Old Sand and Coal Firm to Discontinue Business

On October 1 the firm of Santo and Peace, sand and coal dealers, of 117 Paxton street, will quit business. They have sold their interests to John D. Nipple, of Wormleysburg.

For eighteen years Solomon Santo and Samuel S. Peace have been taking coal and sand from the Susquehanna river. Previous to the organization of the firm, the senior member was engaged in the sand business.

Both members of the firm have been life-long residents of Harrisburg. They were first associated together in the iron business, starting work at the old Harrisburg Rolling Mill in South Harrisburg in 1868. They have operated as many as fifteen flats and puns. Recently their fleet was reduced to seven.

The junior member of the retiring firm is the father of Ashton D. Peace, former president of common council, who is candidate for City Controller. Samuel S. Peace was also at one time a member of common council and for ten years was City Assessor. Solomon Santo was for several years tax collector in his district.

PURE MILK BABIES MAKE BIG GAINS

Strides During Past Season Shown by Report; Mother's Devotion

Announcement was made this afternoon by the Pure Milk Society, 1001 North Front street, of the prize winners at the various milk stations during the season just closed. All the prizes were awarded by Mrs. Marlin E. Olmsted.

First prize, for the greatest improvement in home conditions and general care of baby, at Front and Boas streets milk station, was awarded to Marjorie Kirk, 616 Peffer street. The baby's weight when entered was 8 pounds, but at the time the station closed it was increased to 12 pounds 8 ounces.

Second prize, for greatest gain in weight on mixed milk and the most regular attendance at St. Paul's milk station, went to Margaret Bock, 112 Summit street. The weight when entered at the station was 12 1/2 pounds; when the station closed, it was 17 1/2 pounds.

Third prize, for the most regular attendance at milk station and marked improvement in weight and home conditions, at Front and Boas street station, was won by Mary Sier, 1115 North Front street, whose weight when entered was 3 1/2 pounds and when the station closed was 13 1/2 pounds.

Fourth prize, for the breast-fed baby showing the greatest gain in weight and improvement in home conditions, at St. Paul's station, went to Harry Lewis, who weighed 9 1/2 pounds when entering the station and when the station closed was 16 1/2 pounds.

During the summer at the various milk stations mothers were instructed in the modification of their diet, the general care of baby, and in the general care of the baby.

So interested were many of the mothers in the work of the society that they tramped miles over paved streets carrying their precious tots to obtain the advice and care of the station physicians.

One mother drove eleven miles across country roads and then paid three fares on the trolley car to reach one of the stations, where she obtained advice for the care of her ill baby.

Walk Sixty-two Squares Another mother walked sixty-two squares, carrying her offspring, that she might receive free milk, medicine and food for the tiny tot. She did this twice each week.

In the following statistics in the work of the society follow: Public welfare and investigation visits from June 1 to October 1, 620; total number of babies visiting the milk station at Front and Boas streets, 267; number of babies visiting St. Paul's milk station at Eleventh and State streets, 173.

The Pure Milk Society furnished certified milk, the purest it was possible to obtain, and paid half the price, the mothers paying the other half.

Front Drive Motor Co. Controversy Is Settled in Council

City Council put in a comparatively brief session this afternoon for the transaction of regular business, although the commissioners were closeted for half an hour or more with the solicitor for the discussion of some of the matters.

New ordinances introduced included a measure for the opening of Brookwood street from Benton to the place of the 6-inch water pipe in the same section, by Mr. Bowman. Ordinances passed finally including the measures authorizing the paving of Cream alley from Sixteenth to Swatara streets, and Snow alley from Cream to Swatara.

At the suggestion of Mayor Royal, Council agreed that $302.50 was sufficient insurance for the police motor ambulance.

The Front Drive Motor Company controversy caused by the patent infringement action threatened against it, was satisfactorily settled by Council this afternoon when it accepted the company's proposition that it withhold $720 or 10 per cent. of the contract price as a protection against any loss that might be sustained.

Marine Killed and 10 Others Injured in Haiti

Washington, D. C., Sept. 28.—Sergeant John Platt was killed and 10 other marines were wounded in two clashes yesterday in northern Haiti between the American expeditionary force and the revolutionary Haitian Cacos, or guerrillas. Platt lost his life in an engagement between the marines and the Cacos at a point between the towns of Petit Rièrre and Delartionne. Those wounded were in an engagement fought at Haut du Cap, near Cape Haitien. The fighting was the most severe in which the American forces have participated since they were landed in Haiti.

GIVES LIFE FOR OTHERS By Associated Press New York, Sept. 28.—Harry F. Grant, the racing automobile driver who was engulfed in flames while driving his machine at a 100-mile-an-hour clip on the Sheepshead Bay speedway, is in a critical condition to-day. Surgeons stated that he had a slight chance of recovery. Grant would not have been seriously burned if he had stopped his machine immediately after it caught fire. If he had done this, however, he would have endangered the lives of other drivers who were close behind him.

GUN TOTERS ARE UP BEFORE COURT

Magyar Is Given Two Months; Many Minor Cases Disposed Of

The illegal totting of guns by a German and a negro occupied the attention of Dauphin county criminal juries nearly all morning in September quarter sessions. John Bolden, a Magyar, who was found with a revolver in his hip pocket as he slept, got 30 fine and two months in jail. John said he found the revolver in the road and just naturally shoved it into his pocket. The other defendant was William Jackson, a negro. He got into a row in an uptown saloon and after his arrest the pistol was found in his clothes. Other cases disposed of in September quarter sessions included:

Paul Brigman, larceny of twenty or more chickens, $5 and seven months; Wilby Perce, burglary, acquitted; Margaret Farber, larceny of silver forks, acquitted; Harry C. Farber, assault and battery upon his wife Margaret, convicted; Margaret Williams, assault and battery, $15 and costs; Mike Mowcic, larceny, $5 fine and two months; Henry C. Marley, aggravated assault and battery, acquitted; Joseph Shaw, resisting officer while the latter was attempting to break up a crap game, $10 fine and six months (Shaw had a five-year penitentiary record). Prior to the noon adjournment James J. Reigle was placed on trial for embezzling $17 from the Colonial Insurance Company. The grand jury ignored these bills: Mattie Diefenbach, perjury; Mary Shaffer, perjury, and Elijah Brown, assault and battery.
