TEACHING POOR TO PRESERVE BERRIES

Salvation Army Already Taking Steps to Keep Wolf From Door of Many Homes

In the opinion of Captain Neilsen of the Salvation Army, the conditions which prevail among the poor at present in this city are just as bad as those which had to be contended with in the most severe part of the winter. Captain Neilsen stated this morning that he expected conditions to be just as bad if not worse next winter and he said that the measure of success which the Salvation Army meets with in providing for the poor will depend largely upon the hearty co-operation of the people. He said that every effort was being made to show the poor how to provide for the coming winter and that they were taught how to put up berries in useful and appetizing ways. Captain Neilsen is busily making preparations for an outing at Reservoir Park and is getting the necessary plans completed. The outing will be held in August.

Thaw's Wife Will Visit New Home at Mt. Lebanon

Pittsburgh, Pa., July 22.—Harry Kendall Thaw, slayer of Stanford White, has decided that he will not leave for the Panama Exposition in San Francisco until some time next week—probably the latter end. This announcement was made by him through his mother to-day. At the request of Thaw, the police who were guarding the Beechwood home since his arrival from New York were withdrawn to-day. According to well-authenticated report in Mount Lebanon, where Evelyn Nesbit Thaw's new home is located, the dancer is expected there shortly. Mrs. C. J. Holman, mother of Mrs. Thaw, who occupies the new Mt. Lebanon mansion, admitted this afternoon that her daughter was likely to visit her at any time.

AMUSEMENTS

MACCABEES AT PAXTANG

With the Maccabees' picnic and the big fireworks display this evening there should be a record-breaking crowd at Paxtang Park to-day. The Maccabees anticipate a crowd of at least 2,000 to attend their picnic, while a fireworks display at Paxtang is perhaps the best guarantee of a big crowd that the park has. Special effort has been made by the park management to make this evening's display one of the most elaborate fireworks shows of the season. An unusually large supply of fireworks will be used and some of the special pyrotechnical features are said to be most striking in beauty, brilliancy and design.

"SCANDAL" TODAY AND TOMORROW AT THE VICTORIA

A picture play you'll never forget, entitled "Scandal," will be presented at this popular theater to-day and to-morrow. "Scandal" was written by Lois Weber, who also was the author of that remarkable picture play, "Hypocrites." The story of "Scandal" deals with the tragedy of idle gossip, the idea having been taken from a newspaper editorial based on everyday newspaper items.

RITA JOLIVET IN "THE UNAFRAID" AT THE REGENT

Jesse L. Laeky presents the picture, "The Unafraid," with Rita Jolivet in "The Unafraid" with House Peters at the Regent to-day. It is the story of an American girl who runs away from her guardians to marry a picturesque Montenegrin nobleman, and who, on arriving in Montenegro, is immediately kidnapped by the brother of her fiance. The American girl is forced to marry the man who kidnaps her. The astonishing conclusion of the story is that the girl is thankful for being kidnapped, for it develops that in this manner she has married a worthy man. To-day and to-morrow "Traveling Series." The home of the Moller pipeorgan.—Advertisement.

TWO MEN DEAD AT TWO OIL PLANTS

In a statement regarding his call for troops Sheriff Kinkead said: "I telephoned to the governor that it was necessary to call out the militia. The men are not amenable to reason. They don't seem able to distinguish between my men and the men paid as guards. The situation is beyond my control, and I have asked the governor to send men at once."

Of the wounded in to-day's fighting John Surgen, said to be a former Austrian soldier, who led the fighting in the first attack, which was made early to-day on the Standard Oil plant, is probably mortally wounded. He was shot through the abdomen.

Until the men got out of hand to-day Sheriff Kinkead had every hope that he would bring about a settlement of the differences of the Standard Oil strikers, who went out late last week and Monday following a demand for a 15 per cent. increase in wages. The Tidewater plant was shut down because of the disorder. The sheriff, with a committee, had consulted with Standard Oil officials and expected to have another conference with them late to-day. He also telephoned to Washington for conciliators and two were on their way to Bayonne when the disorder was resumed and the sheriff defied.

Scores of strikers and others gathered at the works of the Standard Oil Company this morning. Inside the yard a fire broke out in a warehouse, but it was quickly extinguished. The strikers say that the trouble started when Tony Bednank was shot while walking near the company's works. The crowd, led by John Surgen, a former Austrian soldier, charged up the bank to attack the company's guards who were stationed behind the oil tanks. Surgen fell at the first fire and rolled down the bank. The crowd pressed on and the next exchange of shots Steve Fvohle, a 16-year-old boy, was wounded. Then the crowd fell back and withdrew from the neighborhood.

Shortly before noon, after several hours of comparative peace, a crowd of 500 assembled near the barrel works of the Standard Oil Company and began an attack on the guards there. Sticks, stones and revolvers were used and the guards replied with Winchesters. During the fighting fire broke out in one corner of the barrel yard where staves and other lumber is stored.

Two men were killed and three wounded by the Tidewater guards before the attack was quelled. A heavy rainstorm which came up at the time helped to drive the rioters under cover. A street rumor was current after the early morning fighting that two of the guards in the Standard Oil plant had been wounded by pistol shots and some color was lent to the report when an ambulance from the Bayonne hospital entered the works. It bore no injured men, however, when it left the plant and the surgeon in charge said he had been unable to find any injured inside needing attention.

Sheriff Kinkead, who was on the scene, said he would make another effort later in the day to bring about arbitration or settle differences in some other way.

Tannenbaum Howled Down After the early attack the strikers and their sympathizers gathered in groups all along the streets leading to the Standard Oil works. They discussed conditions in an excited manner but made no threatening move towards the plant. Among several others who addressed them was Frank Tannenbaum, an Industrial Workers of the World leader. At one gathering, however, the men did not take kindly to his utterances and he was howled down.

The plant of the Tidewater Company, within half a mile of the Standard Oil works, remained closed to-day. Its officials issued another statement, reiterating that there was no strike at the works; that the men are loyal and left only when they were driven out by a mob and that the plant was now shut down because the management "did not deem it safe for the men to come through the mob which is in control of the Constable Hook section of Bayonne.

It also stated that the company did not propose to employ strike breakers but would start its works with its own employes when protection was given the men.

Sheriff Kinkead, who had previously addressed a large crowd of strikers in the streets, warning them to keep the peace, rushed to the scene of the new attack and ordered the rioters to desist and withdraw. He was greeted with howls of derision and the attack continued.
