Fountain Location to Be Decided Next Week Following a brief tour of some of the talked-of sites for the erection of the 'Dance of Eternal Spring,' Giuseppe Donato, the sculptor, last evening said he had decided on what he thinks would be the best location. He refused to divulge this, he said, until the new art commission meets. The members of the commission, in addition to M. Harvey Taylor, commissioner of parks, and President E. S. Hierman, of the City Planning Commission, will include J. Horace McFarland, of the Municipal League; M. I. Kast, of the Southern Pennsylvania Association of Architects, and Mrs. William Henderson, of the Civic Club. The commission will act with Donato, who expects to return to this city next week. FOUND DEAD IN BED Mrs. Jennie Christman, wife of F. M. Christman was found dead in her bed this morning at her home, Wildwood Springs, near Wildwood park. The coroner pronounced the death due to acute indigestion. She is survived by her husband and one son, J. Harrison Christman. The funeral services will be announced later. WORKS FOR NEW Y. M. C. A. W. Earle Mark, son of Mrs. H. B. S. Mark, of the Rodemal apartments, and secretary of the Lackawanna Y. M. C. A., has begun a movement there for the erection of a new $75,000 Y. M. C. A. building at Lackawanna, where the main plant of the Lackawanna Iron and Steel Company, is located. JOHN McCANN John McCann, formerly of Harrisburg, died today at the South Mountain sanatorium. He is survived by one sister, Miss Anna McCann.

WILLS FAITHFUL TEACHER $100 John J. Nissley, Hummelstown Bank President, Remembers Her With Cash. The will of John J. Nissley, formerly president of the Hummelstown National Bank and one of the leading citizens in that end of the county, was probated to-day and the Harrisburg Trust Company and Mrs. Anna L. Moyer, a daughter, are named as executors. Mr. Nissley, reading, were named as executors. No inventory of the former bank president's estate was filed although he was considered one of the wealthiest men of the community. The death of Mr. Nissley's son, J. Paul Nissley, necessitated the writing of a codicil. Originally, J. Paul Nissley had been named to act with Mrs. Moyer as executor, and the codicil substituted the Harrisburg Trust Company. Incidentally, the share of the estate which would have ordinarily fallen to the son is left in trust for the dead banker's granddaughter, Miss Katherine M. Nissley, a daughter of J. Paul Nissley. Of special interest was Mr. Nissley's bequest of $6,000 to Miss Minnie Basom, who had made her home with the Nissleys for years and who cared for the banker and his wife during their later years. In stating this bequest Mr. Nissley says that it is in 'recognition of our love and affection for her and a just recompense for her untiring love and devotion to us and our interests.' Another bequest of $2,000 is given to the Hummelstown Reformed Church, the income of which is to be charged annually on the church books as from the account of John J. and Katherine Nissley. Hundred dollar bequests are made to the Rev. John P. Diffenderfer, Miss Elizabeth Price and Miss Sallie Barry, Germantown, and a similar amount is bequeathed to Miss Emma E. Miller, 'a good and faithful teacher in our Sunday School.' Mr. Nissley further provides that the gold watch he received from the directorate of the bank on the twenty-fifth wedding anniversary of the Nissleys in 1881 be given to his son, J. Paul Nissley, to be handed down from father to son. The disposition of the watch in the event of Paul's death is provided for by bequeathing it to the granddaughter, Katherine P. Nissley. The estate is divided between Mrs. Moyer and the granddaughter, Katherine P., with the proviso that if the latter marry, die and is survived by children, provision is made for them until they reach the age of twenty-one.

BITTER CLASHES MARK SESSIONS Mrs. Geo. B. Orlady Will Lead Suffragists; Miss Helen C. Clark Is Secretary. The woman suffrage amendment to the constitution was defeated by a majority of 55,686 votes in Pennsylvania according to an official computation of the vote made at the Capitol to-day by George D. Thorn, chief clerk to the Secretary of the Commonwealth, upon receipt of a telegram from Philadelphia giving the vote of that city. Philadelphia was the last county to be heard from. The figures show the vote of the whole State to have been 285,348 in favor of the amendment and 441,024 against the amendment. The vote of Philadelphia was for amendment 308,101, against amendment 318,515. The total vote of the State on Superior court judges was Orlady, 543, 739; Head, 523,522; Williams, 422, 623; Hulseolt, 225,156; Palmer, 224, 069; Wallace, 211,522. The first three were elected. MISS HELEN C. CLARK Special to The Telegraph. Philadelphia, Pa., Dec. 1.—Despite insurgency, which at times threatened to disrupt the woman suffrage convention held at the Adelphi yesterday, the State organization successfully resisted opposition and elected its entire ticket, headed by Mrs. George B. Orlady, who will lead Pennsylvania suffragists during the coming year. Although they contended during every minute of the convention, the Philadelphia delegates, who set out to fight the Allegheny county delegates, representing the faction in power, were defeated, but they lost only after every method they could think of had been used to overthrow the organization slate. Mrs. Orlady, wife of Superior Court Justice Orlady, received 167 votes against 141 polled by Mrs. Maxwell Chapman, of Scranton, who was put on the ticket by the insurgents. The others chosen were: First vice-president, Mrs. J. O. Miller, of Pittsburgh; second vice-president, Miss M. Carey Thomas, of Bryn Mawr; third vice-president, Mrs. L. L. Smith, of Stafford; fourth vice-president, Mrs. E. E. Kiernan, of Somerset; fifth vice-president, Mrs. James P. Rogers of Warren; sixth vice-president, Mrs. H. H. Harvey, of Wilkes-Barre, who defeated Miss Lucy Lewis, of Philadelphia; secretary, Miss Helen C. Clark, of Harrisburg; auditors, Mrs. Winifred Du Puy and Mrs. R. L. Schroyer, of Pittsburgh and Selinsgrove, respectively, and Pennsylvania member to the National Executive Committee, Mrs. Joseph Head, of Philadelphia, who won over Mrs. Horatio G. Lloyd, of Haverford.

Man, Believed Insane, Is Little Hurt When He Jumps From Train Window Howard Stemple, aged 23 years, of Philadelphia, believed to be demented, who last night broke away from Pennsylvania railroad officers, and jumped through a passenger car window at North street, was found in South Front street. He applied at several places for something to eat. Henry Burn brought the man to the police station. When taken to jail for safe keeping, he tried to get away from Patrolman Busch. While enroute to that city from Johnston he became demented and was placed in charge of an Altoona officer. The man was violent but quieted down. When the train reached North street crossing, he started to put on his overcoat. Before the officer could get his coat on the man had jumped through the car window. With the exception of a few cuts on the face and hands, and several body bruises, the man suffered little from his jump from the train. He was taken to Philadelphia at noon to-day.
