FRICK PROMINENT IN STEEL COMBINE

Statement of Attorney General Gregory Does Not Worry Leading Steel Men

Special to The Telegraph Philadelphia, Oct. 8. — Henry C. Frick's name was the one most talked about yesterday among men who know something of the plans for the combinations of steel companies. According to report, a combination will be headed by Childs Frick, son of Henry C. Frick. The son was in this city yesterday, and attended a meeting of the executive board of the Cambria Steel company. He went back to New York in the evening. "I have nothing to say," was his greeting, as he left the meeting. He added significantly: "Nothing definite has yet been completed."

The accepted view now taken in financial circles here and in New York is that Frick will take over Cambria complete; Schwab will join Pennsylvania Steel with Bethlehem Steel and that Henry C. Frick is the man that will sway both interests. It is also believed that eventually the Midvale company, which was recently taken over by William E. Corey and others, will play a part in the general scheme.

The statement of Attorney General Gregory that he would "scrutinize" any new steel-combination carefully did not seem to worry the steel men. They said that the Attorney General had yet to appeal from the decision of the district court holding the United States Steel Corporation legal.

It was stated here authoritatively that Henry C. Frick has complete control of the Cambria. His holdings are represented by William H. Donner, who besides being president of the concern, is a relative of Mr. Frick. In addition to the holdings of Frick and Mr. Donner in the Cambria Steel Company, Donner has an option of 112,000 shares of the Pennsylvania Railroad owned in the steel company. It is understood that Donner has been released 56,000 shares of that block of stock and that the Pennsylvania Railroad is putting the balance on the open market and that Donner is buying it up.

Schwab After Pennsylvania Steel It is admitted also that Charles M. Schwab stands ready to buy the Pennsylvania Steel Company. Mr. Donner had a small option on some of the Pennsylvania Railroad holdings in this company. According to report Donner is now willing to give up his option and leave the way clear for Mr. Schwab's taking the company over. The Pennsylvania Railroad and Reading Railroad companies own nearly all the stock in this company. The railroad owns 90 per cent of the preferred and all but 2,000 shares of the common stock. It is interesting to note in this connection that Henry C. Frick is a director of the Pennsylvania Railroad and the largest individual stockholder in that corporation.

Play Baseball Games on Electrical Board

Baseball enthusiasts who were fortunate enough to see the wonderful exhibition of the Electro Wonder board at the Board of Trade yesterday were unanimous in declaring it the best reproduction of any game ever given in this city.

The Electro Wonder board is something entirely new for this section of the State and has seldom been seen outside of the large cities. Lew Ritter, the well-known baseball player, fortunately knew the inventor and managed to get a board for the baseball fans of this city. The doors will open at 1 o'clock each day.

BETHLEHEM STEEL REACHES 450

Special to The Telegraph New York, Oct. 8. — The stock market yesterday gave evidence, that the public had not been frightened sufficiently by a sharp rise of margins and warnings sent out by the Stock Exchange to prevent a renewal of buying of war stocks on enormous scale. Bethlehem Steel surprised even its most ardent admirers by rising full fifty points, touching 450, a new high record, moving on to the southward on Saturday.
