In Southwestern Serbia successes for the French and British are reported. The Bulgarians are said to have been compelled to retreat on the Vardar front and to have sustained a check at the hands of the British in the Rarovo section.

Stomach Troubles Due to Acidity

So Says New York Physician. So-called stomach troubles, such as indigestion, wind, stomach-ache and inability to retain food, are in probably nine cases out of ten simply evidence that fermentation is taking place in the food contents of the stomach, causing a factor of acid stomach known as acidity. Wind distends the stomach and causes that fit, oppressive, feeling sometimes known as heartburn, while the acid irritates and inflames the delicate lining of the stomach. The trouble lies in the excessive secretion of acid and the fermentation of food. Such fermentation is unnatural, and may involve harmful consequences, if not corrected to stop or prevent fermentation of food contents of the stomach and to neutralize the acid, and render it bland and harmless, a teaspoonful of bisulphate of magnesia, perhaps the best and most effective corrector of acid stomach known, should be taken in a quarter of a glass of hot or cold water immediately after eating, or whenever wind or acidity is felt. This stops the fermentation, and neutralizes the acidity in a few moments. Fermentation, wind and acidity are unnecessary. Stop or prevent them by the use of a proper antacid, such as bisulphate of magnesia, which can be obtained from any druggist and thus enable the stomach to do its work properly without being hindered by gas and excessive acids.
