THE STAGE

Elsie Janis will be seen this year in a new play by Paul Dickey and Chas. W. Goddard. The music is by Jerome Korn. The piece which opens to-morrow night at the George M. Cohart Theater will be called "Miss Information."

Irvin Cobb, magazine writer, it is rumored, has been made a tempting offer to appear in vaudeville.

MOTION PICTURES

The Famous Players' Studio, recently destroyed by fire, will be reconstructed in Fifty-sixth street, between Sixth and Seventh avenues. The building will include in its appointments a miniature theater where films will be shown to the National Board of Censorship before being released to the public. The new site for this studio was until recently occupied by Durland's Riding Academy.

Grace Cunard, star of "Lucille Love," "The Broken Coil" and many smaller films has been granted permission to leave the Los Angeles Hospital where she recently underwent an operation. She will return to her work at the studios within a fortnight.

The De Havens who several years ago attracted so much attention in vaudeville, will leave shortly for Los Angeles to start work upon a two years' contract with the Universal Film Company. This contract was made but a few days ago after long negotiations.

ORPHEUM

Thursday, matinee and night, October 7 "Creator and His Band"

Friday, matinee and night, October 8 "The Monte Carlo Girls"

Saturday matinee and night, October 9 "Ois Skinner in 'Cock o' the Walk'"

Monday evening, only, October 11 "Frances Starr in 'Marie-Odile'"

CREATOR AND HIS BAND

Sig. Giuseppe Creator and His Band which appears Saturday, matinee and Thursday afternoon and evening, is one of the most remarkable organizations before the musical world to-day.

"Boston Transcript" says: "No conductor who has yet appeared in Symphony Hall has ever secured such sounds of thunder such amazing variations of rhythm, as has Creator. He has set Boston music mad, as it is stated he did in New York.—Advertisement."

OTIS SKINNER

High comedy of a refreshingly novel type may be anticipated in the announcement that Otis Skinner comes to the Orpheum Saturday, matinee and night, with a satirical play written especially for him by Henry Arthur Jones. "Cock o' the Walk" is the peculiar title of the play which Mr. Jones has evolved for Mr. Skinner's use. It may startle and surprise Mr. Skinner, many admirers here to learn that he is to portray a broadly humorous type of humanity in "Cock o' the Walk." But Mr. Skinner who is indubitably an actor of genius, possesses amazing versatility, and will be interesting and stimulating to see him in a role different from his previous stage creations.—Advertisement.

FRANCES STARR IN "MARIE-ODILE"

One of the important events of the local theatrical season will be the latest appearance of Frances Starr at the Orpheum next Monday evening, in the latest Belasco play, "Marie-Odile." In this latest play of Edward Knoblauch's, Miss Starr's role, that of a naive in a convent, is said to exert a deep appeal among theatergoers because of its girlish charm and poetic nature. Her long training and experience at the hands of Mr. Belasco, who has shown her in a widely varying and richly dramatic number of roles, eminently fit Miss Starr for just that delicate and thoroughly appealing type of a role which she is portraying this season.—Advertisement.

MELBA IN AUSTRALIA

Madame Melba spent the whole of last winter in Australia leaving it only in August of this year to come to America, where she is making a short concert tour. She had a very busy winter in Australia. She organized a dozen concerts for the benefit of the Red Cross and Esplanade, and in one of the conservatories of Melbourne. Her method is to give a little lecture on voice production, illustrate it by singing herself, and then proceed on the serious work of lessons. Naturally there was treacherous competition to get into her classes. Mme. Melba is announced for the Orpheum, Monday, October 25.—Advertisement.

EDITH STOREY IN "THE DUST OF EGYPT" AT COLONIAL TODAY

There will be much to interest the follower of screen plays at the Colonial this week. Edith Storey, the famous and very popular actress, appears in "The Dust of Egypt," to-day and to-morrow. Her vehicle is both original and strangely fascinating, and the clever actress is seen in a role far different from anything she has yet played. Wednesday and Thursday the splendid Fox feature called "The Wonderful Adventure," featuring William Farnum, and the third episode of "Neat of the Navy," will be the attractions. Either one of these pictures is a big feature in itself. On Friday and Saturday a picturization of the recent very successful drama, "The Blindness of Virtue," in six parts, with Edna May and Bryant Washburn, will be presented by the Essanay company.

In order to have the atmosphere and details perfect for the production of "The Dust of Egypt," Miss Storey and her company actually played their picture in this mysterious part of the world. Miss Storey essays the role of an Egyptian Princess and the narrative is both weird and fascinating.—Advertisement.

MAJESTIC VAUDEVILLE

Fair and frivolous are "The Frivolity Girls," at the Majestic. To start the new week at the Majestic. The girls are clever and of the type that look stunning in ultra-fashionable gowns and they offer some pretty song and dance numbers. Toney and Norman are eccentric comedy couple, will present their newest hodge-podge of song and nonsense; while Walsh, Lynch and company, the well-known character players, will appear in their latest comedy called "Along the Erie."
