

Formal Opening of Big New Stieff Piano Building Tomorrow Makes Stieff Line Supreme In This City

An Invitation to All

L. F. BASS
Manager.

I wish personally to extend the heartiest of invitations to everybody in the city to attend the Formal Opening of the big new Stieff Piano Store to-morrow.

To old Stieff customers—the many hundreds who have contributed to our success—I extend a special invitation to visit and inspect the new store to see what strides in service we have made.

We feel sure that all who inspect the building will pronounce it the most up-to-date and best equipped in the city and Central Pennsylvania.

—L. F. BASS,
Manager.

The New Building

The new Stieff Piano Building is one of the best equipped in Pennsylvania—and in fact in the United States—to give that "quality" service which the piano purchaser has a right to expect.

One hundred and fifty pianos of the Stieff line, including the Stieff piano, Stieff player-piano, Stieff Grand, Shaw pianos and players, and the Bennett-Bretz pianos, will be on display in the spacious parlors at all times.

Special facilities have been provided for the player-piano business, a sound-proof music roll room, where patrons can hear the latest offerings, being a feature of this department.

Courteous salesmen will show you about the big building to-morrow all day, and in the evening a recital will be given in the concert hall on the third floor by Newell Albright and Lee Cronican, pianists. An orchestra will play throughout the evening on the main floor.

Stieff Supremacy

With the opening of the new store to-morrow Stieff Supremacy in Harrisburg and Central Pennsylvania will be an established fact.

The Stieff Piano is used in the leading theaters in this city; scores of colleges and musical conservatories throughout the State use nothing but the Stieff; and in hundreds of homes in the city and the territory of which Harrisburg is the center, the Stieff has long been found

"Factory to Home" Policy

One of the big reasons for the growth of the Stieff business here and elsewhere is the policy of selling directly "From Factory to Home." The piano which you purchase in the Harrisburg Stieff store is bought direct from the maker. There is no middleman, and consequently you pay no middleman's profit, which on a piano of the high quality of the Stieff runs anywhere from $150 to $200.

Added to this saving which the purchase of a Stieff piano means, is the exquisite tonal quality of every instrument sent out from the Baltimore factory. Throughout the musical world, artists have long called the Stieff "the piano with the sweet tone" and each year its popularity grows greater among discriminating pianists.

STIEFF GRAND, STYLE 79
A home with such a piano speaks culture and a desire for the ultra-fine.

When you visit the store to-morrow and see and hear the scores of pianos in the new building, you will fully understand why the Stieff Piano is supreme.

grade are the same, as nearly as they can be shown in writing. An examining officer is given discretion to waive the examination in person of an applicant at some distance, provided his written examination satisfies the officer that he is qualified for a license and will fulfill its obligations. There are not sufficient inspecting officers to cover the whole country, and they are chiefly located along the coast. It would be a hardship to deprive a youngster of a license he is qualified to hold because he cannot present himself for examination. Many of the most efficient amateur operators hold second grade licenses. They have picked up their qualification with no other aid than by corresponding with the authorities.

Failure to Cut Weeds Costs Money in Paxtang

Special to The Telegraph
Paxtang, Pa., Sept. 30.—Because of their failure to comply with a borough ordinance passed a few months ago as a health measure, the board of health is preparing to bring action before Squire Howard C. Fry against property owners who have failed to cut down the high weeds on their lots. In the early part of the summer council passed the ordinance, which carries with it a fine of from $5 to $20 for failure to cut down weeds. Notice was given that the measure would have to be complied with before June 1, but many persons failed to pay any attention. The health board permitted several more opportunities to comply, but some persons would not heed. Already several fines have been imposed and the board is preparing to bring suits against all remaining property owners who permit high grass and weeds on their premises.
