Prices on Hupmobiles Will Not Be Increased

"Hupmobile prices will not be increased above our original announcement for the 1916 selling season," according to a statement just made by President J. Walter Drake, of the Hup Motor Car Co. "Although the cost of the raw material has greatly increased and the demand for motor cars is greater than the supply, the Hup Company will keep faith with the public and keep to our advertised prices. "We might readily take advantage of the situation and increase our prices inasmuch as we are over 2,000 cars behind orders right now, a situation which has been created without any pressure by our sales department. So great is the demand for our Model N that an increase of $150,000 or $200,000 would make no material difference in our sales. "But above everything else we will maintain Hupmobile reputation. The Hup Motor Car Co. was founded and has grown by the aid of that Hupmobile reputation and we pride in it more than money which might be made by the advantage of a peculiar trade opposition. "We have been advised by many to increase our prices but, rumors to the contrary, I wish to state that no change is to be made. Our 1916 selling season prices were marked and publicly announced and it would be unfair to the public to increase them even in fact. "We sincerely believe that we have the best four-cylinder car ever produced for the money and that the average buyer knows it is to be better than many of the sixes selling at higher prices to-day. "Eight and especially twelve are still in the experimental stage and many factors will determine the material and the price. "The present situation has proven beyond a doubt that the average owner the four is the most logical car, even if other types may please the more luxurious.

A. G. Spalding's Will Is Contested by Son

San Diego, Calif., Oct. 5.—Contest of the will of the late A. G. Spalding, baseball pioneer and millionaire sporting goods merchant, was to be entered to-day immediately after the filing of the will for probate, by Spalding's son, Keith, who charges that the will was procured through the "undue influence" of his wife, Elizabeth Churchill Spalding and Mrs. Katherine Tingley, head of the Universal Brotherhood and Theosophical Society, at Point Loma, California. Spalding died at his residence in Point Loma, September 9, last. Mrs. Elizabeth Churchill Spalding, the widow, who filed the will for probate and who was named as executrix, estimated the estate to be worth $600,000. Keith Spalding was under the terms of the will to receive $100,000, of which he had already received $65,000. The adopted son, Albert Spalding, was also bequeathed $100,000, of which he had received $1,000. The remainder of the estate was left to Mrs. Spalding.

DEFENDANTS IN CROSS SUITS UNDER BAIL

John and Lloyd Farling, local representatives of the York firm of Troup Brothers, piano dealers, were held under $200 bail each after a hearing before Alderman Fritz Kramme last night, charged with assault and battery by M. Salomon, a furrier at 708 North Third street. Last Friday Salomon and the Farling brothers had an argument about the terms of a lease. Mr. and Mrs. Salomon made their information against the Farlings at Alderman Kramme's and the Farling brothers took the counter suit to Alderman C. Emmet Murray. The first hearing of the fray last Friday was held Saturday evening at Alderman Murray's office, who held the Salomons under $200 bail for court.

SOUTH AMERICA FULL OF OPPORTUNITY

[Continued From First Page.] of the life of the Chamber of Commerce introduced Mr. Harding, who touched upon the various phases of the federal reserve act and the evils which it is said to have eradicated and the lasting benefits which are said to be accruing and will accrue in the future. Minister Pezet's remarks were devoted mainly to a discussion of the great trade possibilities in Peru and to a plea for the investment of American capital in that country and the other countries along the western coast of South America. The eastern coast is well taken care of by the French, British, England and Germany, but the west coast is waiting for some country like the United States to come along and realize the benefits which are certain to come from a development of that rich country. His excellency then turned to an exploitation of the olives and potatoes which no other country in the world can produce quite as finely as Peru. With the proper expansion and cultivation, he said, they would become a world-famous product.

Critiques Military System Captain Stockton took a fall out of the various attempts to train officers which have recently stirred up so much interest at Plattsburg and other places. He disagreed most emphatically with General Wood and other veteran officers that these training camps were in the least effective. He urged the business and professional men and men in every walk of life to stand behind the general staff of the army and navy, because in that way only, he said, can we expect to carry out a consistent policy and build up for ourselves a stable and enduring defense. His speech was mostly a criticism of the way in which things have been run and a plea for the support of the National Guard as the proper sphere for any action which aims to improve our national defense.

The Chamber of Commerce has been holding a series of public hearings on the proposed new tariff bill. A perusal of a pamphlet distributed containing the summary of the activities of the Chamber during the past year brought a surprised look to many faces. The Chamber, moreover, successfully financed and supervised the 24th annual celebration of September 23, 24 and 25 without special contributions. It held numerous luncheons and obtained prominent speakers who proved to be vastly instructive and interesting, and these luncheons brought the men of the city together in a wholesome and pleasant manner. Trade excursion work has been done in a consistent, intelligent and result-producing way in stimulating foreign trade than any organization of its size in the country, and which have characterized the Harrisburg Chamber of Commerce in its first two years of service. President Gilchrist's report gave full credit to the individual members of the Chamber, without whose hearty support and earnest co-operation it would have been impossible for the officers and Secretary E. L. McColgin to carry on the work as outlined.

At the close of the evening it was announced that the following five men were elected to serve as directors for the next year: Arthur D. Bacon, Robert McCormick, E. W. Wallower, Andrew S. Patterson and A. Carson Stamm.

Financial Statement The financial statement covering the fiscal period from October 1, 1914, to September 30, 1915, showed a healthy condition of the finances. The total income for the year from various sources amounted to $12,253.44, while the total expenses were $13,066.41. The bank balance showed a surplus of nearly $400 on October 1, 1914, making the total cash now available $2,621.04. The discrepancy between income and expenditures was accounted for by the unusually heavy expenditures of the year.

SCALP OPPONENTS! IF WOMEN LOSE

[Continued From First Page.] affiliations, the same as the men voters, and will work in the way she sees best to bring about the betterment of conditions that affect the daily lives of herself and her family. To assist the individual women and also the individual men who are keenly alive to their responsibility as citizens, we shall probably convert our State headquarters into a great educational clearing house from which every thinking citizen in the State will be able to secure timely and accurate information on all the big vital problems of the day. In this way we believe that we can be of real service to the entire electorate of the State. "We are not willing to concede that," she said, "because we have too much respect for the intelligence and fair-mindedness of the men of Pennsylvania. Moreover, we have good reason to believe that unless crooked methods are used and every bit of machine pressure in the State is brought to bear against us, we shall win by a comfortable majority. If we should be defeated, however, we shall still continue our State organization and its various local branches. And then, because it will be the logical thing to do, we shall start the work of removing the obstacles from our path. "Just what do you mean by that?" "The situation is this," explained the State chairman. "If we are defeated, our amendment cannot come to a vote for five years. It would be folly to push active suffrage propaganda work immediately. We have an organization, however, that is big enough and strong enough and responsive enough to eliminate any obstacles in our path, whether they are individual or organized interests. Therefore, our first task for the next two years would be a semiprofessional campaign which we would put into operation through entering actively into the defeat of any individual candidate for office or any organized interests that have opposed us. In that way, our situation would be made infinitely better when we start our straight suffrage campaign two years hence. Our women are eager for work, they now know how to campaign in the political districts, and they know how to use the power which they have, but up to this date it has been concentrated solely upon the issue of suffrage. They are in this fight to win and a defeat this year would only serve to weld them closer together and make the organization even more powerful than it is to-day. Does that mean that you will fight the politicians?" "Any politicians that have been fighting us and using their power against us—yes. Our position is that no man who is unwilling to see all the people directly represented in government is unqualified to hold public office.
