

A Different Kind Of Jewelry Store

In a few weeks the remodeling of the Caplan Jewelry Store at 206 Market St. (formerly occupied by Mr. George N. Springer) will be completed. The entire store will be refurnished throughout.

Opening date will be announced later.

This new store will then prove to the people of Harrisburg and vicinity that it is a "different kind of jewelry store."

Only merchandise of the highest grades will be offered and at prices never before heard of.

Every purchase must prove entirely satisfactory or money will be cheerfully refunded.

Business is still going on during remodeling. See the greatest values ever offered in Harrisburg now in our windows.

SCHWAB CLOSES P. S. CO. DEAL

Merger of Bethlehem, Pennsylvania Steel and Thomas Iron Co. Imminent

Philadelphia, Oct. 15.—Negotiations for the sale of the Pennsylvania Steel Company to the Bethlehem Steel Corporation have been concluded. The terms passed upon by the directors of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company at their meeting on Wednesday met with the approval of Charles M. Schwab, president of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation. This information was obtained yesterday from one of the interests which is a party to the transaction.

This morning the directors of the Pennsylvania company held a meeting at Broad Street Station to give their approval to the deal. After the Pennsylvania Railroad board meeting on Wednesday Vice-President Tammall went to the New York residence of Schwab, and there, in the presence of the latter's attorney, the final agreement was reached. The delay in putting through the sale of the Pennsylvania Steel, which was framed up in detail on October 2 at a conference held in Broad Street Station between Schwab, E. T. Stotesbury, representing the Pennsylvania Railroad, which company, through ownership of the Pennsylvania company, holds a large majority interest in both the common and preferred stocks of the Pennsylvania Steel Company.

The next step was to satisfy the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron Company, which holds about one-third the amount of Pennsylvania Steel stocks as does the Pennsylvania company.

Further delay was caused by the insistence of the Pennsylvania Railroad that all the stockholders of the Pennsylvania Steel be given the opportunity to sell their shares to the Bethlehem on the same basis. When this was finally agreed upon the question came up as to the guarantee of the securities of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation to be made in exchange for the Pennsylvania Steel shares.

Original Terms
As originally outlined the terms were as follows: The Bethlehem was to pay par, or $100 a share, for every share of Pennsylvania Steel preferred, and $50 a share, or half of par, for every share of the common. Payment was to be made in a 5 per cent. bond, but the bonds given for the common stock were not to bear interest for five years.

Some minor changes in details may have taken place to satisfy the interests concerned, but the best information is that the Bethlehem Steel will take over all of the Pennsylvania Steel shares and deposit them in trust as security for the new issue of bonds put out to pay for these shares. In that case the new security would be a collateral trust bond or certificate. Actual transfer of the Pennsylvania Steel shares has not yet been made to the Bethlehem, but the transaction will be completed within a few days. When that is done, then the Cambria Steel deal will be taken up for adjustment.

May Secure Potash From Kelp in Pacific Ocean

San Francisco, Oct. 15.—The kelp crop of the Pacific ocean is to be harvested by a powder company to obtain an ingredient used in making ammunition for the warring nations of Europe. It was announced to-day.

The statement is made that one of the largest manufacturers of powder in the United States has decided to spend a large sum in this enterprise in order to obtain the chloride of potash it needs to fill its war orders and which it can no longer obtain from Germany. It has long been known that kelp, such as is to be found along the shores of the California coast, is rich in potassium.

George H. Markell, secretary and general manager of the Hercules Powder Company, who is now in San Francisco, has, it is said, designed a submarine reaper and contracts for an experimental reaper have already been let to be completed within a few days. The reaper will cut the kelp in six-inch lengths, which will be sucked by a pump into a big wire basket. The pieces of kelp are then to be taken ashore and placed in roasting vats, the needed chemical substances being afterward extracted. A trial off Monterey bay, it is announced, will be made under government supervision as soon as the submarine reaper is completed.

State College Students Extinguish Morning Fire

State College, Pa., Oct. 15.—Students at the Pennsylvania State college early to-day extinguished a fire that threatened to destroy the dairy and creamery building in the group of structures used by the School of Agriculture.

