My Name Is Coffee I Fool the People

All the people can't be fooled all the time, but I've been pretty successful in fooling part of them, although more and more, I am sorry to say, they are getting wise to my pretensions.

How do I fool them? I'll tell you.

When scientists say I am not a food, I tell the people that coffee "is a food," and when drunk "with hot milk—a meal in itself, we may say."

Then when the court says, "coffee is not a food," I trim my sails to the breeze and tell the people "there is no reason for supposing that coffee possesses any value as a food."

Nevertheless, to keep them coming, I tell them it is a "half food," "an encouraging contribution to human efficiency." And the people—some of them—fall for it.

When noted authorities say the caffeine in coffee is a poisonous drug and hinders digestion, I bring forward some chaps who say it "is not a poison," "it is an aid, not a hindrance to digestion." This fools some.

But, there's been such a stir against me, especially by Postum that I am hard put for arguments, so one of the latest things I am telling is:

"Beware of taking coffee with a lot of cream in it." It is the cream, I try to make it appear, and not the drug, caffeine, that makes a combination that "will in time lead to chronic indigestion and stomach, heart, and liver troubles." And some believe me—I hope.

But I whisper on the side to people who like cream in their coffee, "Coffee is always improved when cream is added to it." You see, I get them coming and going.

There's one safe way with coffee. Quit it, and for a pleasant, delicious, wholesome, nourishing beverage, use

STORIES AND ART WITH SOME MUSIC

First Meeting of the Story Telling Club Next Tuesday Evening

MISS LOIS K. BOOKER

The Story Telling Club at the first Fall meeting decided to study the story this year in its relation to music and art. This three-fold plan will be used for the first time when an exceptionally beautiful program, "The Lives of Four Masters of Art" will be given next Tuesday evening, October 28, at 7:30 o'clock in the assembly hall of the public library. All those who are interested in the program are invited.

The life of Michael Angelo Buonarroti, the modern world's greatest sculptor, will be told by Miss Lillie Fitzimmons, who will intersperse her account with fine copies of the "Pieta," "The David," "Moses" and the "Bond Slave," which reveal the growth of the sculptor's great soul with the increase of his years.

Miss Fitzimmons will emphasize his work as painter and sculptor in the Sistine chapel, and will show copies of "The Creation of Man" and "The Last Judgment."

The lovely "Intermezzo" from "The Jewels of the Madonna" to be played on the violin by Miss Sarah Lemer, will create the atmosphere of worship and beauty which permeates the masterpieces of Raffaele Sanzio, whose luxurious life among the gifted and the powerful will be told by Miss Emily Lett. Miss Lillie Fitzimmons will supplement Miss Lett's story with copies of "The Sistine Madonna," "The Madonna Gran' Duca," "Madonna de Poligno" and "The Transfiguration," which she will briefly explain as she shows them to the audience.

"Gondoliers" and "Venetian Love Song," from Nevitt's Suite, "A Day in Venice," played by Miss Sarah Lemer, will form a delightful setting to Miss Dolores Segelbaum's story of Fra Filippo Lippi, who loved Italy's fair, open country and preferred to reproduce the faces in the crowd just as he saw them. Miss Lemer's next appropriate number will change the scene to that of Rembrandt whose romance will be told by Miss Carrie Reinohl. She will explain and show a copy of "The Night Watch" and other works of this master-painter of glowing pictures. A third selection, "Good Night" from Nevitt's Suite, by Miss Lemer, will close the program.

During the business meeting extracts from an encouraging letter written to the club by Richard Morse Hodges, of Columbia University, and secretary of the National Story Tellers' League, will be read by the secretary.

At the previous meeting the following officers were elected to serve for the year as the executive committee: Miss Lois Kamin Booker, president; Mrs. Harry G. Keffer, vice-president; Miss Mary Snyder, secretary, and Miss Ella Yost, treasurer. The executive committee and the following appointed members comprise the program committee: Mrs. Anna Hamilton Wood, Mrs. Edina Groff Dethl, Miss Carrie Reinohl, Miss Florence Carroll and Miss Dolores Segelbaum.
