

FARM ADVISORS HELPED HUNDREDS

Excellent Work Done by the Men and Women in Charge of This Branch of Work

The farm advisers of the State Department of Agriculture visited 157 farms during the month of August, giving advice and counsel to the farmers of from two to three days' duration along the lines of soil, improvement, dairy and animal husbandry, poultry, farm drainage and water supply market gardening and fruits, co-operation in farming, household economics and home sanitation. They also attend 55 Pomona Grange and Harvest Home picnics with a total attendance of 120,000 people. This establishes a record even for this work.

One of the important features is the class followed by the adviser in co-operation with the farmer in marketing, during the month of August, 15 carloads of peaches as well as finding market for smaller quantities. Among the farmers assisted in marketing their products were Earl Edell, Frank Stillwell and L. H. Hall, Mansfield; Joseph Berg and R. D. Petticrew, Tioity; Charles Merritt, Melancon; Fred Van Dusen, Frank Van Dussen and J. D. Seely, Osceola; John E. West and L. Gee, Middleburg; Austin Wells,boro; D. M. Wertz, Quincy and H. A. Surface, Mechanicsburg. The advisers also visited the different exhibits in the State during this month and assisted quite a number of farmers in buying farm machinery.

These advisers are at the services of the farmers of the State free of cost upon request to the adviser direct or through A. L. Martin, director, Department of Agriculture, Harrisburg. The following is a list of and their respective lines of work: Soils and farm crops, J. T. Campbell, Hartstown; L. W. Lighty, East Berlin; and Prof. Franklin Menges, York; dairying and animal husbandry, Dr. M. E. Conrad, Westgrove, and L. W. Lighty, East Berlin; poultry, J. T. Campbell, Hartstown; and W. Theodore Wittman, Allentown; farm drainage and water supply, Chas. G. McLain, Brookville; market gardening and fruits, Sheldon W. Funk, Boyertown; co-operation in farming, E. B. Dorsett, Mansfield; home sanitation and household economics, Mrs. Jean Kane Houck, West Chester.

GOVERNOR'S TOUR WILL BE UNUSUAL

Will Take Over 100 Men on a Trip Covering Half of the State Early in October

Governor Brumbaugh's automobile tour of Pennsylvania's great scenic regions, the typical farming, industrial, mining and urban portions of Pennsylvania, has been arranged by the State Highway Department and will cover half the State during the week of October 4 to 9. It will start from Harrisburg and end in Philadelphia, traversing almost 1,000 miles, and over 100 men have accepted invitations to participate.

In many ways the tour will be unique. It is an idea that the Governor says he got while touring the state in his campaign and is for the purpose of interesting Pennsylvanians in their own wonderful state. The State Highway Department has laid out the tour, made all arrangements and will pilot the party.

The detail of the tour calls for a start from in front of the Capitol on Monday, October 4, the ninth anniversary of the dedication of the Capitol. Then the party starts with all cars numbered and the Highway Department officials piloting the Governor and passing through Lemoine, Camp Hill, Hogestown, New Kingston and Middlesex and Carlisle. The road from Camp Hill to Carlisle is a water-bound macadam which has had this summer a surface treatment of asphaltic oil. Passing through Carlisle, the tourists will proceed over Route 25, known as the Walnut Bottom road. The tourists will pass through the villages of Dickinson, Hockersville, Walnut Bottom and Lees Cross Roads to the borough limits of Shippensburg. Nine and eight-tenths miles of this road was resurfaced with water-bound macadam during the last season and is being treated with asphaltic oil.

Leaving Shippensburg the tourists will proceed over a turnpike for nine miles to Chambersburg. Negotiations are under way with this turnpike company for the purchase of the road by the State and it is expected that within a short time this highway will be free to the public. Luncheon will be taken in Chambersburg, following which the tourists will proceed over Route 37, through the villages of St. Thomas and Fort Loudon, up the Tuscarora Mountains to McConnellsburg, stopping at Lookout Point on the summit of the mountains to afford a view of the magnificent scenery. The water-bound macadam road over which the tourists run from Chambersburg has been treated this season with asphaltic oil and is in fine condition. Passing through McConnellsburg on Route 39 the tourists will climb the mountain, continuing through Harrisonville and Salvia, thence over Sideling Hill to Breese-wood, and thence to Juniata Crossing. This road is water-bound macadam for the first four and a half miles out of McConnellsburg and then shale for four and a half miles, then sand and clay to the Fulton-Bedford county line. All of it has been treated with asphaltic oil.

The ride up the beautiful Juniata river to Everett will be taken at slow speed so that opportunity will be afforded for observation of the scenery. Proceeding to Tussey Mountain, the tourists will continue to Bedford, where a stop will be made for the night. This road forms a portion of the old Pittsburgh pike and has been for the most part resurfaced and treated with asphaltic oil. Starting early the next morning from Bedford, the route will proceed through Schellsburg, crossing the Allegheny Mountains, with ample opportunity to see the wonderful panorama from Lookout Point, not far from which is the highest point on the Lincoln Highway between New York and the Rocky Mountains, then onward to "Seven Mile Stretch." Here the highway unfolds like a waving ribbon as far as the eye can see to Stoystown.

The second night will be spent in Pittsburgh and the third in Altoona, while on the fourth day the party will go to Huntingdon and be the guests of the Governor at lunch and then go to Bellefonte, thence traveling to Williamsport and thence next day to Pocono Summit. The tour will end after a trip down the Delaware to Philadelphia.
