Compound Writing from The House of the Good Shepherd, at Sunnyside Ave., and 60th St., Seattle, where she is the guest of her life-long friend the Rev-erend Mother, Mrs. Mary Austin who lost everything in the fire in 1906, says she experienced speedy re-lief from the use of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin and that she found this gentle, pleasant-tasting laxative more effective than several doses of cas-tor oil. The active principles of certain haxative herbs are combined in Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin to act on the eliminative organs in an easy, natural way, without griping or other dis-comford. Its freedom from opiate or narcotic drug of every description, combined with its gentle action and positive effect, make it the ideal laxa-tive for family use. Druggists every-where sell it for fifty cents a bottle. A bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup

- Whether the gift shall be a piano, a player-piano, or Victrola; this store with a reputation of years offers you only that merchandise which has an estab-lished supremacy in the field of musical instruments.
- Moreover, our business platform has won for us an enviable reputation. Prices here never fluctuate. Each instrument must be what we represent it to be, and we know irrevocably that it is worth just exactly what is asked for it. And then, the Sigler service in repair and tuning are factors which should be considered by the prospective customer.
- The Sigler agencies comprise the best instruments known in the musical profession. Included are the STEINWAY in both upright and grand, the MEHLIN, and the C. M. SIGLER. Among the player planos, this store repre-sents exclusively the AEOLIAN PIANOLAS comprising the Steinway, the Wheelock, the Steck, the Stroud, the Stuyvesant and the Weber.
- In the Victrola department there is to be found every style which is made, and in the Victor library of records there is to be had the largest assortment in this city.

We will appreciate a call from you relative to purchasing a musical instrument for Christmas Gift Giving. All of the instruments sold here are not high priced, but in every one; it has long since been a rule of the house; quality is the essential of paramount importance.

help to the enemy to let the people of Ireland, of Scotland, of England and of Wales know what their own regi-ments are doing?' He said that the landing at Sedul Bahr in April, which was the most difficult operation of that battle, was carried out by the Dublin Fusiliers ad the Munster Fusi-liers, but that Ireland had no knowl-edge of their work except in letters from the few surviving officers. He continued: "That kind of thing is do-ing us untold mischief in Ireland. One of the Dublin Fuciliers was known as the 'Pals.' It was made up of well-educated young men from the uni-versities, public schools and the pro-fessions. They were all practically annihilated. I know scores of families in Dublin who are in terrible anguish over the death of their children. I have seen numbers of letters from survivors who speak in the highest terms of the gallantry of those lads.'' Referring to the landing at Suvla Bay.' Mr. Redmond said: "I have received communications relating to the Tenth (Irish) Division, not from men in the ranks or subalterns, but from officers and the Prime Minister. Sir Ian Hamilton is back here now, and some day these things will have to be in-quired into, and when they are known I think it will be found that never in your military history have troops been i think it will be found that never in your military history have troops been or have shown such gallantry as the Tenth Division commanded by Sir Bryan Mahon. Yet not one word of recognition has been, written about them.'' Bryan Mahon. Yet not one word of recognition has been written about them." Mr. Redmond dealt particularly with the War Office censorship over official reports in this speech. In the earlier months of the war the gov-enter months of the work of the British army. His messages, however, were robbed of nine-tenths of the British army. His messages, however, were robbed of nine-tenths of their possible interest by the ab-sence of the names of organizations and individuals. Since a limited number of British correspondents have been permitted at army headquarters during the past season the official "Eyewitness" has been withdrawn, but the newspaper men are under the same restriction of writing mostly in generalities.
