London, Oct. 1, 12.35 P. M.—The French are bearing the brunt of the fighting now in progress on the western front. They are hammering at the second German line in Champagne, in the direction of the Grand Fre railway, and at the same time dropping bombs on the line and stations to prevent the Germans from bringing up reinforcements. Absence of news from the British front apparently indicates that these forces are occupied with consolidating their positions in the strip of territory recently won.

Pantalettes? Oh My Yes! Mrs. Longworth Wears Them Fortunes of War Send Rich Sofia Banker's Son Here to Labor A victim of the so-called fortunes of war, Michael H. Angeloff, son of one of the wealthiest bankers in Sofia, Bulgaria, is now employed as a common laborer at the Berryhill Nursery.

MISS EDITH PONTO AND MRS. NICHOLAS LONGWORTH WEARING THE NEW PANTALETTES

Chicago, Sept. 26.—New York has not yet accepted the pantalette as the proper garment for women, but Chicago has welcomed it to its bosom, or—well, anyway, several fashionable women have adopted the novel garment here. Mrs. Nicholas Longworth, who as Alice Roosevelt, gave the country "Alice Blue" was one of the first women to wear the new pantalettes in the street. Instead of being offset with ruffles, they were of heavy silk material, with a wide tuck in each leg reaching to the ankles. They would have been noticed if they had not been pantalettes, being somewhat longer than the prevailing fashion in skirts. A big heavy traveling coat, with a broadcloth collar, conspicuous for the absence of fur of any kind, was worn with the "skirtish" looking trousers. Miss Edith Ponto was also seen wearing the new garment or garments, whichever they are, or it is. Heavy embroidery was used to trim the bottoms of the pantalettes worn by Miss Ponto.

The British forces now in France are estimated at a round million men, which will be increased by 500,000. Daily lengthening of the obituary columns of the London newspapers is beginning to measure the price paid by the British for their recent offensive. There is no notable change on the battle front of the east. Vienna announces that the third Austrian war loan will bear interest of 5 1/2 per cent. Bulgaria has not repiled to the suggestion of Greece that she demobilize.
