AUTOMOBILE CLUB CALLS MASS MEETING

Enterprising Columbia Motorists Move For Free Roads in Their Section of State

Special to The Telegraph
Columbia, Pa., Aug. 6.—Last evening the Columbia Automobile Club held a meeting at the office of Chief Burgess Detweiler and decided to hold a mass meeting in Columbia, in the interest of free roads. The club also decided to ask the officials of the Pennsylvania Railroad to provide a watchman at the crossing on the road from Rohrerstown to East Petersburg, which is considered a dangerous one. The clubs of Lancaster and York will participate in the meeting to be held in the interest of free roads. The meeting will be held in the State Amory on Thursday evening, August 19. Prominent speakers will be present and a parade headed by a band on a motor truck, will precede the meeting.

Matron at Quincy Orphan Home Has Case of Smallpox

Special to The Telegraph
Waynesboro, Pa., Aug. 6.—Mrs. Annie Everson, matron at the Quincy United Brethren Orphanage came into Waynesboro yesterday with a well-developed case of smallpox. Mrs. Everson took a position at the United Brethren Orphanage at Quincy as matron, arriving at the institution a week ago from Elkins, W. Va., and has since been mingling with the ninety-seven children of the orphanage—sitting at the same table, and being thrown into their society since she took up her duties. Yesterday, she noticed a rash on her skin, and getting aboard of the Cumberland Valley train she came to Waynesboro, to consult a physician. When she called at the office of Dr. Joseph Ennis, he informed her that she had a well-developed case of smallpox, and he at once notified the health officers of the county and State, also the men having charge of the train on which she came to town and everybody got buckled up and placed in a vehicle and driven to Quincy, where a tent had been secured and placed on a lot near the Orphanage, and she was quarantined there. The conductor of the train was vaccinated. The cars of the train were fumigated, and all the inmates of the orphanage have been vaccinated.

Dauphin, Pa., Aug. 6.—Speecheville Presbyterian Sunday school held a delightful picnic in Bender's Woods near the cottage at Speecheville. There were about two hundred people in attendance, coming in automobiles and carriages from Harrisburg, Dauphin and Heckton. The rainstorm of the afternoon drenched the crowd, but all enjoyed the day.

STORM WASHES OUT RAILROAD TRACKS

Great Damage to Gettysburg and Harrisburg Roadbed and to State Highway Near Carlisle

Special to The Telegraph
Carlisle, Pa., Aug. 6.—A heavy rain storm did a great deal of damage in this section of Cumberland county yesterday afternoon and last night. Nearly two inches of rain fell during the shower and roads were flooded and washed out and crops damaged in all parts of the county. There was a cloudburst near Craighead and the rushing waters washed out nearly a eighth of a mile of the roadbed of the Gettysburg and Harrisburg Railroad, entirely suspending traffic until this morning. Twenty carloads of gravel were necessary to fill the holes. Mount Holly Springs Park was flooded and for a time it was feared that the dam at Laurel ice house would break. A number of houses, however, after hard work succeeded in opening the floodgates and thereby saved the dam. Mrs. D. R. Thompson, wife of the editor of the Carlisle Sentinel, was entertaining a large party of visitors at her cottage, which is located just below the dam, and when there was a break her son, Allen Thompson, led the entire party to a box car on the railroad for safety. A small bridge in the park was swept away and the walks flooded. The subway and the walks flooded. Mount Holly Springs was filled with water and passengers were transferred at that point. About two miles from Carlisle the State road was flooded and a large amount of new work destroyed by the rushing waters. A number of Carlisle people who were returning home from the reunion of the Wesleyan family in Mount Holly Park were held up behind the washout, and, as the trolley service was crippled, they had great difficulty in getting home.

PAXTANG PARK

The man, woman or child who can fall to laugh at the "Battle of Bunco Hill," must indeed be a grave imager. The "Battle of Bunco Hill" is the 20-minute conglomeration of gloom dispelling situations, witty lines and assassinated English that serves as a medium for the fun-making talents of Joe F. Willard and Harry Bond. Their work may not hold the mirror up to nature but the fun is clean, ludicrous and there remains to be seen. The remaining four acts that make up this week's bill at Paxtang are all up to the standard one looks for in a first-class vaudeville entertainment and it is doubtful if there is any one who would not be well pleased with this week's offering at the park playhouse.—Advertisement.

U. S. Is Interested in Manufacture of Dyes

Special to The Telegraph
Philadelphia, Aug. 6.—Interest in the recent invention of dyes by Philadelphia has spread to official circles at Washington and the Department of Commerce, through Thomas E. Norton, the commercial agent of the department. Mr. Norton in letters to inventors here, and particularly to Augustus Amrein, the chemist, at 123 Sumac street, has stated that this is an industry in which the government is deeply interested and also anxious to help along. He developed yesterday that the new dye with logwood as a basis and which R. B. Ely, general manager of a dye-stuff house at 38 North Front street, is promoting, is really the invention of Mr. Amrein. Mr. Ely explained yesterday to dealers and others that he did not say he was the inventor, but that he was merely acting as the fiscal agent in disposing of the formula to various manufacturing houses. Robert Pearce, of 2419 West Lehigh avenue, also is associated with Mr. Amrein in the production of the dye.

MOUNT JOY WATER WORKS DAM BREAKS

Last Night's Heavy Rains Cause Great Damage to Lancaster County Towns

Special to The Telegraph
Mt. Joy, Pa., Aug. 6.—A storm of severe intensity swept Lancaster county last night, carrying two creeks over their banks at this place, broke the dam of the water works and flooded the town. The storm seemed to center itself over this borough. Water in the lowlands near where the dam broke, reached the second story in many of the houses. Small buildings are floating about and many chickens were drowned. Corn in many places has been leveled to the ground and broken off. Considerable damage was done to the tobacco crop. Telephone and trolley systems are crippled, cars were unable to get out of the town because the water in some places flooded the tracks for a depth of several feet. The water works was put out of service by the breaking of the dam. Great holes have been torn in the streets of Columbia by the heavy rains, making them impassable. Newgo run is raging and has flooded Marietta to a depth of several feet and Litzitz Springs Park is inundated.

HISTORIC FRIGATE TO BE DESTROYED

FRIGATE PORTSMOUTH
THE FRIGATE PORTSMOUTH
Boston, Mass., Aug. 6.—The historic frigate Portsmouth has just arrived at the East Boston mud flats from Norfolk, Va. She will be dismantled for her metal. The Portsmouth is one of the most famous of the old American men-of-war and is a veteran of two wars. For the last four years the historic old boat has been used as a hospital ship at Norfolk, but she proved to be such a burden that the Navy Department decided to sell her for junk.
