PRESIDING OFFICERS OF PROMINENT ORGANIZATIONS OF WOMEN PLEDGED TO THE BEST INTERESTS OF HARRISBURG.

Harrisburg club women are sharing in the glory of the municipal celebration, for they are doing their part well, both for the "City Beautiful" and the city's welfare.

The Wednesday Club, such a potent influence in the city's musical affairs, was formed thirty-three years ago by a few music-loving women of the city for the purpose of arousing musical interest in Harrisburg and developing the musical talent of its members.

The officers for this year are: President, Miss Mary Robinson; recording secretary, Mrs. Carl W. Davis; corresponding secretary, Miss Bennet; treasurer, Mrs. William L. Keltner; leader of chorus, Miss Ruth Conkling.

The work of the Ohev Sholom Sisterhood, an organization of forty-five women, is primarily to assist in the welfare of the religious school and temple. When the great cry for assistance went forth, it was heard and answered and a sewing society formed by members of the Sisterhood which meets every week.

Without dividing honors too closely, the Women's Christian Temperance Union claims some share in the city's march of human progress. From the time of Pennsylvania's organization, March 3, 1875, the women of Harrisburg have promoted the cause of total abstinence from all intoxicating liquors, and the abolition of the liquor traffic by every wise and expedient means.

Through its educational system, the W. C. T. U. has given its women complete intellectual ability to participate in political discussion and remain regnant in the sphere distinctly its own. They desire the ballot, for it is the weapon they will use to strike at evil and strike to kill.

The Harrisburg Civic Club has spread all over the land and the activities of this earnest body of women, banded together 17 years ago to improve the city, have been an inspiration to other women and other clubs in many places.

The general purpose of the club is to give pleasure to others at their meetings in assembly hall of the Public Library with many of the most beautiful tales of the story book of the world. With the boy and girl in view, they select stories that will help develop ideal manhood and womanhood and a feeling of world brotherhood.

The specific purpose of the club is to study in an informal and social way the real art of story telling. Most stories are placed on the finest of the world's stories, with the creative touch, that will make them a living literature and new expression of American life and art.

The club membership has doubled since its organization, numbering several contributors to well-known magazines. The enthusiastic young story tellers have created a city-wide interest in their alluring art and brought here last winter two famous lecturers who won large audiences to a deeper interest in the subject.

A limited membership has been found necessary, as meetings are held at the homes of members, but at least once a year there is an open meeting with some special speaker, lecturer or traveler whom friends of the members are invited to hear.
