As Your Member of the Legislature

I introduced and passed and had signed by the governor

CAPITAL PARK EXTENSION BILL

Bureau of Standards, making an honest weight and measure; increased the appropriation for Harrisburg's firemen from $2,200.00 to $5,600.00 saving that much money for our taxpayers; secured larger appropriations for our charitable institutions than was ever gotten BEFORE OR SINCE; secured a special appropriation for Harrisburg's Deaf, Dumb and Blind Child after the Attorney General said it could not be done; helped to give to Harrisburg at a great loss to myself, good clean baseball for eleven years.

Note-- I believe when you realize the good work I did for our city, I will receive your vote and influence.

Circulars Tell of Plans For Welfare Conference

Circulars telling of the results of former displays and the strides hoped Welfare and Engineering Conference to be held in the carhous of the Harrisburg Railways company, November 16-19, were mailed to hundreds of manufacturers and others by J. V. W. Reynolds, chairman of the exhibit committee, to-day.

The letter accompanied the circular follows: "Dear Sirs: I beg to call your attention to the enclosed circular regarding the Exhibit to be held November 15th to 19th inclusive, in Harrisburg, in connection with the Third Annual Pennsylvania Industrial and Public Welfare and Engineering Conference. I trust that after careful consideration of the same you will see your way clear to be represented with an exhibit."

"The first two exhibits have been representative of the very best products of the Safe, Economical and Efficient industrial development and also indicative of what the industrial and public service companies are doing to promote the health and welfare of the people."

"The combined efforts of the various departments of the State government will produce a program for the Convention that will attract to Harrisburg an even greater body of industrial and engineering men than in the past, and I believe that your company should be interested in being represented at this exhibit."

WAGS-THE DOG THAT ADOPTED A MAN

Mr. Fakem, the Clairvoyant, said if I got up at daybreak, walked due east until I came to a brook, then waded across it, I would break the attachment that b-kety-b-k dog has for me!

I'll bet I've walked eighty miles and no brook yet!

Ah! At last here's a brook, and shallow enough to wade across!

!!! Ugh-h! I stepped in a hole!

I guess I'll take a bath too!

It was deeper than I thought but if it does the work, it's worth it!

And I paid that Clairvoyant a dollar and thirty cents!!

Good mornin', Boss! Did you use Peach's Soap?
