

AMUSEMENTS
REGENT OPENS
LARGER ORGAN

With Services of Blind Organist and an Excellent Film; Doubly Attractive Bill

There was a doubly attractive bill at the Regent last night. For the entertainment did not confine itself alone to the showing of an excellent film, but introduced to this city what is promised to be a permanent feature of the theater—the services of Professor Wallace, blind pipe organist. Mr. Magaro has installed into the theater a four-manual pipe organ, and as a feature coincident with its opening had Professor Wallace play it for the first time. As stated before, Professor Wallace is blind, so the fact of his playing a pipe organ is of itself a marvel. But when one stops to consider that his playing is being done for motion picture accompaniment. And in this respect his work last evening marvelous. His playing took more of the form of concert work, but his numbers were so well timed that one who might not observe too closely would easily believe that he was watching the film and hearing the music to the film as it was being shown.

The organ that has been installed is one that for tone and quality is most aptly fitted to the theater. Volume there is plenty, but not too much for the room. And quality in tonal production is its beauty, especially when handled in a manner as capable as last night.

The film which was shown was one of the Paramount Picture Corporation program, "The Wild Goose Chase," featuring the Claire, who, three years ago, made her big hit with Clifton Crawford at the Park Theater, New York, in "The Quaker Girl." "The Wild Goose Chase" is a delightful comedy which tells the story of how two grandfathers in France wish their American grandchildren to marry. Each of the children, however, decide that they will not marry blindly, and each, accordingly, runs away. But in the events which follow they find each other, and, not knowing who the other is, they fall in love. Affairs soon right themselves and the young couple, victims of machinations of their grandfathers, find complete happiness in their love. The film is one with enough comedy to make an audience laugh frequently; and enough dramatic interest to keep the audience at drama pitch all the time.

MAX ROBERTSON.

THE STAGE
Emmanuel Reicher has taken over the Garden Theater for the production of a long series of literary plays. First will be given Bjornson's "When the New Wine Blooms" on November 16. This will be followed by other plays at later dates.

Irene Franklin, she of vaudeville fame, has served notice on the Shuberts that she will no longer remain in the cast of "Hands Up."

MOTION PICTURES
The Vitaphone Company have changed the release date of "The Ruling Power" at the request of the Woman's League of America. This film scheduled to be released later will be given to the public on October 16. The reason is to assist the cause of Suffrage in the coming elections.

Robert Whitworth is the latest recruit from the legitimate ranks for the "movies." He will be remembered for his appearance with Narivoma in "Bella Donna." His first screen appearance will be "Wasted Lives," a three-part society Vitaphone.

Marshall Farnum, who starred "Kreutzer Sonata" is now with "The Equitable Producing" "Creeping Tides" in which Alexander Carlisle will make her initial screen appearance.

Two "Carmens," one with Geraldine Farrar, to be released on the Paramount program; the other with Theda Bara, to be released by William Fox, bid fair for a great deal of rivalry since both of them are scheduled for the same release date in New York.

MUSIC
For the first time in the history of the Metropolitan Opera House the prospectus claims that a Spanish opera will be sung in the Spanish tongue. Many additional novelties and revivals are announced for the coming season which will begin November 15. There will be twenty weeks to the season after which there will be four weeks of M. Serge Diaghilev's Ballet Russe.

WILLIAM FARNUM AT THE COLONIAL

William Farnum, most eminent actor of the screen, in a powerful Fox feature yesterday proved one of the biggest drawing cards that the Colonial has had. It remains to-day also a repetition of this liberal patronage is anticipated by the management.

MAJESTIC'S NEW BILL
The new bill that comes to the Majestic looks as though it will measure up in both popularity and merit to the one that just left. The leading feature will be a spirited and attractive musical offering known as Blair's Sterling Highlanders. The attraction is entitled "Echoes of Bonnie Scotland" and calls in a pleasing arrangement of singing, dancing, and a bagpipe band with a lady drum major evens and Erwood are a team of popular singing comedians, Flood and Ernie, those versatile entertainers, are sure to please; as is also Valentine Vox, the favorite ventriloquist. Interesting moving pictures have been selected to open and close the vaudeville performance.—Advertisement.

ORPHEUM
To-day, matinee and night—Creator and his band.
To-morrow, matinee and night—"The Monte Carlo Girls."

CREATOR AND HIS BAND
The soprano who will sing with Creator and his band at the Orpheum this afternoon and evening was a society woman in Italy and the wife of a wealthy banker. Upon perfecting herself as an artist her husband objected to a professional life, but allowed her to sing when the occasion was for charity. Signor Creator, attending the opera "Lucia," at which she sang the stellar role, recognized her brilliant work and engaged her to tour with his band for the past season.—Advertisement.

OTIS SKINNER
"Cook of the Walk," the new comedy in which Otis Skinner returns to the Orpheum, Saturday, matinee and night, was written especially for him by Henry Arthur Jones. Mr. Skinner will portray a character for which he is ideally fitted. Anthony Bellchamber is an unfortunate actor of genius, a man of artistic temperament, but with a fatal fondness for the bottle. How Bellchamber succeeds in obtaining a London engagement, how he saves an impressionable and romantic girl from an infatuation for a matinee idol and how he saves the honor of a knighted actor-manager furnish the theme and motive for a comedy that promises to possess unusual interest.—Adv.

SALE OF SEATS FOR FRANCES STARR OPENS TO-MORROW

John L. Sullivan Recovers His Championship Belt

By Associated Press
Chicago, Oct. 7.—The famous champion diamond belt presented to John L. Sullivan by admiring friends in 1887, and later left by him in Chicago as security for a $4,000 loan, is again in the possession of the veteran heavy weight pugilist, it became known today.
Sullivan redeemed it from a jewelry firm, yesterday, paying $5,300. The celebrated trophy is made up of 350 diamonds, and fourteen pounds of gold.

BRITISH TROOPS AT SALONIKI

By Associated Press
Athens, Oct. 6, via Paris, Oct. 7.—British troops began to land yesterday at Saloniki. French troops are disembarking a mile and a half from the town and are being concentrated in a camp located on ground conceded to Serbia after 1912 upon which to build warehouses. From this point they are entrained as quickly as possible for Giviegl on the Serbian frontier.
