Foundling Is Now Heir to the Gould Millions

JOHN DOE, 104

Little 4-year-old Findley Jay Shepard, Jr., the adopted son of Mr. and Mrs. Finley J. Shepard (the former Helen Gould) who until his adoption on Thursday was known as John Doe 104, alias Austin McClary. The little blue-eyed, fair-haired lad, who has been taken into the Shepard home at Irvington, N. Y., is a foundling. He was discovered by a policeman in September, 1914, sitting on the steps of St. Patrick's Cathedral in Fifth avenue, New York, and after all efforts to establish his identity had failed, was sent to the St. Christopher's home at Dobbs Ferry. In visiting the home Mrs. Shepard became much attached to the little fellow and finally decided to adopt him as her son.

APPEAL FILED IN STEEL TRUST CASE

Original Defendants Are Named in Petition to U. S. Supreme Court

Trenton, N. J., Oct. 28.—The government's petition for an appeal to the United States Supreme Court in the Sherman antitrust suit against the United States Steel Corporation was filed here to-day in the Federal court. The appeal is taken as a matter of right and insures a hearing of the case by the highest court. The appeal is from the recent decision of the district court dismissing the complaint against the corporation in which the steel corporation was charged with being a combination in restraint of trade and in violation of the Sherman act, and which sought its dissolution. Accompanying the formal petition for appeal are 23 distinct counts in which that court is said to have erred. It is upon these so-called errors of the district court that the government will rest its case in the Supreme court. As in the original suit the following are named as defendants: John D. Hill, William H. Hill, James N. Hill, Walter J. Hill, Edward T. Nichols, J. P. Morgan, Charles M. Schwab, Andrew Carnegie, Henry C. Frick, James G. Thompson, John Edgar Hoover, Moore, Edmund C. Converse, Percival Roberts, Jr., Daniel G. Reid, Norman B. Rockwell, Jr., P. A. B. Widener, William Palmer, John P. Morgan, Jr., William P. Hamilton, L. Satterlee and Lewis Cass Ladyard.

Maxwell Dealer Adopts Partial Payment Plan

H. J. Vogler, district manager for the Maxwell Motor Company, is associating with E. W. Shank, the local distributor in introducing the new selling plan which permits the purchase of a Maxwell motor car on the partial payment plan the same as real estate, pianos, talking machines and other standard products. Mr. Vogler said the Maxwell Company had inaugurated this movement as it was proving an exceptional success and was simply a forecast of the tremendous possibilities offered by this method of selling motor cars. The farmer or merchant who has his money tied up in business investments can by this method make a partial payment and redeem the notes at thirty-day periods thereafter. Farm machinery and other essentials that required a large outlay of money have been marketed in this manner for years, and Mr. Vogler predicts that the motor car industry must eventually adapt itself to similar methods for the convenience of the public.

Proposed Law Will Make Imported Goods Higher

Washington, D. C., Oct. 28.—Congress will be asked to pass a law making it unlawful for foreign manufacturers to sell their products in the United States at less than the cost of production here. This will be done to protect American merchants from an inflow of cheap foreign products at the end of the European war. Legislation also probably will be sought legalizing combinations in this country for the operation of cooperative selling agencies abroad. This would be designed to enable American merchants to take advantage of trade opportunities resulting from the war.

Trinkle Suggests Engineer For Service Commission

At a well attended luncheon at the home of the Engineers' Society, Front and Chestnut streets to-day, Wm. N. Trinkle, but recently general counsel for the Public Service Commission, addressed the society on the relation between the commission and the engineering profession. After discussing the matter of rates for the various public service corporations, and declaring that the Public Service Commission appreciates the co-operation which the engineering profession gives to the affairs over which the commission has jurisdiction, and after emphasizing the coming importance and value of the engineering in such matters, he closed his remarks by stating that he would be very much gratified personally if the Governor should appoint an engineer to the present vacancy in the Public Service Commission. William D. E. Alney, chairman of the Public Service Commission, had agreed to address the society, but was called away on the matter of the elimination of grade crossings, and Mr. Trinkle took his place. President Garnett, of the Engineers' Society, introduced the speaker.

SAYS WOMEN ARE CRAZY ABOUT IT

Using gasoline to dry clean everything and save $5 in an hour. Dry cleaning at home is all the rage here, says a well-known downtown druggist. Any woman can do five dollars' worth of dry cleaning at home at very little cost by dissolving two ounces of solvite in two gallons of gasoline; then immerse the articles to be cleaned; rub a little and in a few moments the gasoline evaporates and the articles cleaned look as bright and fresh as new.

Dry clean your own silk waists, dresses, ribbons, belts, kid gloves, satin shoes, evening slippers, fine laces, net work, woollens, dresses, children's coats, furs, veils, neckties, shawls, gentlemen's garments, fancy vests, lace curtains, rugs, in fact everything that would be ruined by washing with soap and water. Nothing will fade, shrink or wrinkle, making pressing unnecessary. Dry cleaning at home is inexpensive and effects a tremendous saving in the household and is really just as easy as laundering. An druggist will sell two ounces of solvite which is simply a gasoline soap and your grocer or a garage will supply the gasoline. Then a wash boiler or dishpan completes the outfit.—Advertisement.
