

GOVERNOR GIVES STATE PRAISES

Says That Child Labor Law Has Been Received in the Proper Spirit This Year

CHILDREN CARED FOR

Large Cities Are Co-operating in the Movement to Provide the Facilities

Governor Martin G. Brumbaugh today issued a statement commending the attitude of the educational authorities of Philadelphia and Pittsburgh as well as other cities of the State for their co-operation in arranging for enforcement of the child labor law continuation school features and praising the spirit of the employers in their dealings with the officials in charge. The Governor's statement was made after he had heard in detail from officials who have been meeting employers on the subject and he especially commends those who have agreed to establish continuation schools without delay when the law becomes effective on January 1 next.

The Governor's statement in full is as follows: "Reports made to me by the State Departments of Public Instruction and Labor and Industry, which are co-operating to obtain the establishment of continuation schools, indicate that at least three-quarters of the children now working in this State will be provided with continuation school facilities next January when the new child labor act goes into effect.

"In every industrial community in this State active steps are being taken to establish continuation classes. Every boy or girl under 16 years of age employed after January 1 next must attend one of these classes at least eight hours a week.

"I am especially pleased with the attitude which employers of children generally have assumed. I am informed that wherever the school men have gone to places of business personally and talked with employers, explaining to them the benefits which would accrue both to them and to their young employes under this child labor law, that they have expressed a willingness to meet all its provisions. In fact, some firms which had expressed themselves as opposed to the new law have agreed to furnish space in their establishments for conducting continuation classes, and a few have even agreed to pay the teachers.

"I am particularly pleased with the manner in which the situation has been handled in Philadelphia. Four distinct steps have been taken by the board of education in that city:

"In the first place, an associate superintendent of schools was elected, whose duty it is to arrange for the establishment of continuation schools.

"Next, the Bureau of Compulsory Education was reorganized. Ten branch offices have been established throughout the city for the issuance of employment certificates, the physical examination of children and as headquarters for the compulsory attendance officers. In addition to this these branch offices will also do work along the line of vocational guidance by endeavoring to find places for children desiring to work and of finding employes for firms desiring to hire children under sixteen.

"Third, the board has under consideration the salary schedule for teachers in the continuation schools. It is the intention to pay teachers in these classes from one to two hundred dollars more a year than will be paid to the regular grade teachers.

"Fourth, the board has adopted a general policy of endeavoring to open as rapidly as possible, after January 1, continuation classes for all those receiving employment certificates and entering upon employment at that time, and all the additional classes needed in the regions where the number of children now employed is greatest. In addition, as rapidly as possible the schools already established in business and industrial plants will be taken over by the board.

"The Philadelphia board expects to

FOR A BAD COUGH

Here is a fine old-fashioned recipe for coughs, colds or croup that has been used for many years with great success. Get from your druggist 1 oz. of Parmitin (Double Strength) and add it to 1 pint of hot water and 4 oz. of granulated sugar. Take one tablespoonful 4 times a day. No more racking your whole body with a cough. Clogged nostrils will open. Air passages of your head clear up so you can breathe freely. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Anyone who has a stubborn cough, or hard cold or croup, in any form should give this prescription a trial.

employ at least one hundred teachers in 1916 and I am sure that January will see at least 75 per cent. of the working children under sixteen in that city attending continuation classes.

"In Pittsburgh a complete canvass of the city has been made to ascertain the number of children in employment. Provision has been made for the establishment of schools or classes in various sections of the city. I would not be surprised to see every working child in Pittsburgh attending continuation classes with the beginning of the new year.

"In Bethlehem the high school will be used to house the continuation classes. The regular classes adjourn early and the continuation classes will have full use of the school building from 3 to 5 every afternoon.

"The school authorities of Reading are at present interviewing manufacturers on the subject of organizing continuation schools. Dr. Foos, superintendent of schools, reports that in all these interviews he has been cordially received and that the outlook for the success of the schools seems very encouraging.

"Complete arrangements for the establishment of continuation classes are also being made in Scranton, Wilkes-Barre, Allentown, Johnstown, Altoona, Lebanon, Easton, Beaver Falls, Mauch Chunk, Harrisburg, Williamsport, York, and many smaller communities.
The agents of the Departments of Public Instruction and Labor and Industry will visit before January 1 every community in which it is necessary to establish continuation classes, and I am sure the new year will see ready and full compliance with all the provisions of the new law.

"The fact that schools may be conducted eight hours on one day, or four hours on two days, or two hours on four days, and that almost any seventh and eighth grade teacher will be able to give the instruction required, has done much to facilitate the establishment of these schools.

"I am indeed grateful for the splendid spirit of co-operation which has been shown both by the school men and employers of children in their efforts to raise the standard of citizenship in our glorious Commonwealth."

His Satanic Majesty, the Devil, is a favorite character with the German cartoonists, according to Cartoons Magazine, but the Devil's grandmother is supposed to be even more satanic than Old Nick himself. Thus, an Austrian cartoonist has the Devil's grandmother asking him why he is fixing himself up so well. "I'll tell you, Grandma," is the reply: "I'm expecting five kings, a czar, and a president, and when such distinguished company arrives I must present a front."

CAMP HILL IN MIDST OF BUILDING BOOM

$3,000 to $5,000. The buildings are constructed of brick, frame and stucco and all of them have the latest improvements. Some of the new homes have been built on the bungalow plan. The others are two-and-a-half and three stories with attractive porches and settings. Almost all of them are built alone, although several have been constructed in pairs.

The biggest operation is in Park avenue, where seventeen homes are being finished in one section. These houses were started by C. W. Strayer, of Lemoyne, but before the work had progressed very far they were purchased at a bankruptcy sale by A. A. Thumma, Bretz Bros., Harry Eshelman, Bogar Lumber Company, Allison Hill Trust Company and the Union Trust Company. These individuals and companies are finishing the houses in various styles and they are among the prettiest in the busy borough.

Residences Near Completion
Some of the other residences nearing completion are owned by C. Studebaker, brick, Park avenue; L. H. Dennis, stucco, Locust avenue; John C.

Brinton, Bowman avenue; J. L. Brinton, blue limestone; C. M. Leedy, stucco, Market street, near Oyster's Point; H. M. Yinger, Chestnut street; Mrs. F. K. Middaugh, frame, Walnut street; Dr. S. C. Swallow, two in Long street; Mrs. W. P. Dale, brick, Market street; W. E. Jones, brick, Market street; Miss Virginia Sample, frame, Earlington; Mr. Wolf, brick, Trindle Road; G. L. Bricker, stucco, Maple avenue; Harry Rice, brick, Maple avenue; Adam Stuckey, brick, Earlington.

During the past few months hundreds of men have been employed in the "cross river town on the construction of the new homes in addition to the many who worked on the Camp Hill school building. Several years ago a school building was erected in such a way that when conditions warranted a big addition could be built. This latter was completed recently, making the total cost of the school about $20,000.

At present too, an addition is being built to the Camp Hill Methodist church, crowded conditions there making the enlarging necessary.

Although the value of building operations in Camp Hill during the past several months towers above the values in many towns of the same size, it would seem that there would be a slump for some time to come.

But this is not true. Quite a few persons are contemplating new residences during 1916 and from indications ground will be broken for probably a score of new homes in the early Spring.

The New Labor Law

The new Workmen's Compensation Act goes into effect January 1st, next. If you are an employer of labor you should be familiar with every phase of this most important piece of legislation.
