for the rebuilding of the stretch of State road through the town. From the Harrisburg city limits to a point just beyond Paxtang avenue, along the Hummelstown pike, the road is in extremely bad shape. The matter was called to the attention of the borough fathers on several occasions and last evening they laid definite plans to remery the condition. A committee was authorized to draw up an ordi-nance empowering the circulation of a petition among the property owners along the pike. This petition, it is understood, will ask the property own-ers to pay for all of the road building in front of their properties and also the street intersections. Of course the Harrisburg Railways Company will pay for the work done between its tracks and also for a short space on each side of the tracks, but council has been informed that the company would much more desire to have the work done next Spring. Council is willing to wait until then, too, before starting any work, and in the mean-time all plans will be laid so that the work san be hurried to completion. Already there is some opposition to the plan of council, some residents believing that there should be some aid from the State and county and that the balance should be paid out of the borough treasury and not by the individual property holders along the pike. Turtil the actual construction of the new road can be started, council de-cided to make what repairs are neces-fary. The highway committee was instructed to procure stone and fill the ruts.

instructed to procure stone and fill the ruts. Council also discussed the poor drainage system existing in the bor-ough and the highway committee was told to grade a number of places in an offort to stop the flooding of cellars along the pike after every heavy-rain. One of the councilmen said last even-ing that some time in the future he may propose the calling of a citizens' meeting for the purpose of urging a loan for good roads purposes.
