CENTRAL WORKS WITH ACADEMY

Anxious For Victory Over Reading on Saturday; Students to Accompany Team

Central High is scheduled to-day for a scrimmage practice with Har-risburg Academy varsity squad on Academy Field. Paul Smith, the oach, who was at Lehigh Saturday brought home some valuable infor-mation which will be worked out in preparation for the game at Reading on Saturday.

The team showed considerable sore-

The team showed considerable soreness at practice yesterday as a result of the hard fight with Wilkes-Barre. However, the players went through the special work with a spirit that was very gratifying to Coach Smith and high school officials.

Reading is the most feared team on Central's schedule and the Blue and Gray will make every effort to come out of this game victorious. Coach Smith is well pleased with the showing which Central made on Saturday and hopes to get his team in good shape for the next battle.

Students Plan Trip

The students are preparing to accompany the team to "Pretzeltown" and a large following is expected. Club rates have been arranged for on the Reading railroad and the cheer leaders will take charge of the crowd. New songs and chers are being rehearsed daily.

Arrangements are being made to supply uniforms to Central cheer leaders so that they may make an imposing appearance at the games. The Commonwealth Band has been secured for the rest of the football season by Central and the school spirit is running high at the daily mass meetings held in the chapel. New cheers and songs have been composed and elaborate plans are under foot for the parade on Thanks-giving day.

Rabbits Are Scarce Article; Few Found in Local Markets

Rabbits were a scarce article in the Rabbits were a scarce article in the local markets to-day. This is attributed to the enforcement of the State law preventing the sale of hare and rabbits killed in Pennsylvania. Game offered for sale to-day was from Virginia and other southern States.

The rabbit season has been on in this State since November 1. Hunters are limited to a certain number each day. Local dealers say there is a demand for rabbits, and as they cannot get them from New Jersey or other nearby States they must go south for them.
