Aged Actress After Many Vicissitudes Favored by Fortune

Clara Morris, a generation or two ago, the best known and best beloved actress on the American stage, but in the last few years known as a woman of sorrow, because of her blindness and lack of funds, has at last found a rift in the clouds. She is to have the income from $50,000 for the rest of her life. This was left to her by S. W. Harriot, her late husband's uncle.

years ago, as the greatest success ever made by an American actress. In 1909 her friends took measures to help her in her declining days by giving a benefit performance at the New York Theater. She herself appeared in the sleep walking scene from Macbeth although she was sixty years old.

The Mace and the Part It Plays When House of Representatives Meets

The House is in actual session only when it stands upright in its marble pedestal at the right of the speaker. When the House goes into committee of the whole, and the Speaker leaves the chair to be succeeded by a chairman of committee, the mace is lowered. When, even for a moment the House sits again to receive a message from the President, interrupting the committee session only for a few seconds, the mace must be elevated.

has failed to bring order out of disorder and to remind unruly members that they are not brawlers but legislators. Fortunately, the mace is seldom used in this capacity.

during the time of Cromwell's rule under the Commonwealth and was finished with a globe, for which the royal crown was substituted on the restoration of the monarchy. The British mace is borne before the Speaker on his entrance into the chamber to take the chair, but during the sessions of the House it lies on the table in front of the Speaker, and is never raised to the upright position occupied by our American mace.
