WHO PAYS?

Today and Tomorrow

By EDWIN BLISS

"You needn't tell Julia what I said about her," Ira Munroe laughed as he grasped the blushing young chap's hand.

For one Julia Munroe was ready, impatiently waiting the arrival of her sweetheart.

She plunged immediately to the subject, even before Payne's arms had relaxed about the waist of her, looking up into his face in the tantalizingly irresistible fashion which he, as well as her father, always found so irresistible.

most becoming afternoon gown. Just a week remained before the date of their wedding and she had delayed a lot characteristic fashion procuring any of the clothes she had spent so many hours planning and dreaming out upon the divan.

"I might as well stay right here with an only father as be married to a sweetheart," she continued quickly.

"But I must have it there for supper—I tell you, Julia, the situation became so serious there was nearly a murderous row at the fields—"

"All right," he laughingly capitulated. "But on just one condition—that we go to the grocery together."

"The irresistible music of her laughter intoxicated him and, as they swung into the car he wondered how in the world he had ever for a moment dreamed of resisting her lure.

And always would the frown be driven from his face, guiltily driven as the radiant vision of the girl he loved would reappear before him, more beautiful than ever woman would be in all the world, it seemed, with the child-like desire to please, to be radiantly beautiful in order that she might make proud the heart of the man she was to marry.

And once as he looked at his watch, to his strained, guilty ear came a sharp report, the report of a revolver. He started and moved swiftly toward Julia, placing his arm commandingly upon her wrist.

"I'm simply famished," she exclaimed. "Surely, you won't permit me to starve. Look, just a mouthful and then we can—"

"Hungry!" He started as she voiced his thought of the unappetized hunger of those men he had viewed throughout the afternoon. "No, really, Julia—"

She had his arm in her two, tiny hands. Ineffable hands they seemed, dainty and blue veined and almond tipped at the fingers. And yet, like bands of steel, they drew him despite himself, despite everything within himself, he cried out aloud against their pressure.

STATE "EXAMS" FOR DRUGGIST ENDED

Officials Announce That a Pretty Fair Percentage Passed the Recent Tests

Results of the recent state examinations held by the State Pharmaceutical Examining Board were announced today as follows:

For registered pharmacist, 235 applicants and 190 passed. For qualified assistant, 174 applicants and 114 passed.

The next examination will be held in Williamsport on September 3-4. The names of those passing the examinations are as follows:

Registered Pharmacists DeWitt C. Barr, Henry E. Ivor, Lee A. Donaldson, Alex. B. Gantos, Ernest Davis, Stanley W. Jefferson, Charles J. Kaley, Milton A. Kant, David Lefkowitz, Herman Lippman, Theo. W. McParnott, Raymond K. O'Brien, Albert A. Pierce, Leo P. Phillips, Stephen Sarkany, Henry J. Strauch, Jack Schoenberg, Victor C. Studeny, Elmer F. Starr, Howard A. Ward, Thomas W. Weger, John F. Wessel, Jr., Sr. Mary C. Wolf, Christian W. Zeiner, all of Pittsburgh.

Qualified Assistants Phlegm, Adam R. Lang, T. Fulton Linn, George E. Moore, A. J. Stauff, Jr., Katherine Sydnor, Elmer E. Tait, and James J. Tysarczyk, all of Pittsburgh.

Jacob R. Miller, one of the oldest and best-known residents of the city, will celebrate his eighty-second anniversary of his birth tomorrow, with a family dinner at his home, 1316 North Third street, where he has resided for nearly fifty years.

Mr. Miller was born near Halifax, coming here with his parents, Peter K. and Margaretta Muench Miller when quite a little lad. They kept the old "Steamboat Hotel" and so the boy soon had a wide acquaintance with townsfolk and travelers. He was for many years in the service of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, and in recent years has kept an uptown livery.

Mr. Miller is clever with his pen-knife and has made some interesting carvings, among them a collection of models of the old Conestoga wagons and stagecoach which are in the rooms of the Dauphin County Historical society.

though she never began divorce proceedings. Incidentally George W. still living. Just there is where old Miss Clotho knarled some threads of the skein of Looker.

September 29, 1885—before the days of marriage licenses—Mrs. Jennie and Samuel Looker, a cousin of her first husband, went through a marriage ceremony conducted by a minister. Then on July 23, 1894, George W. Looker, began an action for divorce. That his wife was living as the wife of his cousin was the charge, and Samuel of course was named as the co-respondent. Now, years ago the folks who make the laws of the State decided that no divorced man or woman may marry the co-respondent named in his or her divorce action so long as the divorced husband or wife may live. So George W. Looker readily got his divorce May 11, 1895.

