

WOMEN AND THEIR INTERESTS

How to Keep a Husband's Love

By DOROTHY DIX

One of the burning topics of interest to every married woman and especially to the married woman who is getting unfair and fat, and forty, and whose husband is accumulating enough money to make him attractive to other women, is how to retain a husband's love.

Under such conditions keeping a firm, yet gentle grasp upon a slim, slippery diversion compared to holding a man nailed to his own bedside. Hence most middle-aged ladies spend much time, and thought and labor, on how to keep their husbands fascinated, and thus circumvent the charmer, and prevent the head of the house from roaming.

Average Man Not Jealous Men do not bother to try to preserve their wives' affections. Whether this is a compliment and indicates a husband's perfect faith in his wife's love and loyalty, or whether it is an insult and shows that he esteems her so unattractive that he thinks that he can't lose her, no woman knows.

Men do not bother to try to preserve their wives' affections. Whether this is a compliment and indicates a husband's perfect faith in his wife's love and loyalty, or whether it is an insult and shows that he esteems her so unattractive that he thinks that he can't lose her, no woman knows.

to give her pleasure. So one is inclined to judge leniently the lady whose errand heart went after the man who used, as her husband avers, "fourteen lavish ways of spending money to win her love."

But, after all, the moral of the case is not in what the lover did, but what the husband left undone. Few, if any, women ever really sell their love, but many men lose a woman's affection because they are too stingy to keep it.

They justify themselves by saying that Mary or Sally can buy what she pleases at the shops, and they hold that in paying her bills they are making her a perpetual present.

Nothing is so funereal as a pleasure jaunt forced upon one, and the man who has to take his wife away because she has nagged him into doing it, is in a surly temper that makes him take it out in rowing with the street car conductor, abusing the play they go to see and badgering the waiter at the restaurant.

Not so acts the man whose pleasure in being with a woman makes him smile upon the world, regard the street car conductor as a long-lost brother, every play as a masterpiece, and the waiter as a godling who serves nectar and ambrosia, and who deserves to have gold and silver offered up before him.

There is a lesson for men in the man who won a wife long ago from her husband by fourteen lavish ways of spending money. It's good economy to keep things in repair, even a wife's heart, and lots of divorce expenses and alimony money could be saved by a few judicious investments of small change in candy and violets.

Continuation System Will Become Operative in January and Plans Are Being Made

While the work of the State Bureau of Vocational Education is only in what might be called the formative stages of organization, the continuation school system contemplated by the Cox Child Law enough has been worked out from reports of districts to show that it will be an enterprise of far greater magnitude than many people realize.

The bureau has received reports from enough school districts to indicate that there are 42,167 minors between the ages of fourteen and sixteen now employed. Of this number 22,000 are employed in Philadelphia.

A statement issued to-day says: "In the general appropriation bill one million dollars was provided for the next two years for the purposes of equalizing educational opportunities and encouraging and promoting vocational and practical education, as the needs of the Commonwealth require."

"These additional funds will be given to the various school districts in which continuation schools will be established in order that they may give additional compensation to the teachers in these schools because of the special service and qualifications required of these teachers."

"It is the intention of the State Educational Authorities to limit the number of pupils in charge of a teacher at one time to twenty. Applications are being received daily from teachers who expect to attend the summer schools. In order that adequate provision may be made for those desiring to avail themselves of the opportunity afforded in the continuation schools, applications should be filed with the bureau of vocational education, Harrisburg, Pa., before July 15."

AMUSEMENTS

"THE ISLAND OF REGENERATION" "TODAY AND TO-MORROW AT THE VICTORIA" A real treat is in store for the patrons of this popular theater to-day and to-morrow in a six-part Vitaphone production entitled "The Island of Regeneration." This great play is an elaborate pictorialization of the Rev. Cyrus Vance's "The Island of Regeneration."

Madam Obereta and her girls are making one of their big hits at the Victoria with a dazzling spectacular act at Paxtang. The act is a combination of gorgeous and beautiful variety, and the gratifying dancing numbers. The balance of the park bill is made up of standard acts such as are to be seen in the better class of vaudeville theaters.

For next week Manager Davis offers at the Victoria a new and interesting minstrel first part. Mr. Russell is one of the old-time black face minstrel favorites. He has chosen a company of half a dozen well-known minstrel men and put together a band that is absolutely unique and entertaining. In fact the act is a whole minstrel show has been condensed into a twenty-minute variety act.—Advertisement.

AT THE COLONIAL They who love the thrills of the West will glory in "Where Cowboy is King," the wonderful movie that announces for a timely engagement at the Colonial, a sensational success at the New York Hippodrome.

GABY DESLAYS AT THE REGENT Gaby Deslays makes her first appearance in motion pictures in "Her Triumph" produced in Paris by the Famous Players' Film Company to-day and to-morrow at the Regent. The production introduces many novelties, such as the Dance Deslays, an original, grotesque creation, and other features that are in the line of the "statue" throughout the civilized world.

France Intends to Stamp Out Use of Morphine

Paris.—The government has decided to take as stringent measures with cocaine and morphine as with absinthe. A radical decree reinforcing the faulty laws against illicit traffic in them is expected from the minister of the interior shortly. A serious feature of the evil is that the "cocoon," as it is called, has found its way into the army and navy.

COLOR LIGHTING MAKES MOVIES REALISTIC

Of the many imperfections in present methods of producing photoplays the entire absence of color in the projected images is probably the one that is the most keenly felt by spectators at the motion-picture theaters. In this particular the theatrical stage has a tremendous advantage. It can revel in a wealth of color and with modern facilities for stage lighting it is possible to produce almost any color effect to correspond with the atmosphere of a scene.

NO TRAMPS IN ENGLAND

London.—The war has brought what might be described as a trampless era to England. There is not a workhouse in the United Kingdom that has not reported a great decrease in the number of vagrants during the past few months. Those who still use the "casual wards" are men of sixty years or over. Officials say there are practically no young or middle-aged vagrants left.

THIRTEEN YOUNG FORESTERS NAMED

Thirteen appointments of candidates for admission to the State Forestry Academy at Mont Alto were announced to-day by Commissioner of Forestry Robert S. Conklin as a result of the recent examination held in the State Capitol. The candidates will be detailed for six weeks' active service in the State forests with the regular force of foresters and will then enter the academy. The academy, which was established in 1903 under J. T. Rothrock, of West Chester, then commissioner, has graduated all of the present force of foresters except two. It is under the direction of Commissioner Robert S. Conklin and the students work in the reserves near the establishment.

The names of the successful candidates are R. C. Keifer, Chambersburg; Arthur L. Rowland, Fox Chase; Mark H. Jackson, Swisshelm; C. Robert Taylor, Spring City; J. A. Vall, Sayre; Henry B. Phillips, Somerset; Herbert A. Spangler, Llewellyn; Charles Z. Bates, Chester; Jerome T. Sieber, Jr., Middletown; Maxwell Brandt, Middletown; William M. High, Pottstown; Howard Vanarsdale and Herman G. Steumpfle, Williamsport.

ELECTRIC CHAIR APPARATUS FOR FLESH REDUCTION

Rigorous exercise which fatigues the muscular system and oxidizes its fatty infiltrations without subsequently causing physical exhaustion is produced, it is claimed, by an electric apparatus which has recently been introduced in this country as a cure for obesity. The reclining chair covered with aluminum electrodes, which fit the curves of the body and are supplied with an interrupted galvanic current regulated by a series of rheostats, briefly described in the device, which is a German invention. Pictures of the apparatus appear in the July Popular Mechanics Magazine.
