ELECTION TIME STRIKES THE HILL

Most of Officials and Attaches Start Home to Take a Hand in the Campaign

The annual election time exodus has been started on Capitol Hill and by noon to-morrow comparatively few of the attaches of the various departments will be left in the city. Election time is the one period of the year when men connected with the State government who do not vote here hitch themselves to their homes to take a little hand in the campaign. The chiefs of departments are not exceptions to the rule and they leave early to look after political fences. The clerks and other attaches also give the election some time and except for routine work there is little doing in the departments on Monday preceding an election.

Governor Brumbaugh, who has had a bad cold, leaves to-day for Philadelphia, where he will remain until the election. The Governor registered some time ago, arrangements having been made for men absent from the State during registration days to be entered on the lists.

Forest Protection.—The organization of the State's bureau of forest protection is proceeding rapidly in a number of counties, associations having been formed in some communities which in others arrangements have been made for local co-operation with the State attaches. Special efforts are being made to interest farmers in the new forest fire protection plan, as valuable $1,000,000 worth of the eastern counties were burned over last Spring and the damage done to watersheds amounted to a considerable sum. It is expected that by the first of the year more local associations will be in co-operation with the State.

Board to Go Ahead.—The State Insurance Board, which has been working on the schedule of rates to be paid for insurance in the State fund, has about completed that preliminary detail and steps will be taken within a few days to inaugurate a plan of publicity. The State will proceed to drum up business for its fund and will for the first time be in competition with its own corporations.

Eighteen Arrests.—The State Dairy and Food authorities ordered eighteen arrests for violation of food and milk laws to-day. They are in Philadelphia and Luzerne counties.

Governor to Speak.—Governor Brumbaugh will speak at the dedication of the Waynesboro Y. M. C. A. on November 27.

To Fight Joos Case.—The State will fight the suit brought yesterday by John E. Joos, of Pittsburgh, for a long standing claim for an advertisement made in 1885. The attorney general's department will file a statement.

Asked to Reply.—The Public Service Commission has asked the Riverton Consolidated Water Company if it desires to make a reply in the complaint filed yesterday by E. N. Cooper of Camp Hill, over failure to supply water.

Secured Redress.—J. W. Rockwell, of Waynesboro, under date of August 26, filed an informal complaint with the Public Service Commission, alleging that the Western Maryland Railway Company in its shifting movements blocked the highway along its line at Wington. The matter was taken up with the Western Maryland Railway Company who under date of October 4th, advised that they had gone into the matter thoroughly, and in order to correct the situation issued orders to all trainmen which will prevent further complaint from users of the highway at Wington. Under date of October 12 Mr. Rockwell advised the Commission that the cause of the complaint had been entirely removed, and expressed his appreciation of the prompt action of the Commission.

Well Known Clerk Dead.—Isalah R. Haldeman, of Harleysville, for year a clerk in the auditor general's department died at the Medico-Chirurgical hospital yesterday after a prolonged illness. He was a former member of the Legislature. He resided 31 North Seventeenth street in this city and was well known to many Harrisburgers.

Fair Can Build.—The State Water Supply Commission last night announced permission of the Keystone State Fair and Industrial Exposition to build a wall or levee along the Susquehanna along its property between Highspire and Middletown. Other permits granted included John Grabow, of Newville, permission to build bridge across Spring creek; supervisors of Londonderry township, Dauphin county to build a bridge across Iron Mine run; Commissioners of York county to build a bridge west branch of Codorus creek on Sinsheim-Brobeck road; Commissioners of Mifflin county to build a bridge across Jacob's creek at Sigler's ford.

Department to Exhibit.—The State Highway Department is preparing an exhibit at the Industrial Welfare and Efficiency conference here next month. The department will make a showing that will embrace all of its various activities.

To Invite Officials.—The new Allentown armory will be dedicated on December 2 with considerable ceremony. Allentown Guardsmen will invite the Governor and State officials and the State Guard Association may be held in that city at that time.

UNDERWOOD WILL WAIT—Washington, Oct. 29.—Oscar W. Underwood, senator-elect from Alabama, who is here for the opening of Congress, said to-day in discussing the question of national defense that he would wait until the army and navy experts themselves had reached their conclusions and presented them to Congress before expressing his views on the subject.

