MONSTER STEEL COMBINE FORMING

[Continued From First Page.] a new corporation to be organized. No confirmation of this report could be had.

Special to The Telegraph

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 23.-A plan has been presented to the attorney general of the United States preliminary to the consolidation of a number of independent steel companies into a concern which would be a formidable rival to the United States Steel Cor-

The companies which would be enbraced in such a consolidation, should no objection be raised by the Govern-ment, would include the Pennsylvania Steel Company, Bethlehem Steel Company, Cambria Steel Company, Midvale Steel, Lackawanna Steel, Crucible Steel and Jones and Laughlin. The recent legal victory of the steel trust has encouraged steel and financial interests to press forward with their plans for a second combine.

Swab Dominant Factor

The dominant factor in the new combine, according to stories heard yesterday, will be Charles M. Schwab, first president of the United States Steel Corporation and recognized as the leading spirit in the steel trade in this country. It was also said that Henry C. Frick would have no great interest in the new concern, in fact it was said that Mr. Frick was now selling out his large holdings of Cambria Steel stock.

ing out his large holdings of Cambria Steel stock.

One of the preliminaries to the new combine was the acquisition of the Midvale Steel Company, and it is understood that plans now are shaping for control of this great armor plant to pass to new parties, said to be related to the Schwab interests. A second step will be the announcement shortly of the exercising of the option on the Pennsylvania Company majority holdings of Cambria Steel stock. The Pennsylvania Railroad not long ago confirmed the report that William H. Donner, president of the Cambria Steel Company, had an option on the Pennsylvania Company holdings of Cambria Steel and Pennsylvania Steel.

VICTORY FOR U.S. IN LATEST FRYE CASE

traband practically everything which was conditional under the Declaration of London.

One thing seems to officials certain—German naval commanders now are ordered to exercise the rights of visit and search with respect to all American ships to determine what cargo the vessels carry, thus making it practically sure that none will be attacked without warning or ample time for passengers and crew to be transferred irrespective of the cargo.

Considered with reference to the entire controversy between Germany and the United States the Frye note is regarded as an indication that the Berlin Foreign Office is anxious to averta break with the Washington government. This increased to-day the interest in Germany's attitude toward the negotiations over the Arabic.

The note says: "The German naval forces are not to destroy American merchantmen which have loaded conditional contraband, even when the conditions of international law are present, but to permit them to continue their voyage unhiludered if it is not possible to take them into port."

Germany gave this assurance "in order to furnish to the American government evidence of its conciliatory attitude."
