Economy and Efficiency Commission to Give Consideration to Locations

Relocation of departments of the State government, some of which were placed by their chiefs in consultation with the commission in charge of the erection of the Capitol a dozen years ago will be among the matters to be considered by the new Economy and Efficiency Commission to begin its work. It is possible that the erection of the new building will be recommended in the interest of better facilities.

For several years the State has been renting rooms outside of the Capitol to take care of the departments for which there is no room in the State House and has been utilizing buildings bought for extension of the park. The whole subject of housing of the offices will be studied and the question of whether there are more room than they need are likely to be changed to smaller quarters and crowded branches of the government to take their places.

In addition to the question of whether to recommend enlargement of the Capitol or to suggest an office building will be considered by the commission.

To Reopen Big Case.—The decision of the Public Service Commission to reopen the argument in the Industrial Railroad or "short line" cases will bring the whole question of the industrial roads up again. The question has been before the commission for over a year and the result of the new argument will mean thousands of dollars to the iron and steel plants of the State.

Preparing For Work.—The State's demonstrations of methods to control pests in orchards will be resumed about the middle of next month. Dr. H. A. Surface, the State Zoologist, is working out new list of demonstration orchards different from those which have been in use so that the benefits of the State's expert instruction may be more widely distributed.

Opinions.—On the opinions given to the Department of Labor and Industry to-day Deputy Attorney General Keller holds that it is contrary to the spirit of the employment law to give female employees who have worked in the establishment for the full time permitted in the act work to be taken home and stored for use in the home.

Joos Sues at Last.—Suit was brought in the Dauphin County Court to-day for recovery of $4,152 which John E. Joos, of Pittsburgh, claims is due him from the State for publishing a mercantile directory in five years; a county in 1885. Claim is also made for interest. Joos has endeavored to secure permission from the Legislature for years to sue for his claim, but never succeeded until the session of 1915.

101 Cases Now.—Just 101 cases of typhoid fever have been reported from Pennsylvania and there are a few expected cases. The other centers of the disease are reported as showing improvement.

Big Increase Filed.—The Auto Car Company of Ardmore, Pa., has filed an increase of its capital from $1,000,000 to $2,000,000.

Examination Dates.—The State medical examinations have been fixed by the State Board of Health for 20 at Philadelphia, while the State Dental Board has announced its examinations for Philadelphia and Pittsburgh December 15 to 18.

Officers.—The Berks and Dauphin Turnpike Company, which controls the greater part of the turnpike from Wernersville to Hummelstown, has agreed to sell its road to the State for $120,750. This is on a basis of $3,500 a mile and $60 for the stock. It has not sold near $50, let alone $60.

Cresswell Ill.—Colonel Charles Cresswell, commander of Third Infantry, is ill in a Philadelphia hospital.

Contract Let.—The Board of Public Grounds and Buildings yesterday let the contract for the forester's house on the State reserves in Clinton county. It will cost about $3,500 and replace one burned some time ago.

IRON AGE DECLARES LARGER COMPANIES ARE UNABLE TO HOLD DEMAND IN CHECK

"Despite efforts of the larger steel companies to hold the demand in check," says the Iron Age in its weekly steel review to-day, "signs of a runaway steel market are increasing. They report orders coming in at such an enormous rate that all of them are being carefully considered before being accepted. On some classes of material it is a question of getting deliveries and not prices. This month will establish new records in the output of iron and steel, but in spite of the huge production the mills are getting farther back in deliveries.

The extraordinary demand for open-hearth steel is bringing about conditions which prevailed several years ago under similar conditions. Foundries having open-hearth furnaces are taking contracts for forgings billets, arranging to have steel ingots bloomed by steel companies having excess capacity in blooming mills.

Chicago reports rail orders placed the past week totaling 42,000 tons, with an additional 7000 tons about to be placed. The Pennsylvania Railroad has distributed orders for 13,000 tons of rails. The magnitude of railroad purchasing is indicated by the fact that fully 350,000 tons of steel will be required in the Chicago market by several roads.

The pig-iron market is very strong and prices are not only maintained but are being advanced in some districts.

SCORE OF CHILDREN DIE IN SCHOOL FIRE

masses but to no purpose. The smaller children fell under the feet of those behind them and soon the vestibule was so jammed with living and dead that the firemen could not force an entrance. The sixteen sisters escaped.

The flames, it is supposed, started in the basement and according to some were caused by the explosion of a defective gas pipe which had been heated. There is doubt, however, as to the exact origin of the fire.

