Discolored or Spotty Skin Easily Peeled Off

The discoloring or roughening to which many skins are subject at this season, may readily be removed. Mole-colored wax spread lightly over the face before retiring and removed in the morning with soap and water, completely peels off the discolored skin. Get an ounce of the wax at any druggist's. There is no more effective way of banishing chaps, blotches, pimples, freckles and other cutaneous defects. Little skin particles come off each day, so the process itself doesn't even temporarily mar the complexion and one soon acquires a brand new, spotless, girlishly beautiful face. Wrinkles caused by weather, worry or illness, are best treated by a simple solution of powdered salicylic acid, 1 oz., dissolved in 1/2 pint witch hazel. Bathing the face in this produces a truly marvelous transformation.—Advertisement.

Concerning That Ordinance

- Yesterday we told you some of the provisions of the jitney ordinance now before Council. So far you haven't run across anything unreasonable, have you?
- But you want to know more—so let's dig into the matter a bit deeper.
- The ordinance provides that the interior of the jitney shall be effectively illuminated at night.
- The reason is obvious. While in hiring a cab or other vehicle alone it is yours for the time—to go where you say—to carry with you whom you shall say—with the jitney it's different. It answers the beck and the call of the passerby. Your fellow-passengers may be law-abiding citizens. Again, they may not be. Wouldn't you rather ride with them in lighted cars?
- Automobile lighting is a simple matter. There's nothing unreasonable about that provision, is there?
- The ordinance provides that any article left by a passenger in a jitney shall be held for twenty-four hours, and if not called for to be turned over to the city for preservation and identification.
- Anything unreasonable about that?
- We know, from experience, that packages are frequently forgotten by their owners. Under present conditions how could you locate any article which you might leave in a jitney.
- The ordinance provides that there shall be a sign attached to each jitney setting forth the license number and the fare or fares charged.
- Is that reasonable or unreasonable?
- It's to protect you against the sudden increase in rates that has at times taken place when the jitney-trip home has been but half covered.
- The ordinance provides that the city's Department of Public Affairs shall be authorized to issue regulations and rules governing the operation of the jitney.
- Anything unreasonable about that?
- Traffic dangers have multiplied many times since the advent of the jitney. Careful operation will eliminate some of them, and YOU are entitled to any protection that can be given you in that way.
- Then there are provisions, of course, imposing fines for the violation of provisions, as is customary with all ordinances of such character, which it is unnecessary to enumerate.
- But outside of them, you have had presented to you the gist of the ordinance and its important provisions.
- Is there anything about these provisions, individually or collectively, that is unreasonable or drastic?
- Seems like a pretty sane and fair measure throughout, doesn't it?
- Well, as we said before, it's squarely up to you—Act.
