WHEN WEDDING BELLS' MUSIC HAD PASSED

Judge McCarrell Recalls Brief Marital Experience of William Boesch in Brief Opinion

Two dollars per week isn't too much allowance for maintenance for William D. Boesch by Mary A. Horner, from whom he has legally separated, in the opinion of Additional Law Judge S. M. McCarrell, of the Dauphin County Courts, to-day.

Boesch's marital troubles were aired in the local courts several months ago and the opinion of Judge McCarrell to-day was based on the former's petition to be relieved of the expense of the maintenance order. The court dismissed the applicant's request and Boesch will have to continue to pay the $2 per week.

The opinion Judge McCarrell mentioned the ages of the pair and in commenting upon this said: "The merit of the marriage bells soon vanished. The wedding occurred June 11, 1914; they separated September 25 by mutual agreement after Boesch had paid over $100 and she had given him back his wedding ring. The $130, Boesch thought, was enough of a settlement and that he shouldn't be required to pay $2 weekly."

MANION CHANGES TO START TUESDAY

Extensive alterations to the interior of the Executive Mansion, including redecoration of the State drawing room and apartments and refurnishing will be started next Tuesday and during the period in which work is under way by Charles Martini, Sr., of Philadelphia, who designed them and are to be completed by the first of September. The Governor will be away from Harrisburg most of the time as late this month he plans to go to New England and to visit the seashore and on August 24 will start for San Francisco to attend Pennsylvania Day at the Exposition. He will be away in the middle of September, at least, and thereby doubtless saved Mr. Martini the trouble of redecorating the drawing room and to make ivory the predominant tint. The light mahogany furniture in the dining room is to be stained the traditional mahogany color and some of the furniture which was designed there for years is to be replaced by modern articles. Arrangements that will make for greater privacy in the rooms of Governor and Mrs. Martini are also contemplated together with the purchase of a number of rugs to replace the carpets. Throughout there will be a general toning down of the color scheme.

All of the coast will be borne by the State through the schedule for furniture, repairs and alterations, Mr. Martini has estimated at $200,000 and the original bills will be submitted to Superintendent S. B. Rambo.

AT THE COLONIAL

The great Hippodrome moving picture feature called "When Cowboy King" that attracted unusual audiences in the Harrisburg during the last half of the week, will be shown there for the last time to-night. This great "movie" occupied the most important position of the moving picture show recently exhibited at the New York Hippodrome, so there is little wonder that it is holding much attention during its appearance at the Colonial. The picture is a feature that rounded out a very worthy bill during the last half of the week, how for their closing engagements also. It is with a little pardonable pride that the Colonial management is announcing the moving picture feature during the last half of next week. These are the identical pictures that were presented at the Majestic Theater last season at advanced prices and were then warmly received. The day following their showing these long articles of glowing praise appeared in each of the daily newspapers and they were highly endorsed by the local Historical Society as well as other persons of prominence. The fact that they are to be presented at the Colonial, accompanied by a splendid lecturer, the same as at the Majestic, is a pretty good reason why Harrisburg generally will turn out to see wonderful presentations of parts of the world that are practically unknown.—Advertisement.
