later Mrs. Katherine Stemer Smith donned widow's weeds. At the identical hour, day of the year and at the same age, the death of her youthful husband, the widow's father died just thirteen years before. And that's the other end of the story.

The Triple Alliance in Space Buying and Selling

Advertiser, Agent and Publisher find A. B. C. Service of mutual profit because—
A. B. C. Service means hard cold facts about circulation—quality, quantity and distribution. It assembles figures, checks them, verifies them—puts them in standardized form so you can analyze them at a glance.

Results come from A. B. C. Service—no guesswork, no theory, just facts. You want facts about circulation because they mean well spent appropriations for the Advertiser, efficient service for the Agent, increased business for the Publisher. A. B. C. Service is the only logical answer to the space buying problem.

The Audit Bureau of Circulations is a co-operative organization—not for profit—its membership includes nearly one thousand Advertisers, Advertising-agents and Publishers, pledged to buy and sell circulation on a commodity basis—both as to quality and quantity. Complete information regarding the service and membership may be obtained by addressing—Russell R. Whitman, Managing Director,
