TURKISH CIGARET FAMINE IS FEARED

Closing of Dardanelles May Drive Smokers to Lancaster County Leaf

Philadelphia, Pa., July 19.—The real reason the fleets and land forces of the allies are attempting to force the Dardanelles has come to light. It is not to drive the Turk from Europe nor to conquer Constantinople for a Christian nation, but to save cigaret smokers from the horrors of a Turkish tobacco famine.

Only Macedonia is left, and she is called upon not only to supply America, and other countries, but Egypt as well, since the latter nation is cut off from her usual supply in the Black Sea region.

This are the horrors of war brought home to America. Indeed, it is expected that this common danger will do much to erase the hyphen. For what is the cause of Germany, 3000 miles away, to a Turkish cigaret?

A famine would, of course, benefit manufacturers of American tobacco, cigars and cigaret papers. But that would not ease the sufferings of the thousands of Turkish smokers, American and Egyptian smokers. An optimist, however, pointed out that the inventive genius of the Yankee might hit upon a way of turning good old Lancaster County leaf into the aromatic weed of Turkistan.