However Samuel Looker and the divorced Jennie continued to live together although no marriage ceremony had been performed. The fact that money was ever gone through with Jennie was introduced as the wife of Samuel, was named as his wife in his insurance certificates, etc., she considered herself his wife by common law at least. Which might have stood had the connubial life of the two rolled along smoothly. But a year or so afterward, Jennie left Samuel Looker. A little later she sued him for $25 per month maintenance and the Dauphin county court made an order to that effect.

Why Order is Dismissed Mrs. Looker contends that Mrs. Jennie isn't his wife, and furthermore never was, because of the law that prohibits the marrying by a divorcee of the co-respondent named in the divorce action.

Mrs. Looker isn't Mrs. George W. Looker because she's been regularly divorced. She isn't Mrs. Samuel Looker because she had never legally been his wife.

That in brief, is what Additional Law Judge S. J. M. McCarrell decided yesterday when he decreed that the $25 maintenance order against Samuel should be dismissed.

So Samuel doesn't even need to sue for a divorce. Which is one way Clotho ties a wedding knot.

18.5 bushels and the total production 24,273,000 bushels.

The rice crop is estimated by L. H. Wible, the statistician of the department, at 96 per cent. of an average crop and he looks for a production of 18 bushels per acre or a total of 4,345,000 bushels, against 17 bushels per acre and a total of 4,760,000 bushels last year. He estimates the oats yield at 31.4 bushels per acre and the acreage at 2 per cent. larger than last year. The estimate of production is 34,366,000 bushels, a gain over last year.

A corn crop of 53,709,600 bushels is estimated, with a yield of 35.3 bushels per acre. Last year the production was 53,520,000 bushels, the per acre yield being 49 bushels. Weather conditions are reported as having been unfavorable for the corn and for clover and timothy. Clover is reported as 78 per cent. of an average and timothy 81 per cent.

The potato acreage is given as 273,360 acres, or 2 per cent. more than last year, and the indications are that there will be 87 bushels per acre or a total production of 23,732,000 bushels. Last year the crop was 106 bushels to the acre and had a total of 23,408,000 bushels.

The estimated crop of fruit is much below the normal, as there was a very heavy yield last year and this year had to contend with frosts, blight, caterpillars and other pests. It is estimated that there will be 75 per cent. of a normal crop of peaches, but as Franklin, Adams, York, Lancaster and Cumberland counties have above a

Runaway Boy Says He Wanted to See the World

John E. Dunlevy, 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Dunlevy 1014 South Ninth street, who ran away from home last Thursday, was brought to his home last night from New Bloomfield where he was found.

The lad said he left Harrisburg Thursday evening and went to Covalden where he spent the night with a friend. The next day he went to Duncannon and after spending a short time there he went to New Bloomfield and was running around with a crowd of boys when he was suddenly taken to the police station. He said he became frightened and summoned a doctor. The lad was then taken to the sheriff's apartments, where he remained until his father went for him yesterday.

The boy said he ran away because he "wanted to see the world."

Penbrook People Talk Over Road Improvement

State Highway Commissioner Cunningham was visited this morning by a delegation from the borough of Penbrook, which sought information as to the preparatory work necessary for the proposed improvement of the State Highway Department began the contemplated improvement of the Penbrook highway.

E. Frank Ober, chairman of the Highway Committee of the Penbrook Council; C. L. Wirt, a member of the Highway Committee, and O. M. Neumeyer were the members of the delegation. They wanted to know whether or not the State Highway Department would object to the laying of a twenty-four inch terra cotta drain pipe across the main street, this being necessary to accommodate the surface drainage in their locality.

Chief Engineer Usher referred the delegation to Assistant Engineer C. W. Hardt, who is in charge of this district, and told them that the State Highway Department would go over the plans for the contemplated improvement with them.

A New Remedy For Kidney, Bladder and All Uric-Acid Troubles

Successfully Used by Many Physicians and Surgeons in Their Hospital Practice.

Dr. Weir Mitchell once said: "What we call diseases are only symptoms of conditions. Allow the man's vitality to be reduced to a certain point, and he is ripe for any of these weaknesses, or certain conditions which we call disease."

Through failure of kidneys to act, through congestion, inflammation, or person's condition is ripe for disease to fasten its hold upon the system.

At Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., there has been tested for the past few years a new remedy for kidney, bladder, uric acid troubles, rheumatism, gout, and such ailments as follow, and so many cases, both acute and stubborn, have yielded to this wonderful remedy that Doctor Pierce decided to name it "An-uric," and arrange for its distribution to the public through medicine dealers everywhere.

If backache, scalding urine or frequent urination bother or distress you, or if uric acid in the blood has caused rheumatism, gout, or sciatica, if you suspect that you have kidney or bladder trouble, write Doctor Pierce, at Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., send a sample of urine, and describe symp-
