Money-Making Ministers Coming Under the Taboo

Case of Dr. Hillis Coincides With Action Against Evangelists' Profits; Effect Upon "Billy" Sunday
(By the Religious Rambler)

An old and widespread sentiment against ministers making fortunes seems to be crystallizing at the present time; and the Evangelistic Commission of the Federal Council of Churches has taken action looking toward what has become almost a scandal in the case of professional evangelists.

Dr. Hillis declared, in a dramatic statement to his congregation, that "there are home missionaries and foreign missionaries and social settlers and neighborhood visitors whose very shoe latches I am not worthy to stoop down and unlace."

Hard Sliding for Money-Makers
Church papers and leading laymen, as well as the rank and file of pastors, are speaking out with unprecedented plainness upon the peril of money-making, or "love of filthy lucre," as the apostle called it, which is growing in some religious circles. Larger fortunes are being made to-day than ever before by men solemnly set apart for the holy calling of preaching the gospel. I have more than once of late heard quoted the declaration of a former professor in Princeton Theological Seminary that there are only two ways in which a minister of the gospel may properly have wealth; he may inherit it, or he may marry it.

"Billy" Sunday has been a factor in bringing this subject to the fore. The discussion that has raged about his head has kept uppermost the subject of his financial remuneration, which is now supposed to be in the neighborhood of $200,000 a year. True, it is a free-will offering, and "Billy" works harder than Caruso or any business man. Nobody can question his legal rights to as large an income as the grateful people will provide.

Shepherds and Crooks
Not a few other lesser evangelists receive $1000 or more a month, by the "thank offering" plan. All professional evangelists, of any standing, make more money than pastors.

The point of objection is that the evangelist is not on the same basis as Caruso, and that money-making by preachers is contrary to the spirit of the Gospel. The common conviction of Christians that it is wrong for heralds of the Cross to grow rich by their ministry is abundantly supported by the past generation, were not money-makers, and Gipsy Smith has long worked for a stated salary under a

Salaries For Evangelists
There is real importance in the statement that, on the eve of an organized, nation-wide evangelistic movement by all the denominations, the Federal Council's Commission on Evangelists should openly attack the present method of paying evangelists. They flatly oppose the "thank offering" system, whereby the visiting evangelist, through a process which has been called "a psychological hold-up," receives huge sums for his brief campaign. The commission recommends a flat salary basis for evangelists, that the approbrium may be removed from this calling, and that the work itself may be kept as the one objective.

Just what salary should be paid "Billy" Sunday, if he could ever be brought to consent to "join the union," is a matter of speculation. Surprisingly plain words have been spoken on this subject by warm supporters of Sunday, who fear a reaction against him and his work on this account.

Nolan R. Best, the editor of "The Continent" in the course of a full-page editorial said:

"And now the only question worth the anxiety of the church is the question whether the 'deciffulness of riches' which Jesus Christ dreaded so much may have corroded in some degree the mirror in which an evangelist's soul ought to reflect the image of the Lord. The zeal with which Mr. Sunday still maintains his financial plans against all modification now that he has discovered in them an 'El Dorado,' and the subtle ways in which from the platform he encourages extravagant gifts, suggests painfully that he is not to-day as indifferent to the glitter of gold as when he started on his work."

Hymn Books and Stocks
Another aspect of evangelism that troubles fastidious folk is the sale of hymn books by chorists who either are personally identified with a publishing house or get commissions from the publisher. One of these associates of a famous evangelist makes over $50,000 a year. The authors of the popular hymns get only a trifle for their work, the amounts ranging from one to ten dollars a song, more often the former than the latter.

The strife of the hymn book seller is responsible for the deterioration of taste in church music, which President Wilson and other churchmen have publicly lamented.

Now that twenty-six denominations, in affiliation with the Federal Council's Commission, have evangelistic committees of their own, it is believed that some of these evils may be corrected.

Chermsen as Stock Peddlers
As yet no way has been found for dealing with the minister who sells wildcat mining stock and uncertain real estate. The number of confiding persons — a chastely proportion of whom are widows — who have lost their all through their trustfulness in the preachers as investment guides is beyond certain knowledge.

A prominent layman was recently approached by a minister who has quit preaching and gone into the marketing of nut lands in the South. When the layman pointed out that, at the highest possible market rating, the offering was worth less than half what the minister asked for it, the latter unhesitatingly countered by the statement that it must be a good thing, or a certain widow with eight children would not have put her all into it. Clearly, that man's customers had been led to purchase by his ministerial standing and by his personal probity, rather than by his business acumen.

The only proposition that offers any deliverance from these men who have delimitted the ministry to go into secular business is to deprive them of

Childhood Romance Leads to Wedding of Couple at Philadelphia on Monday
Sunbury, Pa., Oct. 8. — When Gilbert E. Gable, an official for the Bell Telephone company, of Philadelphia, is wedded to Hazel Detweiler, of 4029 Baring street, Philadelphia, next Monday in the Holy Trinity church at that place, the first chapter of a romance begun in childhood will have been completed. The ceremony will be performed by the Rev. Floyd W. Tompkins, after which a company of some 150 persons will be present at a wedding breakfast in the Gold and Blue room of the Bellevue Stratford.

