RIVER BRIDGE IS GIVEN TO PUBLIC

Mount Union Company Secures Railroad Structure Across Juniata

Special to The Telegraph

Mt. Union, Pa., Oct. 5.—A master stroke to the great improvements around Mount Union started by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company was struck to-day when the company gave the Mount Union Refractories Company the deed for its railroad bridge which crosses the Juniata River east of town. It is the only means for a short way to Newton Hamilton and the rich farming land east of town. The distance to these grounds by road before was about seven miles, but now it will be one-half mile,

The Refractories Company owns much of the land across the river and will plank the bridge and turn it over to the public.

The company has already begun the laying out and erection of dwellings for a model town to be used by its employes.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Company will have no further use for the bridge, as it has completed a double siding between Mount Union and Mapleton, three miles, and all shifting will be done on these lines.

The railroad company has already passed the $100,000 mark on improvements and to-day announced that the Mount Union tower was completed and is one of the finest along the main line.

Victims of Railroad Crossing Accident Buried

Special to The Telegraph

Special to The Telegraph

Marietta, Pa., Oct. 5.—To-day the bodies of the victims of the railroad accident at Leola last week were buried and it was a day that will never be forgotten by those who live in the neighborhood and who attended the obsequies. It is estimated that fully three thousand people were in town from all sections of Lancaster county. The Zell, Groff and Boozenomes were the saddened ones. At the inquest the jury exonerated the crew of the train, but condemned the crossing as a death trap. The victims were: Edwin Zell, his son, Edwin Zell, Tr., Paul Groff, Jason Groff and Martha Boose. The injured are slowly recovering.

Coroner's Jury Finds That Chas. Morris Was Murdered

Special to The Telegraph.

Carlisle, Pa., Oct. 5.—That Charles
Morris, found dead along the tracks of the Reading railroad near here over a week ago, was killed and his body of the crime, was the finding of a coroner's jury yesterday.

Many trainmen were called, the majority being Reading employes living in and near Harrisburg. Henry Taylor, who with James Weish, now held here, and "Baltimore Benny" Murphy, a fair follower, was last seen with Morris, was arrested Sunday in Get-Gysburg and brought here yesterday. He denies knowing anything of the crime and says that "Benny" is headed toward Ohlo. Suspicion points to Murphy in the case, although there was no formal finding in this particular. The case is in the hands of District Attorney Alexander.
