Automatic Safety Gate Invented by Local Man

John C. Eman, of this city, an employe of the Twenty-Five Cent Department Store, is the inventor of an automatic safety gate for railroad grade crossings. The gate is operated by trains approaching the crossing, a gong located along the road sounding a warning in advance of the operation of the gate. Any desired lapse of time between the operation of the gate and the arrival of the train at the crossing is possible. Provision has also been made in the construction of the gate for the passing out of vehicles which may be on the crossing when the gate is lowered. This construction, however, is such as to prevent the entrance of teams upon the crossing. The inventor claims that the gate overcomes all of the objections that have been raised by railroad companies against automatic gates, and the working model which he has installed in the basement of the store at which he is employed has already been inspected by engineers of a number of the many railroads which the inventor says are much interested in the gate which he has produced.

PENNA STEEL TO BE PART OF COMBINE

operations that there will not be much advantage accruing to the present "leading interests" in the trade. Information was available in Cleveland iron and steel circles to-day that indicates that the new Schwab steel combine is further advanced than was supposed. The companies named as definitely lined up for the greatest industrial merger since the United States Steel Corporation was formed in April, 1901, include the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, of which Charles M. Schwab is president and directing genius; the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company, owned by the Rockefeller; the Jones & Laughlin Steel Company, of Pittsburgh, known as the greatest of all the independents; the Crucible Steel Company of America, once owned in Pittsburgh, but whose control in the last few months has drifted to Wall street; the Lackawanna Steel Company, of Buffalo, controlled by the Vanderbilts; Horney, E. Andrews and interests, identified with Pickands, Mather & Co., of this city; the Pennsylvania and Cambria Steel Companies, control of which rests with the Pennsylvania Railroad, whose holdings have been optioned to William H. Donner, president of the company, and close personal friend of Henry Clay Frick, capitalist, banker, promoter, coke king and nestor of the new idea of a second steel trust.

The last great obstacle to a merger of independent steel companies was swept aside when the Federal court in New Jersey a few weeks ago gave the steel trust abolition of the charge of combination in restraint of trade. The great proposed merger will be directly competitive with the steel trust, because it will represent a capacity of close upon 10,000,000 tons of ordinary steel products as compared with some 12,000,000 for the trust.

Penna. Steel Stock Takes Great Jump at Rumor

Philadelphia, Pa., July 26.—The report of the proposed merger of the Pennsylvania Steel and Cambria Steel has been again revived. Overshadowing all else on the Philadelphia Stock exchange was the sudden upbidding of Pennsylvania Steel preferred. The stock jumped nine points in as many minutes. Opening at 7 1/4, against 7 1/8 Saturday's close, bids appeared in rapid succession which could not be filled and the next actual sale on the tape was at 80. No news accompanied the unusual movement. It was pointed out, incidentally, that if there was anything in the merger rumor with Cambria Steel, which of course was promptly revived, that Cambria would have shared in the rise instead of remaining dull as it did. A bid of 25 was made for Pennsylvania Steel common, a stock very rarely dealt in either on or off the exchange.

HARRISBURGER AND WIFE ON EASTLAND

he was up on the deck placing the people in advantageous positions for the operator, who was along the side in a tug when the ship went over. He does not tell of the rescue of himself and his wife. Until two years ago H. N. Bauman lived with his mother at Curtin and Main streets, Penbrook. He is an electrical engineer with the Western Electric Company. Two months ago Mrs. Henrietta Bauman, moved to Chicago to live with her son. Relatives here received a letter last Wednesday that the son intended to go on the excursion but that his mother had made other arrangements for the day. That he was on one of the boats is certain but whether or not the Eastland his friends don't know. Bauman is a graduate of the electrical engineering school of Pennsylvania State College, 1912, and is a member of the Sigma Chi fraternity.

MAXIM OPPOSED TO BUY-A-BELGIUM PLAN

was never estimated at more than $10,000,000,000 one-tenth of the price Mr. Wanamaker would pay. Mr. Maxim also calls attention to the fact that the payment of so large an amount to Germany, if Germany is the country from which Belgium is to be bought, would enable the Kaiser to place every nation on the globe in the position to which he now has reduced King Albert's kingdom. "Evidently Mr. Wanamaker has been misquoted," said Mr. Maxim. "Surely some one has added a cipher to his figures. The estimated total wealth of Belgium at the outbreak of the present war was about $9,000,000,000. Certainly it could not have exceeded $10,000,000,000. Even the total wealth of the United States is estimated at only $130,000,000,000. If we put it at $150,000,000,000, Mr. Wanamaker proposed to pay for Belgium a price equal to two-thirds of the total wealth of this country. If the United States should borrow, which it could not, $100,000,000,000, and give that sum for the benefit of the Belgians, we Americans would be that act so impoverish ourselves that we should be far poorer than are the Belgians and in far greater need of being ransomed than they are. "Where in the world could we borrow $100,000,000,000? The total wealth of the nation now at war is only about $300,000,000,000. "Again, of whom should we buy Belgium? As Mr. Wanamaker suggests giving Belgium back again to the Belgians, he cannot mean that we should buy the country from the Belgians. It would be far simpler directly to donate the Belgians the $100,000,000,000. "If we are to understand that the United States is to buy Belgium, I think we could get it much cheaper than $100,000,000,000. "If $100,000,000,000 were to be paid into the treasury of Germany, and the total wealth of all the other countries mortgaged to raise the money, the obligation would render every other country on this earth a vassal of Germany, and every inhabitant of every other country on the planet would be placed in a condition of serfdom upon Germany. Surely Mr. Wanamaker does not aim at this. "If Uncle Sam desires to pose as an international benefactor, he should gird up his loins with a cartridge belt and keep a Colt automatic pistol in a handy hip-pocket, and then he will not be required to turn his pockets wrong side out for redemption money for Belgium or any other country."

RING BREAKS BOY'S DROP
Special to The Telegraph
Gettysburg, Pa., July 26.—To hang suspended for an instant by his finger 20 feet above water, was the exciting experience of Earl Triber, a New Oxford youth, when his ring caught upon a nail Saturday at Dick's dam. The lad dived from the bridge near the dam, and not seeing a nail in one of the boards caught his finger. His descent was momentarily stopped, but the nail was bent and the ring slipped from it, allowing the boy to drop into the water.
