Learning How to Talk

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX
Some folks think conversation comes by the grace of heaven—but nothing is farther from the truth. One might as well say playing the violin comes by nature. No human being—no matter how musical—could play a simple jolly on the violin without first learning. Of course, a maestro might play by ear without lessons—but not without practice. And most mortals need all the aid good instruction can give them.

Well, by the same token of practical common sense, although a favored few folk talk glibly and even pleasantly by instinct, even they do not get far without study, without practice and without taking infinite pains.

Of course, the obvious way to improve in conversation is to talk—provided one talks as well as one is able. But it would be hard to force any man or woman to take a touch as much pains to learn the game of conversation as to master the latest fox trot step or to learn the game of golf. And yet conversation is a game that can never go out of style and that will be important as long as mortals have ears and tongues.

Here are a few rules of practice for learning the gentle art of conversation:

Talk as well as possible to all sorts of people. Adapt yourself to moods, to character and to varying ages.

Make it your business to say what you want to convey so you shall be thoroughly understood by the individual you address. Be clear and simple.

When you are thrown with an utterly dull person who seems almost dumb pride yourself on finding out something about which he can talk. Anyone can talk about something. Even an utter fool can tell you about himself. Get into the habit of drawing out the silent and taciturn. As they expand into conversation you will get a sort of perspective on your own lesser difficulties in finding conversational material.

The very best school for conversation is, of course, good reading. The classical novels will charm you to English used with charm and certainty and exactness. The right word in the right place will come, through good reading, to have a meaning all its own to you. Don't read to quote—don't read to talk with "high-faluting" and literary elegance. Read to see how words can be molded into a living mass to express just the meaning in the modeler's mind.

After you have read a bit don't get thinking you are all wise—the field

"That seemed to fetch him, for he stepped back, said 'a right,' and walked off a bit as I entered.

"When I got inside, I had to go down a flight of dark steps, through a narrow twisting passage, and up another flight of steps—darker, if anything, than the first—until I came smack up against a door. Inside I could hear the murmur of many voices, and a click that sounded like the click of silver knives on plates, and I smelled food.

"I didn't know what was on the other side—but decided to risk it anyway, so I pushed open the door and walked right into the most magnificent dining room I was ever in in my life." From here on young Mason's narration to the district attorney's family, to those who read the opening of this story.

The district attorney had listened with interest all the while, his face pale—his mouth tightened to a thin hard line. From time to time he threw sidelong glances at his assistant, noting with evident uneasiness his eager, earnest face, as he unfolded his story. When Mason was through, his chief turned slowly round in his chair, his face drawn and tense—his finger tapping positively the coat lapel of the young man before him.

"Mr. Mason, I want you to understand me thoroughly—there are no gambling dives in this city, understand?—NO GAMBLING DIVES RUNNING HERE. Forget it."

"But I—"

"You saw NOTHING, I tell you. Forget it."

Mason rose, his face burning, his whole figure showing resentment at the all too obvious meaning of his chief's words. He bowed coldly—and opened the door leading to his own office, just as a messenger boy entered with a telegram for Bell.

This Is the Life for Me!

Get Out Where the Roosters Strut and the Pigeons Coo

How'd you like to sit down to a layout of fried chicken or squab on toast, and have the menu include eggs, potatoes, tomatoes, beets, lettuce, or a dozen or more reasonable vegetables and fruits—all from your own lot. And no grocer to pay except for the bread, salt and seasoning.

Get Away From the Congested City

Come out where you can have a detached house with wide porches, to enjoy the cooling breezes. A trim hedge around the place with shade or fruit trees, flowers, vegetables, chickens or pigeons. Out where the children may romp and play and develop into healthy robust men and women, with just enough exercise for yourself to avoid doctor bills and gymnasium dues.

Take a ride on the Linglestown trolley. See the Colonial Country Club, the scores of beautiful bungalows of Harrisburg's leading business and professional men. See the improved State highway which will be unexcelled when completed to city line. Refresh yourself with the cooling breezes from the mountains that may be seen in the distance. Then you will realize why so many prefer the Jonestown road for a suburban home.