A large percentage of the pupils were children of foreign parentage. In the first alarm many of the Irish and Italian descent. The firemen fought the fire from ladders raised to the windows while the police cleared the vestibule. The bodies of the dead generally were burned beyond recognition.

Two Go To Hospital.—Mary Leeds and Marion Hayes were found in the crush badly burned but alive, and were removed to hospital. St. John's Parochial school situated on Chestnut street, near St. John's Catholic Church and the home of the Rev. Nicholas Murphy, the pastor. Opposite is St. John's convent.

The first alarm brought a hundred distracted mothers to the schoolyard where soon they were joined by other relatives of the pupils, until the building was surrounded by a great crowd of hysterical men and women who rushed the police lines in a wild effort to reach their children. The police were powerless to stop the rush but what they failed to do was accomplished by the firemen who were shooting from the windows of the building held back the unhappy throng.

Jump to Death.—The children were driven from their rooms and many sought to escape by the windows and were killed or injured in jumping.

Neighbors rushed to the scene and held coats and blankets while the children leaped into them.

The heaviest loss of life was at the front door, where the hall and stairway were jammed. The children became choked with frantic children. Many were trampled under foot and overcome with smoke. Firemen were unable to push their way through the crowd and were forced to fight the fire from ladders.

The dead, it was said, might reach fifty. Sisters of the school declared that many of the children were up to their floors had been unable to escape and had undoubtedly perished.

There were no fire escapes on the outside of the building.

Deeds of heroism were not wanting. Among such incidents was the act of Maurice Harris, aged ten years, who carried his one-legged chair, Thomas O'Shea, aged seven, and a young boy named Harry, who had reached the ground floor made his way to safety.

According to the version of the sisters, the pupils were marching out in a single file and the leaders who had reached the ground floor made a mistake of rushing into the vestibule at the front exit instead of going out at the rear door as they had been trained to do.

This caused confusion among those who followed, and congestion in the vestibule. Meantime the flames had reached the stairway and caught the straggling children. Within five minutes flames were shooting from all the windows and exits. The local firemen endeavored to control the blaze, summoned aid from the Dauphin fire and Marblehead, but this came too late.

McCallin, former mayor of Pittsburgh, was found late last night on the Pennsylvania Railroad tracks at Roup, a passenger station within the city limits. The body was so badly crushed that identification was impossible until this morning, when her absence from the office of E. S. She left her office yesterday afternoon, but the circumstances leading to her death are unknown, although almost fifty passenger trains stop at the station during the afternoon and night.

Prevent Diphtheria.—A sore throat is a good breeding place for Diphtheria germs. Protect your children by never neglecting a Sore Throat. You can wisely depend upon TONSILINE. Give Tonsiline upon the first appearance of Sore Throat—don't give Diphtheria a chance in that throat in its weakened condition. When TONSILINE is swallowed it comes directly in contact with the diseased surface and induces a healthy condition of the membranes—then the system can better defend the throat if attacked by Diphtheria germs. Keep TONSILINE in the house where you can get it quick when this needed. 2c., 5c., and $1.00.

William J. Flynn, chief of the United States Secret Service, was quoted to-day as saying: "I believe we are going to get the financiers of this plot. Fay says he had and spent only $4,000. Paul Siebs says that Fay told him that he had $7,500 when he started for this country. We believe Fay spent $30,000."

United States District Attorney H. Snowden Marshall does not believe that the most important of the conspirators of which Lieut. Robert Fay, expects that other arrests will be made.

MUST DISPOSE OF COAL INTERESTS

Jersey Central. As the subject of this separation was not argued when the case was heard, the court in its decision last June suggested it for consideration of counsel when the scope of the decree came to be determined. There was a difference of opinion as to what the form of the decree should be and the court to-day finally decided that the union of the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron Company and the Lehigh and Wilkes-Barre Coal Company through the instrumentality of the Reading Company is a continuation in restraint of trade and violates the antitrust act of 1890. The Reading Company, a holding corporation owns all the stock of the coal and iron company and a majority of the stock of the Jersey Central, the last named in turn owning a majority of the stock of the Lehigh and Wilkes-Barre Coal Company.

The court decreed that after 90 days from date the defendants must submit a plan for the disposal by the Jersey Central of all the stock and other securities of the Lehigh and Wilkes-Barre Company now owned by it, unless an appeal is taken to the United States Supreme Court. If the defendants fail to present a plan the court will take such further steps as may be necessary.

Fending the disposal of the Lehigh and Wilkes-Barre Company's stock, the Jersey Central, the Reading Company and all other corporations controlling any stock are enjoined from voting it.
