STATE BOARDS ARE READY FOR WORK

Public Service Commission First to Take Hold of the Business For the Winter

The State Public Service Commission will be the first of numerous State boards to resume sessions for the winter when it meets to-morrow with an extensive calendar. This week the commission will be in session in Harrisburg until Friday and will meet on September 13 at Pittsburgh and then go to Greensburg to hear the testimony in the Westmoreland Water Company case, one of the most extensive it has undertaken. It will meet here the following week and sessions will likely be held later in Philadelphia.

The State Board of Education will hold a meeting during the month to outline the continuation school work and organization of vocational schools and the State Army Board will within a few days open bids for the new cavalry armory in Philadelphia and the infantry armory at Washington. The State Board of Pardons has closed its September calendar with 25 cases and will meet either September 17 or 22.

The State Forestry Commission will meet Thursday and other boards which will meet to outline Fall and winter work within a short time are the State Livestock Sanitary Board; Bureau of Medical Education and Licenses; State Dental Examiners, who will have charge of registration of dentists, and Agricultural Commission. The latter awaits the return of the Governor.

The State Board of Accounts will be reorganized in a short time and the accounts for advertising constitutional amendments will go before it.

Boards in charge of Workmen's compensation and its branches will be organized in the next two months.

KEEPING FIT IS MAN'S SALVATION

Dr. Dixon Makes Some Comments Upon Middle-Aged Men Taking Care of Themselves

Dr. Samuel G. Dixon, the State Commissioner of Health, says that keeping in good physical condition is the all-important thing for a man in middle life. He declares that the press of business and the life people lead nowadays not only calls for temperate habits, but for rational exercise.

Dr. Dixon says: "For all that has been said to the contrary this is the middle aged man's day. You can talk of the early recognition of competence, of youthful success and what does it all mean but that a man reaches middle age with more years of successful endeavor behind."

"A generation or so ago a business man who devoted himself assiduously to golf or tennis would probably have lost his credit at the banks and have been looked at askance by his business associates. Nowadays there are thousands of successful middle aged businessmen who regularly devote a certain portion of their time to rational exercise. This is fortunate as conditions have changed, our cities have increased in size and the environment of business is more restricted. Our grandfathers had much open-air life thrust upon them; to-day it must be sought.

"Cheeks bronzed from exercise in the open air stamp many a middle aged man as a devotee of rational sports. College athletics are probably responsible for a share of this improvement and public health teaching and a struggle for individual efficiency for the balance.

"The man who has succeeded young is perhaps more jealous of his physical powers than one who has plodded on to a middle aged realization of his hopes.

"There is a movement for temperance on the part of unnumbered thousands of middle aged men. Temperance in eating, in the use of alcohol and a rational indulgence in exercises which will keep up the physical pluse. There are hundreds of country clubs to-day where there was one twenty-five years ago and it is the middle aged men and not the youngsters who most persistently frequent them. It is well that this is a growing movement for it will aid in offsetting the increasing mortality from degenerative diseases.

"The pressure of life and the struggle for existence is growing keener and it behooves the man who has reached the noonday of life to give serious consideration to his physical well being if he wishes to hold his place in the harness."

AT THE COLONIAL TODAY, "THE HOUSE OF A THOUSAND CANDLES"

At the Colonial Theater, Monday and Tuesday, the five-reel Selig Reel Seal play, "The House of a Thousand Candles" will be the attraction. This picture has been declared by critics to be one of the best "surprise stories" ever filmed, while the various camera effects make the photography very beautiful. Harry Mestayer, well known star of the speaking stage, has the leading role and is supported by Grace Darmond and John Charles. Excitement runs high throughout the film and the end is in doubt up to the very last scene.

On the same program will be shown The Pathe Daily News, No. 70, and a roaring comedy, "Police Dogs."

Wednesday and Thursday, The Fox Film Corporation's masterpiece, "Dr. Kameau," a six-part feature, with an excellent cast headed by Frederick Perry, will be the feature of an unusually fine program. Herman Yeager will render a special musical program at the pipeorgan.—Advertisement.

FAN FOR SEWING MACHINE

Intended for use in homes where electric fans are not employed, a rotary fan has been invented which may readily be attached to a sewing machine so as to furnish a cooling current of air across the work board when the device is in service. The vanes are fastened on a hollow shaft which is arranged to be screwed to the end of the axle of the flywheel. The fan, of course, revolves only when the machine is pedaled. A picture of the fan appears in Popular Mechanics.

Detroit Electric

$1975 to $2275

—always available

That's one of the big advantages of an enclosed car like the Detroit Electric. In rain or shine, cold weather or warm, you can enjoy its use.

It has no cylinder to freeze—no radiator to chill—in winter. It is always clean and free from fumes and odors common to gas cars. Because of the simplicity of its mechanism and the high quality of its construction it is not being constantly laid up for repairs as is the case with some gas cars. Every member of the family can drive it safely and so you get far more use from the modern Detroit Electric than you do from a car that only the head of the family or a trained chauffeur can operate. It "picks up" more quickly than any gas car and is much easier to drive in congested traffic. A demonstration will prove mighty enlightening. Just phone a convenient time.
