COMPENSATION IS EXPLAINED

[Continued From First Page.] den would be added to the employer At present the general unfamiliarity of the layman with the act has led many to believe that a white elephant were being foisted upon the manufacturer, but Mr. Allen assured his audience that the practical working out of the law in other States would certainly be duplicated in Pennsylvania and all duplicated in Pennsylvania and all the tangles and difficult points would be straightened out as soon as it is put in operation. President Bowman, of the Chamber of Commerce, introduced the speaker and announced that his talk would be the first of a series of employers' lia-bility and workmen's compensation, to be held under the direction of the Chamber. Mr. Allen briefly discussed the act and then announced himself as ready and willing to answer all questions to the best of his ability. Discussion of Act Discussion of Act

Discussion of Act The meeting settled down to an in-formal discussion in which a number of important points were cleared up. The gist of some of Mr. Allen's opin-ions were as follows: It is not true that the State Insur-ance Fund is not a safe investment, because the entire funds of the Com-monwealth will be used if necessary to back up any claims on the Insur-ance Fund. The State can not de-fault.

ance Fund. The State can not de-fault. In Pennsylvania the law does not apply to domestic servants or farmers, but to all others coming under the class of employers and employes. Ten referees will be appointed to settle all claims properly coming un-der this act. Two of these will be stationed in Philadelphia and two or three in Pittsburgh. The first thing the employer must do after an accident to one of his em-ployes is to provide immediate medi-cal assistance, for which the employer, if insured, will be reimbursed by the Insurance Company or State, depend-ing on the insurance taken out. An employer is not compelled by the act to take out insurance, but if he decides against it, he must show that his business is in first class finan-cial condition. The law is so worded that in its operation the safer plan would be for the employer to be in-sured. The referee must go to the scene of the accident and hold his hearing there, rather than make the employer go to fin. Any legal charges incurred by the

be compelled to pay, thus insuring fairness in the matter. 50 Per Cent. Basis Compensation is based on 50 per cent. of wages, and under no circum-stances can exceed ten dollars a week, for the stipulated period, which dif-fers for different injuries. Loss of two eyes, or two legs, for example, will be computed the same as total disability and compensation paid on that basis. If a man dies as the result of an in-jury, the employer shall pay to his child the same amount as he had been paying to the injured man, until the child shall reach the age of sixteen. An employer is not liable except when the employe is on the employer's premises, with certain exceptions, as in the case of delivery wagons, eic. It would be wise to inquire of an employe not your own, when entering upon temporary duties under your jur-isdiction, as to whether he is provided for under his employer's insurance, against accident, before you allow him to undertake any duties, in the per-formance of which you are responsible

How About Eva?

How About Eva? Manager Hopkins, of several local theaters, inquired whether he would be liable under the following assump-tion: "Suppose Eva Tanguay should be booked to appear at the Majestic, and she should have an accident, would I have to pay $1,500 a week for five hundred weeks?" The crowd ap-preciated the remarks and a howl of laughter greeted Mr. Hopkins' sally to which Mr. Allen replied that in his opinion the booking agency, and not opinion the booking agency, and not Mr. Hopkins would be liable for such

Its in this case of the approval of the loan for the purchase of the apparatus. As to the character of previous purchases, we presume you re-fer, as does also the first para-graph of the editorial you sent us, to a statement in our bulletin supplement issued in October, 1915, of which we are sending you a copy herewith. There was no question of criticising the design of the tractors that had been bought as not being in ac-cord with our specifications, but simply that it would have been better to purchase new pumping engines for hose companies Nos. 10 and 14, instead of tractors for apparatus stationed in down-town houses, where most of the runs are short and automobile apparatus has not much advant-age in speed of response over horse-drawn.

age in speed of response over horse-drawn. We fail to see how we can fairly be accused of bad faith in making the statements in this builetin supplement, since in our full re-port issued in December, 1913, we recommended on page 22, furnishing engines for hose com-panies Nos. 10 and 14, but did not recommend tractors for en-gines I and 2.

The most widespread disease in the world today is that dread af-fection of the teeth called pyorrhea. Nine out of every ten grown persons have it to some extent. You may have it and be unaware of it. Why? Because scientists have proved that the cause of this disease is a germ which inhabits every human mouth, and that thousands have this disease and do not realize it until it reaches the advanced stages of bleeding gums and loose teeth.
