LIBERTY BELL KISSED BY BOYS AND GIRLS

babies to the policemen to touch the relic. Many Harrisburgers of the coming generation will be able to boast of touching the bell, on what will in all probability be the last opportunity to perform this act. When the bell is in Independence Hall it is enclosed in a glass case and is not touched.

The rush of the children toward the bell started the grown-ups and within a few minutes the big crowd was working its way slowly toward the relic. Coins, bracelets, watches and other articles of jewelry were tossed up on the car to be rubbed against the relic. Many others placed coins on the bell over which the car bearing the bell passed and hundreds of oddities were exhibited with much pride by their owners this morning.

Every detail of the program mapped out in advance was carried out without delay or accident. The three divisions of marchers from the High Central Section and West End lines up each headed by a band united in front street before six o'clock and marched down Second street in readiness for the arrival of the train. The long line of marchers was headed by a platoon of police and Companies D and I of the National Guard under Colonel Hutchison.

The Liberty Bell was met at Elizabeth town by a delegation of the local reception committee including Mayor Royal, Arthur D. Bacon, A. E. Buchanan, W. S. Esch, S. Romberger, G. A. Shreiner, A. C. Stamm and Samuel B. Rambo.

The bell train arrived at Second and Vine streets with a look of awe. John Harris had his trading post two centuries ago about 6:30 o'clock. As the train drew to a stop Fire Chief Kinder gave the signal and the bell and many church bells and whistles pealed for the welcome.

54 Policemen Restrain Crowds

Fifty-four policemen restrained the eager crowd in an automobile hearing the representatives of the Daughters of the American Revolution approached the car and John Bevan Peterson, a six-year-old descendant of John Harris placed a large laurel wreath on the relic. In the automobile were Miss Cora Lee Snyder, regent of the local chapter; Mrs. Henry B. McCormick, Miss Carolyn G. O'Brien, vice regents; Mrs. S. J. M. McCarrell, registrar; Mrs. Anna H. Wood, historian; and Miss Mary Harris Pearson.

Then the way was opened for the school children and members of the Hassett Club and pupils of the parochial schools, dressed in red, white and blue caps. A Glee club of schools and representatives of the Harrisburg Newsboys' Association were very much in evidence.

Off on Its Long Journey

Promptly at 7:30 o'clock the train pulled away from the crossing and moved slowly into Union Station. After crews were changed it started for Pittsburgh, Pa., on its long journey to San Francisco.

Harry A. Boyer, president of the school board this morning issued the following letter to the public:

"To the Citizens Generally and to the Patrons of the Public Schools Particularly:

"In behalf of the school board I desire to thank one and all for the unusual interest taken in the reception to the Liberty Bell. Naturally a historic relic attracts attention any time, but to receive such a generous response from the people on a holiday that has many counter attractions indicates a thoroughly patriotic spirit.

"Everybody agrees that the reception to the Liberty Bell was a complete success, which is due entirely to the interest manifested by those who took such an active part in the parade. This includes parents and pupils of the many schools represented.

"Renewing my thanks for the interest shown, I am,

"Very truly yours,

"HARRY A. BOYER, President."

FEW SEE BELL AT PITTSBURGH

Pittsburgh, July 6.—The special train which is taking the Liberty Bell on its westward journey to the Panama-Pacific Exposition arrived here at 3:05 a. m. to-day and left thirty minutes later for the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne and Chicago railway. Because of the early hour only a few persons were at the station to see the relic.

Three Small Blazes in City Over "The Fourth"

A total loss of less than $25 was the extent of damage done in this city yesterday during the celebration of Independence Day. Three small blazes were reported to Fire Chief Kinder, telephone calls to companies in the city being all that was necessary. No alarms were sent in.

The first call came to the Hope company in the afternoon to extinguish a blaze on the Walnut street bridge, which, Chief Kinder believes, was caused by a lighted match or cigar.

At 10 o'clock last night the Mount Pleasant company responded to a call at 1409 Regina street at the home of Policeman Biehl to put out a small blaze on the second floor of a brick building. Shortly after the company was again called to extinguish a burning awning in front of the home of S. Micholovitz, 18 North Thirteenth street.

PEPPER-CROWLEY BANS

Matrimonial bans were published in St. James' Catholic church Sunday by the Rev. J. C. Thompson, for Miss Mary Crowley, 437 North Second street and John Pepper, 155 North Front street. The wedding will take place the latter part of this month.

STEELTON OUTDOES ITSELF ON 'FOURTH'

Two Thousand Men March in Big Parade; Great Ball Game Foreign Quarter Celebrates

Steelton outdid itself yesterday. Never before in the thirty-five years of the busy borough's history was Independence Day celebrated in such a rousing manner as yesterday.

Two thousand men marched in the big afternoon street parade that featured the celebration. All the borough's six fire companies, practically every fraternal organization and secret society and floats representing every business interest were in line.

