This remarkable dyspepsia remedy has proved it will relieve the worst case of indigestion, headache, dizziness, or the general played-out condition that afflicts every one suffering with stomach trouble, Mi-o-na does not simply relieve, it aims to cure.

BE PRETTY! TURN GRAY HAIR DARK

Try Grandmother's Old Favorite Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and luster to the hair when faded, streaked or gray: also ends dandruff, itching scalp and stops falling hair. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which was mussy and troublesome. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe for about 50 cents.

Don't stay gray! Try it! No one can posssibly teil that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy.—Advertisement.

Plans For Paving Road in Paxtang Progressing

Faxtang, Pa., Oct. 13. — Borough council met in regular monthly session last evening and again discussed the proposition of improving Derry street from the Harrisburg city limits to a point beyond Paxtang avenue. Announcement was made that all of the property owners residing along the pike who have been approached have signed the petition for paving the thoroughfare. Indications are that work on the road will be started early next Spring. Council also filled out an application asking the State Highway Department to help pay for the improvement. The councilmanic highway committee will start work in a few days putting Derry street in fit condition for the winter. The holes and ruts in the road will be filled with crushed stone.

Nothing was done last evening regarding Paxtang avenue, but the petition for paving the thoroughfare is said to contain the names of many of the property holders. The matter, it is understood, will be taken up at the next regular meeting.

such a stirring, emotionally-vibrating environment as that into which Jerry, as she is affectionately called by heroine-worshiping admirers, stepped on that evening when she entered the big Symphony Hall to watch herself make her entree into the world of movies. The big place was crowded and the audience impatiently awaited the arrival of "Carmen," who was expected at any moment. Her entrance to the theater and unostentatious passage down the aisle to Row H was the signal for a tremendous burst of applause which showed clearly the esteem in which Miss Farrar is held. The great operatic singer was too affected by the demonstration to keep back the tears.

Mary Pickford, Charlie Chaplin, Anita Stewart and all the other well-known actors of the silent comedy and tragedy, bust fade back into at least temporary shadow while Miss Farrar holds the center of the movie stage. Her rendition of Carmen, ending with the scene outside the big stadium where she dies at the hands of the man whose honor she stole, while within Escamillo, the toreador, is fighting for her sake, has won for her thousands more when the feature is released next month and other cities besides Boston will be given the opportunity of seeing the opera in movie form. Her voice, of course, is missed, but her acting testifies to the fact that her talent and ability are not confined to one form of self-sepression.