BULGARIANS ON DEFENSIVE—Paris, Oct. 29.—The correspondent of the Havas News Agency at Athens, telegraphs under Thursday's date that the aspect of operations on the Serbian front is changing since the French successes at Velez and Struzica. Bulgarian leaders, he says, from the vice and saloon element—the evil, corrupt and rough-neck element in politics. This ill-smelling crowd has always fought for "the sanctity and purity of the home" by voting solidly and invariably against woman suffrage and every other question of real value in actually bettering the condition of our homes.

HEAVY DAMAGE REPORTED—Paris, Oct. 29.—Perpignan, a city of Southern France, in the foot hills of the eastern Pyrenees, reports that damage amounting to several million francs had been caused in that region by the overflow of the Basse river. Rivesaltes, the home town of General Joffre, a railroad bridge was swept away and communication with Narbonne was cut.

Search For Bodies in Ruins of School at Peabody Continued Today

By Associated Press

Peabody, Mass., Oct. 29.—In the cavity within the blackened brick shell of what yesterday morning was St. John's Parochial School, men searched to-day for evidence as to the cause of the fire which cost the lives of twenty-one girls. The ruins also were examined carefully for more victims. Early to-day five bodies remained unidentified while five girls were reported missing by their families. Owing to the condition of unclaimed bodies positive identification probably will be impossible.

The search for possible additional bodies was directed by Chief of Police Grady, while inspectors of the State police conducted the investigation into the cause of the fire.

The only fact substantiated was that the flames originated in a small storeroom in the basement, which was locked.

It is known that it was customary to place waste paper and sweepings in wooden barrels in the storeroom. According to the Sisters of the Order of Notre Dame, who were in charge of the school, there was a gas jet. This room was closely examined to-day for evidence showing how the fire started.

Plans for a public funeral for the little ones were discussed to-day and the arrangements were placed in the hands of the Rev. Nicholas J. Murphy, pastor of St. John's Church.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

SUFFRAGE IN KANSAS

To the Editor of the Telegraph:

Topeka, Kan., Oct. 20, 1915.

Many persons interested in the success of the equal suffrage campaign now being conducted in New York, Pennsylvania and Massachusetts have requested me to write to your paper as to the results of woman suffrage in Kansas. I am glad to say that it has been a success in this State, and if the question were again submitted to our people it would carry almost unanimously. All political parties here believe in it.

The adoption of woman suffrage in Kansas has made it easier to elect men of good moral character to office and harder to foist a man of shady reputation on the people. Election day in rural Kansas with the women voting is more like a big neighborhood picnic than a political fight.

The extension of equal suffrage to the women of Kansas has had immediate effect for good.

It has impelled all political parties to include in their programs and platforms humanitarian projects and moral issues which previously they had ignored.

It has made imperative a more careful selection of nominees.

The immediate passage of wise, humane and beneficial laws for the safeguarding of women and children and the betterment of conditions of living which followed the adoption of equal suffrage laws in Kansas affords convincing proof that the enfranchisement of American women is a most important step in the advancement of state and national progress.

Kansas is proud of her new citizens and appreciates the great part they are taking in every movement which has for its purpose the betterment of the state.

The extension of suffrage to Kansas women has not caused them to neglect their homes in the slightest degree. What time they devote to politics is not taken from their household work, but from their spare time, formerly devoted to social functions, is partly spent now in the study and discussion of economic and political questions. No woman is neglecting her home when she is trying to improve the conditions under which she and her children live.

It is claimed by antisuffragists that the influence of women's votes has been deleterious to the social fabric of the state. The direct contrary is true in Kansas. Women now discuss vital governmental issues, along with the men, and with a keen appreciation of their new responsibilities of citizenship. The participation of women in public affairs is having a wholesome effect in cleansing the state of spottier politics, and is making for higher ideals in both public and private life.

The aptitude of the women in political affairs has challenged the admiration of the men, instead of their resentment. The women have not attempted to foist themselves into office, but a modest way have insisted on clean candidates who stand for the best in social, educational and political progress.

I cordially and earnestly invite the eastern States to send their best and keenest businessmen to investigate conditions in Kansas with particular reference to the results achieved through equal suffrage and prohibition. All Kansas will welcome them, and give them every assistance to ascertain the actual facts; for our people wish the world to know of the blessings and the benefits of prohibition and equal suffrage as they have found them.

The saloon has never been found on the right side of any question. The most hostile and bitter protests against woman suffrage always have come from the vice and saloon element—the evil, corrupt and rough-neck element in politics. This ill-smelling crowd has always fought for "the sanctity and purity of the home" by voting solidly and invariably against woman suffrage and every other question of real value in actually bettering the condition of our homes.
