CIVIC FLAG IS ADOPTED BY PENNSYLVANIA TOWN

Fennsylvania Town

Following a local competition, the city council of Altoona, Pa., officially adopted a design for a municipal flag. The purpose of the banner is to arouse civic pride, advertise the community and stimulate allegiance to its home industries. The flag is described, with illustration, in the August Popular Mechanics Magazine. It has a darkblue rectangular field, one and one-twelfth times as long as it is wide, surrounded by a gold border. The design consists of a large keystone of blue outlined with white, on which is placed the seal of the city. At the top of the keystone is the coat of arms of Pennsylvania done in gold, black, pale green and pale blue.

With five men picking and three more hauling the tubers to the barn, Mr. Shelley succeeded in gathering in 525 bushels of potatoes last Wednesday. The men worked nine hours, All of the potatoes were dug from the ground, shook loose from their stocks, placed in barrels and stored in the barn in this short time.

BE GLAD!

Be glad: There are so many things
To cheer us on our way!

The sunny sky, the rippling stream,
The field of new-mown hay.

Be glad for every rosy dawn, For twilight's peaceful hour, For changing seasons as they come, For tree, and grass, and flower.

Be glad for toil, be glad for rest, For strength to do your part. Be glad that all the common joys May come to every heart. The cheerful heart is always best, For sweet contentment strive.

Be glad for health, for friends to love;

Be glad to be alive!

BRIGHTNESS OF LIFE
A thought that is winged from friend to friend
Doesn't seem such a wonderful thing:
Yet it carries the prayer for a joy
without end,
And it throbs with a big friendly ring.

A mere word of cheer, in the shadow of night, When discouragement darkens the way,
Will illumine our hearts with the glorious light
Of a hopeful and sun-brightened day.

A bright, cheery smile often gives us the strength
That we lack in the vortex of strife,
For it lightens our load as we travel
the length
Of the care-laden path we call Life.

So we find, after all, that the things
we thought small
Loom colossal above all the host;
That the best of God's gifts are the friends we can call
To our side when we need them the most.
