COLUMBIA WINS HOLLOW VICTORY

Outpaces Yale Crew When Coombe Collapses; Paddle to Finish Line

Special to The Telegraph New Haven, Conn., Nov. 13.—Columbia's eight-oared crew won a hollow victory from Yale on the harbor yesterday when Coombe, No. 7, in the blue shell, collapsed at the mile and one-quarter mark, and the Morning-side boat paddled over the line seven lengths in the lead.

The course was one and seven-eighths miles, and the official time of the winner was 10 minutes 48 1/2 seconds. Yale's time was 11.20.

Except for the first few boat lengths, Columbia held the lead throughout, and at the time of Coombe's collapse was about a quarter of a length ahead. Columbia's stroke averaged 36 and Yale's 32.

Although both crews rowed raggedly at times, Columbia showed the better form, and obtained more power out of her springing stroke. Water conditions were perfect. The crews follow:

Yale—Stroke, S. Low, 2d, 1916; captain; No. 7, R. G. Coombe, 1918; No. 8, C. Meyer, 1916; No. 9, S. R. D. Sturtevant, 1916; No. 4, R. H. Kesitsky, 1916; No. 3, S. W. Atkins, 1916; No. 2, R. C. Gillman, 1916; S. bow, A. E. N. Harriman, 1917; coxswain, A. McLane, Jr., 1916. Columbia—Stroke, W. N. Bratton, captain; No. 7, R. O. Pennell; No. 6, R. W. Lahey; No. 5, W. H. Dickman; No. 4, D. W. Lewis; No. 3, R. O'Loughlin; No. 2, O. B. Myers; bow, R. K. Munroe; coxswain, M. Thomas.

WHEN HORSE LOSES BACKER DROPS DEAD

Special to The Telegraph Baltimore, Md., Nov. 13.—When the horse J. J. Lillis, on which he had placed $150 at the Pimlico races yesterday was nosed out by Wooden Shoes at the finish, Thomas Broadwater, 40 years old, of this city, a follower of the races, fell dead in the grandstand. It is believed that the shock of losing the money was too much for him.

Star Halfback May Play Against Tigers

MAL SCOVILLE

Despite his injuries, Mal Scoville, the best back which Yale has outside of Captain Alex Wilson, will be in the Eli line-up against Princeton to-day. Scoville's thumb was dislocated in the game against Brown last Saturday, and his nose was broken two weeks before. Scoville at fullback has proved to be the best line-plunger on the Yale team this year.

CONFERENCE ON MEAT LAW A joint conference of market owners, city health authorities and a committee of butchers will be held Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the offices of the bureau of health. The session has been called to consider changing conditions in markets so that the butchers will be aided in their efforts to meet the requirements of the new state law regarding the handling and screening of meat products.

Judging Lumber Grades

Lumber is sold by grade. That is there are from four to six or more grades to each kind of lumber. The man with the low price may be the man with the low grade. When you buy No. 1 grade lumber you receive that kind of lumber. We don't try to substitute a No. 2 or No. 3 grade thinking you won't know the difference. United Ice & Coal Co. Officers were elected for a term of five years as follows: President, Rock Island, Ill.; vice-president, T. H. Murnane, Boston; secretary, J. H. Farrell, Auburn, N. Y.

VISITING THE WAR BRIDES

By Frederic J. Haskin

By-products of coal distillation for the production of coke and from crude petroleum. Most interesting of all, as indicating what big business thinks of the possibilities of the industry, is the fact that the largest by-product company has plans under way for the building of the largest by-products coke and chemical works in the world near Pittsburgh.

Tariff Laws

What will happen to this new American industry for high explosive materials demand for high explosive materials has dropped, and the factories face European competition in the making of dyes, is a matter of much speculation here. Undoubtedly, there will be a struggle. Our tariff law contains no dumping clause—that is, no provision to prevent European manufacturers from selling their goods in the American market to get back their trade.

Crucible Steel is the Pittsburgh war

Crucible Steel is the Pittsburgh war bride of greatest stock market fame. It is an independent company of especially fine equipment, making high grade of steel such as is used in watch springs and cutlery. Owing to the specialized nature of its product, it suffered more from the recent depression than many of the other companies. At the time the war broke out, its common stock was quoted at $11.25 a share and it owed heavy back dividends on its preferred. Not long ago its common was selling at $109.55 a share.

Crucible Steel has a hard fight

This company is reticent about its affairs, making only annual reports now, instead of quarterly reports as formerly. It is known, however, that an immense order for rifle barrels forms the basis of its present prosperity. The Westinghouse Company got the order for the rifles from Russia and France, and contracted with Crucible Steel to make the barrels.

Crucible Steel has a hard fight

Crucible Steel has a hard fight in the corporation world. About 1891 it had a period of prosperity, and built itself a soft steel plant of its own, supply the material for its other mills. The United States Steel Corporation laid covetous eyes upon this plant, and offered to take over Crucible; but the smaller concern preferred to remain independent. The steel giant waited until hard times came and then it bought the soft steel plant at about its own price. But now Crucible Steel has built another, under the name of the Pittsburgh Crucible Company, and is otherwise in highly prosperous condition.

Westinghouse Prospering

Another great Pittsburgh concern that is riding high on the war boom wave is the Westinghouse group of factories. This is the concern, which

FIRE JOHNSON GILMORE'S PLAN

Federal League Leader Makes Bitter Verbal Attack on American Head

Special to The Telegraph Baltimore, Md., Nov. 13.—Another attack upon Ban Johnson, president of the American League, and the man who is fighting harder than any one else against all attempts to settle the baseball war, was issued by James A. Gilmore, president of the Federal League, yesterday.

Gilmore suggests that organized baseball throw Johnson out of camp, indicating that it is Johnson who is interfering with the Federal League's plans for settling its troubles.

"In order to be in a position to aid in perpetuating the national game on the high plane it deserves," Gilmore says, "it will be necessary for organized baseball to do some housecleaning. The public no longer accepts Ban Johnson as a power. True, he still holds forth as dictator for organized baseball, but he has plunged the magnates into debt and the game into a condition from which it cannot be aroused by bluffing and bullying."

DEATH OF DANIEL BOLTON

Special to The Telegraph Grantville, Pa., Nov. 13.—Daniel Bolton, a farmer living near Lingletown, died on Wednesday after a long illness. He is survived by his wife and several young children. Funeral services will be held on Monday morning at Shoop's Lutheran and Reformed church, by the Rev. O. R. Bittner, of Grantville, and the Rev. Jonas Martin, of Piketown.

BOY KILLED UNDER ENGINE

Special to The Telegraph Chambersburg, Pa., Nov. 13.—Albert Wyan, ten years old, was instantly killed near the Pine Grove schoolhouse, six miles west of Chambersburg, yesterday morning. The boy was playing during recess, when a traction engine, drawing a clover hauler, came along the road. He climbed onto the tongue of the hauler and a sudden jolt threw him off and the wheels passed over his head, causing instant death.

WROTE "BLACK HAND" LETTERS

Special to The Telegraph York, Pa., Nov. 13.—Howard Lehr, aged 27, an automobile painter, of this city, was arrested last night, charged with writing black hand letters to A. E. Farquhar, demanding $5,000 and threatening to do him bodily harm and to damage his country residence if he refused.
