Sick Women Attention

Is it possible there is a woman in this country who continues to suffer without giving Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial after all the evidence that is continually being published, which proves beyond contradiction that this grand old medicine has relieved more suffering among women than any other one medicine in the world?

From Mrs. S. T. Richmond, Providence, R. I. PROVIDENCE, R. I.—"For the benefit of women who suffer as I have done I wish to state what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me.

From Mrs. Maria Irwin, Peru, N.Y. PERU, N.Y.—"Before I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I was very irregular and had much pain.

From Mrs. Jane D. Duncan, W. Quincy, Mass. SOUTH QUINCY, MASS.—"The doctor said that I had organic trouble and he doctored me for a long time and I did not get any relief.

MRS. ENNETA GROSS MONTGOMERY DIES VIEWS OF TAFT ON SUFFRAGE DISCUSSED Member of Market Square Church and Many Local Charity Organizations Dr. Shaw and Mrs. Horace Brock Comment on Former President's Story Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 10.—Professor William H. Taft's article on woman suffrage, which appeared in the current issue of the Saturday Evening Post, caused no little comment by suffragists and antisuffragists. The Ex-President states in his article that when he graduated from the Woodward High school, he delivered an oration espousing equal franchise, but that since then his views on the subject have changed. He asserts that in the end, if suffrage is sufficiently delayed to give the woman a better chance to prepare for the exercise of the franchise, "its advantages will outweigh its probable injurious consequences."

Mrs. Ennetta Gross Montgomery, wife of Walter L. Montgomery, of this city, died at her home, 700 North Third street, at 4:30 o'clock this morning. Mrs. Montgomery was the daughter of Jacob Gross and Margaret Reams-hart Gross and was a life-long resident of this city. She was a member of many local organizations and at her death was a member of Market Square Presbyterian Church, and a woman of broad charity. October 18, 1910, she married Walter L. Montgomery. Mr. Montgomery is connected with the Montgomery Coal Company. As a young woman in Harrisburg she had taken an active part in many social affairs, and one of the characteristics and pleasant phases of Mrs. Montgomery's life was her devotion to the interests of the unfortunate, especially the city's poor. Until her recent illness compelled her to curtail her activities, she was accustomed during the holiday season to taking and having delivered favors which would please those less fortunate than themselves. Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

Tech Students Strong For Military Training Tech High boys are enthusiastic over the tentative plan of J. Grant Koons, an instructor and a former sergeant and drill master of the Governor's Troop, to organize a cavalry, artillery and infantry cadet corps in the school. They believe the experience would give them a military training that would be very valuable. Other instructors at the school are strong for the movement and Mr. Koons believes the school board will give him permission to institute the innovations as soon as he gets his plans completed and before them. While Superintendent of School Downey has not seriously considered the matter, it is believed he will favor it.

SUPERFLUOUS VOTING One of the editors of the New York World recently stopped a dozen people in front of his office and asked each in the name of the secretary of state of New York. Not one could tell him. This is no reflection upon popular intelligence. It is an office for which the citizen should not be asked to vote, and his lack of interest is an unconscious resentment at being called upon to do this. Burton J. Hendrick, in the September World.

Rabbi Freund to Make "A Plea For Sabbath" Continuing his series of sermons in observance of the Jewish New Year, Rabbi Charles J. Freund will preach in Ohev Shalom synagogue this evening at 7:45 o'clock on "A Plea for the Sabbath." The general theme of today's celebration centers around the Sabbath of Return. Preparations are now being made by Jews here for an elaborate observance of the Day of Atonement. The initial service will be held next Friday evening and services Saturday will be entirely devoted to it. The ritual of the day is public and congregational, but its significance is personal. One phase of the ritual is the thought and memory of the dead. Another expresses openness, sympathy and a desire to attain to a moral will.
