A Special Exhibition of Superb Oriental Rugs Have Arrived Within the Past Couple Days

Most gorgeous of patterns will be on exhibition all this week, and prices are decidedly low. Room sizes are included in the showing.

The importance of this special exhibition is in the fact that every rug has lately arrived in this country, and shown for the first time here.

It was a genuine Oriental treat to note each rich design as they were unbaled. It's our belief that no greater splendor has ever been attained in rugs coming from the Orient—known for superb beauty in color work.

Disturbed conditions make it difficult to set a standard of value on Oriental Rugs. However, the prices we've marked them are unusually low because of the close margin between cost and selling price.

Glad to show them.

Strong For Parks and Playgrounds is the Governor of Penna.

Enlarging upon the views expressed in his recent admirable address at Chestnut Street Hall during the municipal celebration, Governor Brumbaugh, in a letter to the American Civic Association at its Washington headquarters, urging a more general use of parks for the people, says: "I believe that one of the great social and economic problems of our American life is the conservation of our people in their hours of leisure. We have reduced the hours of work and we did well. We have made no provision for the increased hours of leisure thus provided. We have not made it easy for our people to find wholesome, happy, healthful recreation, and it is my judgment that in the very near future we must turn our attention to this matter in a serious, constructive way for the good of the citizenship of this great republic. I am a firm believer in the necessity and value of recreation centers and of playgrounds for our people, and these should be made as ample and as convenient to the residences of our people as possible. If we are to conserve the health,
