TRAVEL WITH HOWE

The pulse of the explorer beats within us at all times with more or less pressure but when an opportunity presents itself to gratify wanderlust from a comfortable theater chair in such an admirable manner as Lyman H. Howe's Travel Festival which is coming to the Orpheum for two days beginning tomorrow with daily matinees in order to be here to help our city's improvement celebration, our longing to visit distant parts naturally becomes keener. In Howe's new program are reproductions of both California expositions which incidentally also includes a trip through the Panama Canal. Of paradises further afield there will be a filmization of the Parks of Paris, the Gardens in the Champ de Mars, the Trollhattan Falls of Sweden, quaint Holland, Belgium, and still other subjects will depict the steel industry in France, porpoise fisheries, a railroad ride across Norway, Christiania, Bergen, and a ride on a U. S. submarine. The seats are now on sale.—Advertisement.

MAJESTIC VAUDEVILLE

Heading the Majestic municipal bill is the Max Comedy Circus, an animal act so far from the beaten path of animal attractions that it is a genuine novelty and comedy treat. "Back to Montreal" is the title of a comedy bit sprinkled with good songs that will come in for a big share of the comedy honors also. Something decidedly artistic offered in a series of dances presented by Mile. Sabina assisted by Cleveland Brenneke, the wizard of the air, and Pearl Brothers and Burns will offer an irresistible turn of comedy songs and patter.—Advertisement.

ELSIE JANIS IN "BETTY IN SEARCH OF A THRILL" AT THE REGENT TO-DAY

Elsie Janis in "Betty in Search of a Thrill," presented by Bosworth was enjoyed by a large audience at the Regent yesterday, and will be repeated to-day. When Betty arrives home from the convent to visit her uncle's family, they are careful to hide all extreme low-necked gowns and other worldly things lest they shock the devout convent girl. Betty finds them and instead of shocking they fascinate. They instill in her a desire to know more about such things which the world contains. Therefore when Jim (Loren Moore), a young bachelor, proposes to her, she frankly tells him she loves him, but must see the world first and he leaves her as she sits before the old fireplace. Out into the world she goes. She learns, but she pays for her lesson with a pang and heartache. At the vital moment, when Betty is about to faint dead away, Jim, the faithful, appears just in time to catch her in his arms. What a relief then for Betty to awake and find it all a dream. When the warring flames throw upon the leather panels of the beautiful room make her appreciate the full meaning of a home. Jim, coming in to plead his cause anew, has no trouble in convincing her that the world and its false pleasures are not what they seem. Friday, one day only—Jesse L. Lasky presents the brilliant novel and successful play, "Brewster's Millions" with Edward Ahearn.

FIRE DEPARTMENT FOR HIRE At last it is beginning to dawn upon us that the man whose carelessness and stinginess permits his building to catch fire and burn, incidentally causing loss to any number of innocent bystanders, is a pest and should be treated as such. As has been urged in these pages more than once, we should copy the long-established practice in Great Britain and on the Continent, and impose a penalty on the man whose building has a fire, instead of rewarding him with fat fire-insurance policies, which put an actual premium on the largest possible loss and damage by fire and water. On the other side, when the fire department is called, the man with a fire pays a good round sum for the services of the firemen and equipment. Instead of a thrill at being the basic cause of a brilliant setting for a moving picture, with brightly painted ladder trucks and resplendent steamers, and a few score of the bravest, in motor trucks, dashing to the rescue, there is consternation at the prospective bill, for the more that come the bigger the charge will be. Where a good part of the prospective insurance money is consumed in advance by the bill the fire department will collect for their professional visit, a fire loses much of its claim. A city levies charges for the water it supplies for domestic purposes, and why not for water purmer to put out fires? The fact is, a score of things are charged for by cities which are not a fraction as logical as to charge for the use of the fire department. New York and Boston have already announced their tariff charges for fire service of one steamer up, and other cities should promptly do the same. A very large percentage of fires would never have occurred if some one had used reasonable care, and nothing will stimulate greater care so much as care so much as having to pay for what is now free as air.—H. H. Windsor, in the October Popular Mechanics Magazine.

SIX MILLION MILES AFLOAT Six million miles or more on the Atlantic highway without shipwreck is the record of Howard Ernest Hinsley, purser of the American liner St. Louis. Having reached the age of sixty he gave notice on the last trip of the vessel, of his determination to retire from the sea. He claims the record of having crossed the Atlantic 2000 times. His first call to the deep was in 1867 as a mate's boy on the city of Baltimore. A year later, he went to the City of Antwerp and afterwards for two years he was with the navy. He was a purser on the American Line for twenty-three years. Mr. Hinsley has a little farm up near Dumfries, Scotland, and expects to end his days there.—The Christian Herald.
