MRS. SAMUEL SIPE IS 103 YEARS OLD

Cumberland County's Oldest Resident Celebrates Birthday at Carlisle

Special to The Telegraph
Carlisle, Pa., Oct. 6.—In excellent health for one of her advanced years, Mrs. Samuel Sipe, Cumberland county's oldest citizen, a personal friend of Molly Pitcher, the heroine of Monmouth, and whose mind is vivid with the memories of the time when Philadelphia was but a small city, and Carlisle the home of a few early settlers, yesterday celebrated her 103d birthday.

Mrs. Sipe was born in Switzerland on October 5, 1812, and came with her parents when only 6 years old to this country. The trip across the Atlantic was made in a sailing vessel and consumed 16 weeks. She lived in Philadelphia for a few years and came to Carlisle about 35 years ago. She remembers the days when this town was a stopping point for stage coaches on the route to Pittsburgh and was also present when the first train was run over the Cumberland Valley railroad on July 4, 1837. She knew Molly Pitcher, when the heroine lived here, and frequently relates intimate tales of the woman whom the State will honor by erecting a statue to her memory in the Old English Graveyard here next June.

REOPENING OF THE SCHOOLS

tional work. The arithmetic is shop arithmetic. The English work deals principally with commercial composition. Geography includes the sources of supply for the various materials used in the workshops. The academic studies during the morning sessions in these schools, while the afternoons are devoted to vocational work.

Vocational Work a Feature
Vocational work has also been featured in the summer schools. It has proved of value to children who have to go to work early, enabling them to complete the 130 days of school attendance required by law, and also preparing them for their vocations. Many girls who this Fall have exchanged the school desk for the sewing machine or millinery shop are receiving double the salaries ordinarily given to beginners because of the training they have had in the summer school. Boys are having the same experience in a number of trades. This work is to be enlarged in most cities during the present year. At least nine different trades are to be included in the New York schools.

Many boys and girls are delighted upon entering the new school room to which they have been promoted, to find that "teacher" has not provided for the school desk for the class is an experiment being tried out in a number of American schools this year. Opinions seem about evenly divided as to its value, but educators are desirous of trying it out, because it is in general use abroad. In a large number of schools this year a bulletin board in the hall will inform the children of the number of school credits they can secure by properly performed work in their own homes. Progressive rural communities are utilizing this plan, because their school appropriations do not provide for manual work in the schools, and because the parents need the help of their children in performing certain duties. A girl will make beds and wash dishes more willingly and neatly if she knows that she is going to be marked for it as accurately as for her best English composition. A boy will attend to the fires and clean up the yard with less complaint if he knows it is to count with arithmetic in making his school averages. The added attention and diligence secured in the proper performance of these home chores add to the general efficiency of the child and have been found to increase his scholastic attainment.

If Coffee Came in Capsules

as its drug, caffeine, is frequently sold, coffee drinkers would wake up to the fact that coffee is not a food but a drug.

Yet in spite of the warnings of reputable physicians, many persons fail to realize the harmful effects of caffeine, coffee's subtle, habit-forming drug. Taken regularly this coffee drug—the frequent cause of nervousness, heart-flutter, headache and other ailments—sooner or later gets its hold.

Look coffee in the face—read what physicians and health experts say: (Names on application)

"Coffee is a dope and narcotic almost equal to opium. Slowly but surely it gets control of its victim and holds him in its grasp a pitiful, helpless victim."

"Coffee is a drug. Those addicted to its use are drug addicts."

"Some people get the craving for alcohol by first taking tea or coffee."

"They (the tea and coffee drugs) are comparable to opium in that they induce a habit and should be avoided."

Right now, Mr. Coffee Drinker, is the time to find out whether or not coffee has a hold on you. It's simple and easy—quit coffee ten days and use