A New Kind of Pastry

Crisco pie crust is rich, wholesome and delicious, for Crisco is all vegetable and all pure.

Crisco's digestibility is especially important in relation to pie crust, in which so much shortening is used; it is a scientific fact that shortening is unchanged in the baking process. It is still in a raw state, merely having been distributed throughout the dough or crust.

CRISCO For Frying—For Shortening For Cake Making

PLAIN PASTRY
(Clip this Recipe)

1½ cupfuls flour ½ cupful Crisco
1 teaspoonful salt 4 tablespoonfuls cold water
(Use level measurements)

Sift the flour and salt and cut the Crisco into the flour with two knives until it is finely divided. Then add the water sparingly, mixing it with a knife through the dry materials. Form into a dough, roll out about ¼ inch thick, on a floured board. Use a light motion in handling the rolling-pin, and roll from the center outward. The Crisco should be of a consistency such that when scooped out with a spoon it rounds up egg-shaped.

A FASHIONABLE SUMMER COAT

An Empire Model that can be Worn With Closed or With Open Neck.

By MAY MANTON

8694 Coat with Circular Skirt for Misses and Small Women, 16 and 18 years.

Could any girl ask for a more graceful, smarter coat than this one? It is really fascinating made of taffeta as illustrated with little ruffles of the same for trimming and it would be very charming in one of the lustrous satins of the season and would be very serviceable and also fashionable made of broadcloth in one of the pretty colors that are so much liked. If a quiet tone is used, it can be given a dash of brilliancy by means of a bright colored lining. Added to its other advantages, it is very simple and easy to make. The little body portion is half loose and the circular skirt is joined to it and this skirt can be made with straight or with cutaway fronts and can be made shorter than shown here if preferred. The sleeves allow a choice of flaring ruffles and a plain finish. The fronts of the body portion are underfaced, consequently the collar can be buttoned up or rolled open to form revers as occasion requires. The coat is an exceptionally charming one and also a practical one, for it is just as suitable for afternoon as for evening occasions.

For the 16 year size will be required 6½ yds. of material 27 in. wide, 4¾ yds. 36, 4¾ yds. 44, 3½ yds. 54.

The pattern No. 8694 is cut in sizes for 16 and 18 years. It will be mailed to any address by the Fashion Department of this paper, on receipt of ten cents. Bowman's sell May Manton Patterns.

We Will Prove at Our Own Expense That It Is No Longer Necessary to Be Thin, Scrawny, and Undeveloped

"Gee! Look at that pair of skinny scarecrows! Why don't they try Sargol?"

This is a generous offer to every thin man or woman reader of the Harrisburg Telegraph. We positively guarantee to increase your weight to your own satisfaction or no pay. Think this over—think what it means. At our own risk, we offer to put 10, 15, yes, 30 pounds of good, solid "stay there" flesh on your bones, to all out hollows in cheeks, neck or bust, to get rid of that "peaked" look, to rejuvenate and revitalize your whole body until it tingles with vibrant energy; to do this without drastic diet, "tonics," severe physical culture "detonion" from business or any irksome requirements—if we fail it costs you nothing.

We particularly wish to hear from the excessively thin, those who know the humiliation and embarrassment which only skinny people have to suffer in silence. We want to send a free 50-cent package of our new discovery to the people who are called "slats" and "bean poles," to bony women, whose clothes never look "anyhow," no matter how expensively dressed, to the skinny men who fail to gain social or business recognition on account of their starved appearance. We care not whether you have been thin from birth, whether you have lost flesh through sickness, how many flesh builders you have experimented with. We take the risk and assume it cheerfully. If we can not put pounds and pounds of healthy flesh on your frame we don't want your money.

The new treatment increases the red corpuscles in the blood, strengthens the nerves and puts the digestive tract into such shape that your food is assimilated and turned into good, solid, healthy flesh instead of passing through the system undigested and unassimilated. It is a thoroughly scientific principle this Sargol, and builds up the thin, weak and debilitated without any nauseous dosing. In many conditions it is better than cod liver oil and certainly is much pleasanter to take.

We give here a few interesting figures from reports which are being received daily:
