

Through the co-operation of the State Highway Department and the Motor Club of Harrisburg the Telegraph has prepared the above map of the main highways leading to Harrisburg. This gives also the proposed Lincoln Highway "feeders" from this city to Gettysburg and Lancaster which points are touched by the Lincoln Highway on the main route from New York to San Francisco. The map will doubtless be of much service to all motorists and especially the tourists who are now beginning to visit Harrisburg in the large numbers. The Telegraph has felt for some time that such a map would be of use in increasing the number of Harrisburg visitors and it is especially interesting at this time in connection with the efforts of this paper and the Motor Club of Harrisburg to have Harrisburg placed on the Lincoln Highway through the Gettysburg and Lancaster "feeders". The large arrows indicate the regular Lincoln Highway route. Small arrows indicate the "feeders" into Harrisburg.

PEACH GROWER HAS 125,000 BUSHELS

Aaron Newcomer Ships Carloads of Fruit From Waynesboro to Markets Every Day

Waynesboro, Pa., Sept. 8.—Aaron Newcomer, one of the largest peach growers of this section, is hauling large quantities of peaches to Waynesboro and shipping them over the Cumberland Valley railroad to the large cities. Eight cars were iced for him yesterday.

Mr. Newcomer has a very large yield from his orchards near Pan Mar this year. He has 22,000 peach trees on a farm of 175 acres, and from it will obtain 125,000 bushels—or 250,000 baskets—not including hundreds of baskets that are dropping off the trees or are rotting in the orchard. Mr. Newcomer paid out $1,500 to men to thin the peaches from the trees before they began to ripen.

White Advises Men to Be Reasonable in Demands

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Sept. 8.—John P. White, international president of the United Mine Workers of America, addressing the tri-district convention of the anthracite miners in this city today said that he expects a peaceful settlement with the operators when a conference is held with the coal operators in the Spring to affect a scale to take place of the agreement expiring April 1.

Of next year, he advised the men to be reasonable in their demands and then insist on them when the conference comes. He said that he believed the time for a substantial increase in wages is here and pointed out the earnings of the companies as shown in the Interstate Commerce Commission's statement, to prove that the operators can grant reasonable demands said that the relation between the men and the operators were more pleasant at the present time than at any time in the history of the coal field, and believes that the operators will be willing to consider in a more favorable light the contentions of the men.

Suffragists Find Poor Cross-Eyed Homeless Dog

An auxiliary of the S. P. C. A. was opened at the State Headquarters of the Suffragists in the Arcade Building last night to provide shelter for a homeless doggie that two of the fair suffragists found deserted on a River Front bench.

Miss Libby, head of the Literature Department, and Mrs. Welden Hubbs, executive secretary, were the rescuers. They found the small dog seated on a bench along the river walk near Pine street. One pleading eye was aimed in the general direction of Independence Island; the other stared idly and completely at the Walnut street bridge.

"Gracious," said Miss Libby, "which direction do you suppose its master or mistress went?"

"Both ways, I reckon," said Mrs. Hubbs, crossing her fingers as she noted that doggie could look both upstream and downstream at the same time.

No owner materialized from either direction, however, so the fair Suffi took doggie over to headquarters and turned him over to the tender care of the publicity manager. As it is of course impossible for a publicity man to make use out of a cross-eyed dog he would appreciate it if the owner would call and claim it.

Doggie is stuffed with sawdust but that really shouldn't affect its news value. And if its juvenile mistress brings her picture along when she calls, who knows but some managing editor mightn't publish it? Who knows!

John T. Reeside Instructor in Carlisle Public Schools

Carlisle, Pa., Sept. 8.—With the largest enrollment in their history the Carlisle schools opened this week. The enrollment is 1727, about 100 more than last year. Among the features introduced into the work this year are a policy of self government in the High School. Discipline is to be enforced by a student "court" of five members who will have sole power to act, subject to the decision of the principal of the school. John T. Reeside, of Harrisburg, is among the additional teachers of the High school faculty. He has charge of mechanical arts instruction. He is a graduate of Harrisburg Tech and received a C. E. from Lafayette.

CITY DEFENDANT IN $2,500 SEWER DAMAGE COMPLAINT

Another suit for damages growing out of the caving in of the Naudin street sewer during a heavy rainstorm several years ago was filed against the city today. The plaintiff is Mrs. Cora Hammacker. Her dwelling was damaged, she contends, to the extent of $2,500.

At June common pleas court C. J. Mahoney won a verdict of $4,500 against the city in a similar suit brought by the Hammackers.

The contention in the Mahoney action is the same in Mrs. Hammacker's case; that the city should have provided proper sewers to carry off the water and that the damage to the houses was directly due to the caving in of the drain.

Is this a clue to Point 7?

How gum benefits the teeth

DENTAL research has found that only 1.2% of the Maoris of New Zealand have any decay of teeth. Next come the Esquimaux, only 1.4% of those examined having teeth unsound. Third rank certain tribes of Canadian Indians.

Some years ago the British Dental Association examined the teeth of 10,500 English school children. 86% had some decay of the teeth!

Why? From leading dental authorities we get this answer:

Races having the best teeth chew foods which excite the salivary glands. The Maori flavors food with the juice of the tutu-berry—a keen exciter of the salivary flow. The Canadian Indian chews wood of the sugar pine.

The human saliva is endorsed by these same authorities as Nature's own mouth wash—the best conservator of the teeth—best since man began.

In encouraging a normal flow of saliva, the clean, pure Sterling Gum brings distinct aid to the health of the teeth.

It acts against what dentists call "oral (mouth) stagnation."

The importance of this fact may lead you to suppose it the 7th Sterling point—but no; that 7th point is still as much a mystery as ever.
