Rotary Club to Have Christmas Tree; Will Give Gifts to Poor

The Harrisburg Rotary Club will have a Christmas tree with presents for each of the members. The meeting will be held on December 21 at the Harrisburg Public Library and there will be an old-time holiday jubilee-in connection therewith.

But better than all that, each member will bring with him to that meeting a basket of provisions and Christmas cheer for the poor of the city. "We don't want your money," said President Arthur D. Bacon in making the announcement to-day at the noon luncheon in the Senate Hotel. "What we want is your basket, bought by you, selected by you and with your own Christmas spirit displayed therein". J. Raymond Hoffert and George Bogar will superintendent the distribution of the Christmas baskets on Christmas morning.

William B. Bennett, the insurance man, presided at the meeting to-day and the address was delivered by the Rev. L. Nelson Bassler, who was his guest. Charles B. Aunsicker, a guest of William S. Essick, also spoke.

Dr. Russell H. Conwell will give his "Acres of Diamonds" lecture under the auspices of the Harrisburg Academy at the Technical high school on Saturday evening, December 18.

This lecture has been given more than 5,300 times and Dr. Conwell has received over $4,000,000 in the time during which he has devoted his energies to it.

In it you will learn how the old Persian, living by the Indus, wanted to be rich, how this Al Hafed sold his farm and set forth to find diamonds of great price; how he traveled on and on and ended his life miserably; and then how the man who bought his farm found in its sands the great Kohinoor diamond—this is the basis of Dr. Conwell's lecture, an illustration which enables him to show how each individual can find prosperity and happiness at his own door.

Addresses People's Forum

Sunday was observed as Frederick Douglas day by the Forum and the principal address of the afternoon program was delivered by Professor Kelly Miller, dean of the College of Arts and Sciences of Howard University, Washington, D. C.

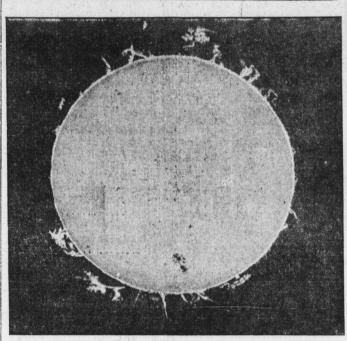

Vocal and strumental solos were rendered by Miss Rachael Lyons, of this city, and Mrs. King and Miss Emily Howard, of Steelton. The original speech of Frederick Douglas, under the auspices of William Lloyd Garrison, and which first gave him public attention, was read by Dr. M. H. Layton.

public attention, was read by Dr. M. H. Layton.
Dean Miller's talk was largely in an attempt to arouse public interest in the preservation of the Douglas home as a permanent memorial at the nation's capital and in an endeavor to create a fund by public subscriptions from his own people looking to the erection of a fitting monument to the famous negro on the site of this memorial home in Anacostia, D. C.

D. C.
Mortimer M. Harris, the financial secretary of the Douglas Home Association, spoke at length on the virtue of Douglas as a national and race character and the complete establishment of his home as a memorial. The session of the Forum was held at Bethel A. M. E. Church.

280,000-MILE FLAME DARTS OUT FROM SUN

How would you like to see a tongue of fire that would reach 40,000 miles farther than the distance from your front door step to the moon? The moon's last 240,000 miles away. Quite a flame, eh?

Well, Professor S. A. Mitchell, formerly of Columbia University and now lead of the Department of Astronomy of the University of Virginia, will show you how such a tongue of flame looks when viewed with the special instruments of the astronomer in a lecture on "Our Giant Neighbor in the Heavens," at 8,15 to-night in the Technical High School. The welrd object above is one of the remarkable views of the sun showing the projecting tongues of flame extending from the orb.

Professor Mitchell has made several important contributions to recent knowledge of the sun. He is here under the direction of the Harrisburg National History Society.

MESSAGE TO TELL HOW TO PROVIDE DEFENSE MONEY

President Will Indicate How Coin Should Be Raised; Bond Issue Opposed

By Associated Press

Washington, D. C. Nov. 22 - President Wilson will indicate in his annual message to Congress, which he is now writing, how, in his opinion, the money necessary to provide for na-tional defense as proposed by the ad-tional defense as proposed by the administration may be raised.

Some of the President's advisers, however, have told him that inasmuch as the House has sole authority to originate revenue legislation, he ought not to appear to usurp that power.

A number of Democratic leaders in Congress, including Mr. Fitzgerald and Senator Underwood, are opposed to a bond issue for the defense plans because such expenditures would have to be continued from year to year. The Presi ant will lay aside pratically all other work this week in order to have, if possible, his message in the hands of the public printer before Thanksgiving Day.

The President, in his message, probably will lay stress on the importance of legislation for increases in the army and navy, a merchant marine, rural credits, greater measure of self-government for the Filipinos, conservation and ratification of the Haitien, Colombian and Nicaraguan treaties.