The flames started in a stockroom on the third floor. The origin is unknown. The fire was confined to the roof and top floor, fire walls and concrete floors preventing its further spread.

G. F. STACKPOLE DIES OF ANTHRAX

Death Came After Rally Which Caused Physicians to Believe Danger Was Passed

New York, Oct. 15.—George F. Stackpole, the lawyer of Riverhead, Long Island, who was stricken with anthrax several days ago, died in Bellevue Hospital early to-day of heart failure resulting from the poison of the disease. Mr. Stackpole's death came after a rally which caused his physicians to believe the most serious phase of the disease had been passed and that he would recover. He was conscious until within five minutes before he died and told his wife he realized that death was near. Until the last few minutes he tried to cheer up his relatives and pled to Charleston from Columbia Monday afternoon to take charge of the situation and to have the militia take over the business of policing the city had it been deemed necessary. The sheriff swore in 50 extra deputies and had them ready for immediate action. Charges that the Governor was interfering with the primary in favor of one faction were heard, and promptly denied. Those who made the charges pointed to the fact that there was no trouble Tuesday or Tuesday night as substantiation. The militia was ordered to report to the armories at 8 o'clock Monday night, and was not dispersed until 7 o'clock Wednesday morning.

The unofficial count showed that Hyde had won by 19 votes but more than 100 votes were contested. The committee met to-day to canvass the returns and settle the contests.

Columbia, S. S., Oct. 15.—As soon as Governor Manning received notice of the shooting he ordered the Washington light infantry of Charleston, under arms, and placed Colonel E. M. Byrthe of Greenville, in charge of the militia during the absence of Adjutant General Moore. The Governor also ordered the Charleston Board of Control to close the dispensaries.

Governor Manning this afternoon called four companies of the Columbia Battalion of militia, under command of Major Marchant, to assemble in the armories. Later he called the entire Second regiment of the National Guard under arms to await events in Charleston.

W. A. Turner was shot in the right lung and seriously injured; W. E. Winlake received a serious scalp wound; H. L. Wilinsky was shot in an arm, and Jeremiah O'Brien was shot in an ankle.

The committee was just about to order a canvass of the returns of last Tuesday's primary at which the trouble was threatened. A fight started in the room adjoining that in which the committee was to meet. The cause has not been determined.

The scuffling occasioned by the fight hardly had started when a fusillade of shots was heard from the committee room. This continued for several minutes as the committee and spectators made a frantic rush to get out.

Police were stationed in the committee room adjoining, but no arrests had been made two hours after the shooting, and as far as known at that hour no one seemed to know who fired the first shot or who kept it up.

The setting of the affair was dramatic. At the intersection of King and George streets, where is situated the building where the committee was to meet, a large crowd had gathered. The demeanor of those there had led the chief of police to place a large number of officers there. Up to the time of the shooting, however, this crowd had remained orderly.

Two Persons Injured on Reading Grade Crossing

Reading, Pa., Oct. 15.—Laura Eck, 25, of Etnaus, and Morris Wahl, 25, of Allentown, were brought to a hospital here early to-day with serious injuries following a collision with a fast Philadelphia Express on the Reading Railway at Stowe grade crossing and their auto.

SLIP OF THE PEN LED TO TIE VOTE

Royalton's Burgess Candidates Must Now Draw Lots Say Commissioners

Just a slip of the pen as it were has put new hope in the breast of Burgess Henry Granger, of Royalton, and his followers. They're now precariously poised to take a chance with luck. And at 10 o'clock next Wednesday this, too, will be decided.

At the September primaries, Granger who is running for re-election got thirty-two votes; David Hatz, ex-burgess and candidate for the job once more, got forty-two, according to the totals of the return sheets. But the election board in certifying the returns glanced only at the total, not at the count itself. Eleven votes in one precinct were to have been cast for Hatz but that little slip of a too-much inked pen nib, twisted the "eleven" into an exact "twenty-one." Too much ink at the top of the first "one" and a swinging stroke across to the second figure—and there you have twenty-one. When this was discovered it reduced Hatz's vote from forty-two to thirty-two and because Granger had the same number, the pair will have to decide the problem by drawing lots. To-day the County Commissioners fixed next Wednesday morning for the drawing.
