RAILROAD & DEWS

FREIGHT WRECK TIES UP TRAFFIC

SYSTEM CONTESTS

Division Early Today; Train Enroute to Harrisburg

Rules to govern contests in the P. R. The Pennsylvania railroad, were two hours late to-day reaching Harrisburg. The delay was due to a serious freight wreck on the New York division. An eastbound train was wrecked, sideswiping a freight train bound for Harrisburg. The cars were loaded with general merchandise, but as far as is known, none of the freight was consigned to Harrisburg firms.

An Associated Press dispatch from Philadelphia says:

"Twenty-two loaded boxcars and a locomotive were piled up in a wreck at Andulasia, Pa., on the New York division of the Pennsylvania railroad about 16 miles from this city at 1.30 o'clock this morning, when two freight trains sideswiped. A fireman was intrains sideswiped. A fireman was intrains sideswiped. A fireman was intrains also crashed. In this accident and traffic between New York and this city blocked until 9 o'clock when two through tracks were cleared.

Two Wrecks in Ten Days

The wreck occurred near the place where on November 29 two freight trains also crashed. In this accident and a fireman injured. Traffic was, then blocked as completely as this morning. A broken wheel on a freight bound from Philadelphia for Jersey City was the cause of to-day's wreek.

"We have heard reports that the wyreck was not due to an accident was considered to be designated by committee. No participate parter will be allowed to participate the section of the proximal and the winner of the second match to be designated by committee. No play Sunbury.

"We have heard reports that the wreck was not due to an accident, but our investigation reveals it was an accident and that it is only a coincidence that the wrecks occurred so closely together and under such similar circumstances," said M. F. Tomilinson, of Jersey City, freight traffic manager of the division.

How Wreck Occurred

The eastbound freight was composed of 44 cars. According to Mr. Tomlinson the flange on a wheel on one of the cars broke and after several cars were derailed and pounded over ties for about 100 feet flew off the track crashing into cars of a westbound freight bound for Harrisburg, sitting just below the locomotive.

The impact joited the westbound locomotive from the track, upsetting it. The wreckage was scattered over all tracks of the line. The engineer and fireman managed to crawl from beneath the overturned locomotive.

Both were slightly injured.

PENROSE FAVORS NATIONAL GUARD

Says That National Government Should Pay More Attention to Them

Senator Boles Penrose, who has very clearly set forth his position on national defense, declared in Washington that as a result of his 10,000 mile trip about the country he was con-vinced that the National Guardsmen deserve more consideration in the na-tional scheme and that he will work deserve more consideration in the national scheme and that he will work to that end.

The Senator's ideas are as follows:

"My own opinion is that we should provide a standing army of at least 250,000 men and as many more as the military experis of the government believe to be necessary. In addition, we should strengthen the National Guard by enacting the Militia Pay bill and by other means make service in the militia attractive. But I am not sure that the proposed continental army will be established, for I find much opposition to it from National Guard sources. Many guardsmen have written to me protesting against this feature of the preparedness program and it seems to me that the proposition as outlined and approved by the administration is unfair to the National Guard, many members of which have devoted years of service to it.

Precedence for Guardsmen

Precedence for Guardsmen Precedence for Guardsmen

"For instance, why should the 12,000 officers and men who compose the National Guard of Pennsylvania be obliged to take a back seat for this continental army in the event of the forces of this country being called to the colors? Our guard is efficient and has been maintained for years as an effective force always at the disposal of the Federal Government. If the occasion should arise where the armed forces of this country are called into service, then the National Guard should come next to the standing army and should have the precedence and prestige to which they naturally are entitled.
"I have just finished a circuit of

are entitled.

"I have just finished a circuit of 10.000 miles of travel throughout this country with the Liberty Bell and it is my opinion that the people are strongly in favor of preparedness—a program of building up the armed strength of the nation. There can be no partisanship in this question and no party will be able to gain a political advantage from it. It is a patriotic question. There given some study to the political advantage from it. It is a patriotic question.

"I have given some study to the question and my own opinion is that the best way for us to proceed would be, after increasing our standing army to the requisite size, to provide for short term enlistments, say one year, and then provide for a reserve. Many young men would be glad to serve in the army for a year just to be able to see the world and get the physical benefits from such service. Then we could keep them on the reserve list by some concessions, such as a small amount of pay, preference in civil service appointments, exemption from jury duty and by similar means. I believe in this way we could soon have an available force of more than half a million men.

Money Must be Provided

have an available force of more than half a million men.

Money Must be Provided

"As to how the expense of this increase in the army and navy is to be met, I cannot say. That is for the Democrats to determine. Perhaps they will provide for a bond issue. Some provision must be made: that is certain. The treasury is bankrupt, no matter how the administration officials may attempt to conceal the fact. There is talk of a tax on gasoline, but if that is enacted it will bring down upon the Democratic Party the disapproval of the farmers of the West who own automobiles or run their threshing machines by gas engines. The piper must be paid and it is for the Democrats in power to determine by what method.

"It is gratifying to note that in the movement for preparedness all elements of the Republican Party are united, including the Progressives, who are coming back. In fact, the Progressive leaders were among the first to declare for prompt action in this direction.

"I do not look for any general tariff."

Progressive leaders were among the first to declare for prompt action in this direction.

"I do not look for any general tariff legislation at this session, unless it is precipitated upon Congress by the question of providing the means for carrying out the national defense program. In such event the whole question is likely to be opened up. Otherwise there can be no general revision of the tariff until the Republican Party is returned to power. But some provision must be made to meet the conditions which will arise at the end of the European war. Then the industries of Europe will resume production and their output of cheap labor will be dumped upon the American market, unless the protective bars are put up to keep them out. There is a serious problem that confronts us."