Mr. Gable was born in Sunbury, where he passed his childhood. When he was 19 years old a little girl came one summer and boarded with her parents at a house nearby. The two became acquainted, but when Autumn came the Detweilers took Hazel back to the city.

Ten years later, when Mr. Gable had grown up and was working in Philadelphia, he received a post card from Paxinos, reminding him of the summer spent in Northumberland county, and inviting him to visit the Detweiler home.

Since then the romance has gone from step to step until next Monday the two childhood friends will be wedded. The ceremony will be performed by L. H. Kinnard, president of the Bell Telephone company, and other prominent business men of Philadelphia. In addition the Pathe-scope company will take moving pictures of the ceremony and reception, which will be fled away in the private "movie" collection which Mr. Gable is collecting.

Take Iron, Says Doctor, If You Want Plenty of "Stay There" Strength Like an Athlete!

Ordinary Nuxated Iron Will Make Dullness, Nervous, Run-down People 400 Per Cent. Stronger in Two Weeks' Time, in Many Cases

New York, Oct. 8. — Most people foolishly seem to think they are going to get renewed health and strength from some stimulating medicine, secret nostrum or narcotic drug, said Dr. Sauer, a specialist in this city, when, as a matter of fact, real and true strength can only come from the food you eat. But people often fail to get the strength out of their food because they haven't enough iron in their blood to enable it to change food into living matter. From their weakened, nervous condition they know something is wrong, but they can't tell what, so they generally commence doctoring for stomach, liver or kidney trouble or symptoms of some other ailment caused by the lack of iron in the blood. This thing may go on for years, while the patient suffers untold agony. If you are not strong or well you owe it to yourself to make the following test. See how long you can work or how far you can walk without becoming tired. Next take two five grain tablets of ordinary nuxated iron three times per day after meals for two weeks. Then test your strength again and see for yourself how much you have gained. I have seen dozens of nervous, run-down people who were ailing all the while, double, triple and even quadruple their strength and endurance and entirely get rid of all symptoms of dyspepsia, liver and other troubles in from ten to fourteen days' time simply by taking iron in the proper form. And this after they had

In some cases been doctoring for months without obtaining any benefit. But don't take the old-fashioned reduced iron, iron acetate or tincture of iron simply to save a few cents. You must take iron in a form that can be easily absorbed and assimilated like nuxated iron. In a form that can be any good, otherwise it may prove worse than useless. Many an athlete or prize fighter has won the day simply because iron before he went into the fray, while many another has gone down to inglorious defeat simply for the lack of iron.

NOTE — Nuxated Iron recommends above by Dr. Sauer, is one of the newer organic iron compounds. Unlike the older inorganic iron products it is easily assimilated, does not injure the teeth, make them black, nor upset the stomach; on the contrary, it is a most potent remedy, in nearly all forms of iron deficiency, as well as for nervous, run-down conditions. The Manufacturers have such great confidence in Nuxated Iron that they offer it for sale in four week's time provided they over in four weeks' time provided they have no serious organic trouble. They also offer to refund your money if it does not at least double your strength over in four weeks' time. It is dispensed in this city by Croll Keller, F. J. Holthouse, J. N. Clark and other leading druggists. —Advertisement.

WHAT IS URIC ACID?

Does Uric Acid Cause Backache, Rheumatism and Kidney Trouble?

Dear Dr. Pierce: — What is Uric Acid? Does it cause kidney trouble? Not long ago I was examined for insurance and an analysis of the kidney secretions showed an excess of Uric Acid.

I suffer from backache, and rheumatism in my limbs, but never before suspected my kidneys. I recognize you as an authority on these subjects, and wish you would give me this information.

LEWIS R.
Lewis R. My Dear Sir: Answering your letter, Uric Acid indicates poisoning of the system; it is also associated with several other poisons and forms of painful irritants in the cells of the joints, nerves and muscles. Everyone has Uric Acid in the system, but naturally in small quantities. Excessive amount is caused by eating too much meat and foods that ferment in the stomach. The kidneys being the filters of the blood are supposed to separate and throw the poisons out of the system. Weak, tired and overworked kidneys fail to do this, hence the poisonous Uric Acid and its associated poisons contaminate the blood, causing backache, lumbago, rheumatism, dropsy, and tired, worn-out feeling, short breath and many other symptoms.

To overcome the trouble is only a matter of toning up the kidneys, and this is best done by a treatment with "An-Uric" with proper diet and exercise. This prescription has been thoroughly tested and used by specialists at my institution, in Buffalo, N. Y., with satisfactory results, and astonishing relief, it being 37 times more active than lithia in dissolving uric acid.

If run-down, weak or emaciated, need building up and wish to put on enough "stay there" flesh to round off your figure, making it plump, robust and healthy looking, I would suggest also a tonic for strengthening the stomach, giving life to the lungs and purity to the blood, such as does Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, the herbal system tonic.

Take good medical advice, and do not let deadly Bright's Disease or Diabetes develop from neglected kidneys. (Signed) V. M. PIERCE, M. D.