Promptly at 2 o'clock the big steam siren at the Pennsylvania Steel Works boomed out the signal which set the line in motion. Through the principal streets of the town the parade marched. Along the curbs thousands of merry-makers pushed and jostled to get a glimpse of the marching men or to catch one of the thousands of samples or advertising novelties that were thrown from the gaily decorated floats of the borough's enterprising businessmen. Three hours after the head of the parade moved the vanguard began to counter-march.

Parade Big Feature

But the parade was only one of the big celebration's features. Long before the sun won its struggle with the low-hanging clouds and succeeded in casting its warming rays over the eastern hills, the borough was awake and preparing for the day's activities.

By 10 o'clock eight hundred enthusiastic baseball fans had tin do battle with the Middletown aggregation for honors in the Central Pennsylvania baseball league. Steelton lost, the sporting page shows, but McCormick pushed and jostled to get an exciting game—one of the best.

The game was hardly under way when the borough's Hungarian societies started a celebration of their own. Warren Nissley, of New York, climbed the hill to see the baseball game were entertained by the Hungarians. Their celebration was in honor of the dedication of two handsome new silk flags.

After the parade finished the celebrators had just about enough time to get to their homes, gulp a little supper and return to Cottage Hill, where dancing and socializing were being played a well-arranged concert program at 7:30.

Then the Fireworks

The fireworks display which followed was one of the best that was ever seen in Steelton.

To-day workmen began to remove decorations and clear up the last traces of the biggest celebration in Steelton's history. Members of the Merchants' Association, the organization that conceived the idea of a home celebration, were enthusiastic in their praise of the success of their affair.

Although there were thousands in the streets there was no disorder. Burgess Fred Wigfield had sworn in six special policemen, who with the regular force were so successful in preserving order that not a single case of law-breaking was reported.

The crowd fared as well too so far as safety was concerned. Only two accidents were reported during the day and one of these was serious. Frank Fisher, South Front street, was burned on the left hand when a firecracker exploded prematurely, and Norman Soullard, 70 South Second street, was shot in the left thigh. Both were treated at the Harrisburg hospital and neither wound is serious.

ASK YOUR NEIGHBOR

So many thousands of women have been restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound that there is hardly a neighborhood in any city, town or hamlet in this country wherein some woman has not found health in this good old-fashioned root and herb remedy. If you are suffering from some womanly ill, why don't you try it?—Advertisement.

Steelton Snapshots

Fire Ends Parade.—As firemen counter-marched at the end of yesterday's big parade an alarm for fire was sounded. In a few minutes hundreds of firemen were at the homes of Jesse Rhoads and Harvey Hershey, 147-149 Lincoln street, the scene of the blaze. The fire was quickly extinguished. The damage was slight.

Tennis Club Picnic.—The St. James Tennis Club held an outing at River-view Cottage yesterday. Boating, bathing and games were features of the day.

NO LONGER SEARCH FOR BOY

Search for the body of Foster Watson, the 9-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Watson, who drowned Friday in Spring Creek, has been abandoned. Every means of search has been exhausted. Saturday two steam fire engines pumped the water from the deep hole near the Elliott-Fisher typewriter works in the belief that perhaps the body was buried in the mud there. Sunday searchers raked every inch of the narrow stream without finding any trace of the body.

EXHIBIT MISS PORR'S CHAIR

A hand-carved red oak Jacobian chair is on exhibition in the window of J. L. Porr, a north Front street druggist. The chair was carved by Miss Mary L. Porr, of the Philadelphia School of Industrial Arts, and won a prize in competition in Philadelphia.

BURY CHARLES SHUTTER

Funeral services for Charles Shutter, former superintendent of the Steelton Water Works, who died Saturday, were held this morning. Services were held at the house, 187 South Front street, at 10 o'clock. The Rev. George N. Lauffer, pastor of St. John's Lutheran Church, officiated, and the body was taken to Newport by H. Witt's Sons for burial.

CHILD DIES

Funeral services for a small child of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Freiman, former residents, who now live at 1005 Paxton street, Harrisburg, were held this afternoon from St. Mary's church, Walnut street.

ENTERTAIN FOR MISS CUDDAY

A miscellaneous shower was given at the home of Mrs. John Killinger, of Hummelstown, in honor of Miss Jessie Cudday, 15 Mohn street, whose engagement to Clayton L. Maurer has been announced. The rooms were decorated with cut flowers and ferns. A buffet luncheon was served.

SCALES ON CHEST ALSO BLISTERS

Large as a Quarter. Very Severe. Would Have to Walk Floor All Night.

HEALED BY CUTICURA SOAP AND OINTMENT

"My brother's trouble began on his chest in white blisters about as large as a quarter. Water would run out, and then his chest would get scales on it. It was very severe, and he would cry and scratch it. We could not keep any clothes on his chest. He would scream and we would have to walk the floor with him all night.

"The trouble lasted three months before we tried Cuticura Soap and Ointment. We bathed him with warm water and Cuticura Soap, and then put the Ointment on. In three weeks he was well." (Signed) Miss Helen Hindman, Box 15, R. D. 1, Finleyville, Pa., Jan. 13, 1915.
