office of Superintendent William B. McCaleb of the Philadelphia Division, president of the association.

The chairman of each subcommittee reported on the work accomplished to date, and named the men who will assist them in preparing for the big event.

will assist them in preparing for the big event.

No special train will be run to Harrisburg. Schedule facilities on the Philadelphia division furnish ample accommodation. Arrangements will be made for members residing along branch lines, which will enable them to reach home without any inconveniences. Orders will also be issued for special stops by through trains if necessary.

veniences. Orders will also be issued for special stops by through trains if necessary.

The local reception committee will meet the visiting veterans and escort them to Chestnut street hall. Lunch-con will be served from 11 to 12:30.

Following luncheon the veterans will be escorted to the capitol. A panoramic picture will be taken of the big crowd in front of the capitol. Groups will be formed and guides will take the veterans through the capital. The business session-of the association will be held at Chestnut street auditorium at 2 o'clock. At 2 o'clock the Vets will be taken on a sight seeing trip over the city in automobiles. It is probable this trip may extend to Rockville bridge. A visit will be made to the shops where the employees will line up in Seventh street and give the visitors a welcome.

At 5:30 the banquet will be held in the auditorium. During the banquet a vaudeville program will be offered. On the program will be well known local talent.

Invitations have been sent to President Samuel Rea, General Manager A. C. Long, General Superintendent G. W. Creighton, and other prominent officials of the Pennsylvania railroad, many of whom are expected to attend.

cleared away

every pimple!

At least once a day—usually twice—I bathed my face for several minutes with plenty of Resinol Soap and hot water and applied a little Resinol Oinment very gently. I let this stay on for ten minutes or so, and then washed it off with Resinol Soap and more hot water, finishing with a dash of cold water to close the pores.

I was astonished how quickly the healing Resinol medication soothed and cleansed the pores, and left my complexion clear, velvety, and free from pimples.

Physicians have also used Resinol Ointment and Resinol Scap for 20 years in the treatment of itching, burning skine-ruptions. Sold by all druggists for trial 4ree, write to Dept. 18-S, Resinol, Baltimore, Md.

of Lewistown by the State Historical Commission, whose members have received reports upon the facts connected with the fort. The commission, has already marked Fort Augusta at Sunbury and several other sites in this part of the State. It has determined also to mark the British lines at the battle of Edge Hill, one of the fights in the vicinity of Philadelphia.

Another interesting marking will be of the road leading to Graeme Park, Bucks county, the country home of Sir William Kleth, the second Governor of Pennsylvania who looms large in provincial history in more ways than one.

change of official communications between the Governor of South Carolina and the Governor of Pennsylvania anent extradition, and the publicity accompanying it, naturally calls to the public mind a former Governor of South Carolina, who was responsible for more publicity for South Carolina, perhaps, than anybody or thing else that has ever been associated with the Palmetto State. The query also comes, "What has become of Cole Blease, anyway?"

Palmetto State. The query also comes, "What has become of Cole Blease, anyway."

The departure of Blease from the governor's chair has been accompanied by a silence which can be compared only to the degree of publicity which characterized his stay in office. After he retired from the governor's chair by his spectacular resignation aday before his term expired. Mr. Blease entered the practice of law in Columbia. He has outgrown Newberry, his home town, say his friends. He took his defeat at the hands of the people, it seems, in a most philosophic way and has since been in his law office "sawing wood and saying nothing."

Word comes from the Palmetto State, however, that the present dormant state of the gubernatorial volcano can hardly be taken as a sign of extinction. While Blease's silence cannot yet be said to have advanced to the stage of being ominous, it might be said of it that it is significant. Governor Blease is too wise a politician not to know that he cannot be elected to any office just now. He is also wise enough to know that silence is extremely conductive to a public lapse of memory on the things that defeated him in his last campaign. Ergo, the quileter he keeps now, the better may be his chances of election when the signs of the zodiac are propitious.
