BUSINESS WILL CONTINUE AFTER WAR, PREDICTION

Big Steel Manufacturer of France Believes Prosperity Will Not Cease

Paris, December (correspondence of the Associated Press).—That the volume of business between the United States and Europe will not cease with the war, that the United States will not for several years have to fear European competition in manufactured products, is the opinion expressed here by Robert Pinot, general secretary of the Comité des Forges de France. This organization is the official representative of the Creusot Works and all the other iron and steel manufacturers of France and the medium through which the French government is now securing large quantities of war munitions for the use of the French and Russian armies.

In an interview Mr. Pinot said: "It is unfortunately true that we must look to the United States for several years to supply us with money or credits and with raw and manufactured materials. I say this is unfortunately true because I realize that we will be working for the next twenty years to pay what we owe. Not before that time can we begin to put any profits in our own pockets. The fear that so soon as the war is ended the manufacturers now busy making arms and cannon and shells will convert their factories into the making of products to compete with yours is unfounded.

Must Have Help

"While we French iron and steel men have been doing surprising work in our munitions, while we are turning out more than the English factories, while our people have shown a marvelous example of improvisation, while we have done all this with our best plants and our mines in the hands of the Germans, we are not superhuman. We cannot see as far as you do. The war is over and begin flooding your home markets because of our cheaper labor or compete with you in your foreign markets. How can we? We will first have to do the enormous task of rebuilding our old steel plants, of re-converting our automobile, button, cloth, printing and railroad shops, all now busy making munitions, back to their old uses. We will have to try to repair the vast material destruction that has come with the war. Then we will have to do our best to satisfy our own home markets. To do these things we will have to continue to buy of you, as we are now doing for war supplies.

"What chance is there for the American to do a steady business with us long after the war is over, to follow up and establish himself in the business now begun? I am not a prophet, and the war is not yet over. But here is a fact to be considered by the American manufacturer: So far as concerns France, we iron and steel men had a surprising business in the few years before the war. We were not only filling the demands made in this line on the home market, but we were beginning to go into the foreign market and had almost ceased to be an agricultural nation. I believe, too, that our products were the most perfectly made in the world. They were made to stand up to wear. I won't say that we were right in manufacturing this way, that the American method is not the better, but our customers demanded long-wearing articles and insisted on their demands. An American locomotive is built to last seven years, whereas the railroads we supply want them to last thirty years. This is a condition the American must meet in future competition with us."

Imports Increase

In connection with the reconstruction of the French factories destroyed in the north of France, referred to by Mr. Pinot, a current report indicates increasing imports of cotton from the United States and shows that France is now using more American cotton than ever before the war. The totals for the first eight months of this year of such imports were 6,000,000 quintals of 160 lbs. each. In 1914, France had 7,200,000 cotton spindles and 120,000 looms. At the end of 1915 but 25 per cent, or 800,000, were in operation, due to the German invasion of the Vosges and Lille districts. Now 46 per cent, or 3,000,000 spindles, are in operation with 4,200,000 still idle.

There is a prospect for large orders of American railway supplies being placed in France. The northern and eastern railways suffered severely by the German invasion and the other four large railway systems are badly in need of new material of all kinds. While the latter four railways have, during the present year, earned over 70 per cent, of their normal receipts both for freight and passengers, they delayed placing orders for new material until Fall. So far American car firms have taken orders for 10,000 freight cars, March delivery. Other orders amounting to more than one million dollars were being placed by the French roads when the Balkan situation interfered with available ocean freight and now these orders are being delayed or being placed in England. The Southern Railway ordered 1,000 cars from a Belgian firm newly established in Spain when this freight situation developed. Otherwise this order would have gone to an American firm.

COUGHED NIGHT AND DAY

How This Little Orphan Boy Was Cured.

We want the people of Harrisburg to know that all letters like the following are truthful and genuine:

Towanda, Pa. "I took a little orphan boy to live with me and last Christmas he contracted a hard cold which developed into bronchitis. He was very ill and a bad cough set in so that he coughed night and day. After trying everything, nothing seemed to do him any good, until along in February I got a bottle of Vinol. After using half the bottle his cough began to improve, and two bottles entirely cured his bronchitis and he gained in weight so that he doesn't look like the same child. Harry A. Stephenson, Towanda, Pa.

The reason that cough syrups fail in such cases is because they are palliative only, while Vinol removes the cause, being a constitutional remedy in which are combined the healing elements of fresh cods' livers, together with tonic iron and beef peptone. It strengthens and refreshes the entire system and assists nature to expel the disease.

WARNING

--TO--
Eyeglass Wearers

¶ Owing to the fact that there is no law in Pennsylvania regulating optometry, and the fitting of glasses, fakers and irresponsible practitioners, who have been forced out of 36 states, which have passed laws for protecting the public in this respect, are coming into the state in large numbers, and are offering glasses and services at so-called—"great bargain prices."

¶ They offer to make free examinations, give ridiculous guarantees, and use other blandishments to get unsuspecting persons to their offices.

¶ When a prospective customer calls they explain that their low-priced glasses will not apply to the case and that special lenses are required or that special treatment is necessary, and charge far in excess of the advertised prices of established and reputable optometrists.

¶ The Harrisburg Association of Optometrists will appreciate any information from anyone who has been swindled or imposed upon and request that complaints and full information be sent to the secretary of the Harrisburg Optical Association, Harrisburg, Pa., which will prosecute the cases and endeavor to have the money returned.

We also wish to warn the public against peddlers and house to house opticians. It is impossible to examine eyes correctly in the home and this class of peddlers may do your eyes untold harm and give you little value for your money.

OH! GIRLS, HERE'S YOUR CHANCE FOR A ROYAL HUSBAND

You With the Money and Looks Get on the Job Early; You Can Land a Real One

Correspondence of Associated Press.

London, Dec. 10.—Speculation as to royal marriages, always a lively topic of gossip, has been increased since the war began, for the field of possibilities so far as the royal houses of Great Britain and Russia are concerned has been narrowed by the war. Thoughts of marriage between the princes or the princess in Buckingham Palace with anybody of Hohenzollern associations are now out of the question. Meanwhile the Prince of Wales is in his twenty-second year, his brother Albert will be twenty on December 14, and the Princess Victoria passed her eighteenth birthday in April last. The three younger brothers range from fifteen to ten years of age so their brides need not cause their royal parents any concern yet awhile.

The choice of the next Queen of Great Britain is of such importance that even this great war cannot obscure the popular interest in the selection of a wife for the Prince of Wales, and it is recalled that while he is 22 now, his father was married to the Princess of Teck when he was 23 years old and his grandfather married Queen Alexandra when he was not as old as the Prince is now. The exceptionally late age at which King George was married may in part have been due to the fact that the heir to the throne, the Duke of Clarence, did not die till 1892, and his brother, the present king, was married the next year.

That there are five boys in the royal family here is a fact that widens the field of speculation. A weekly paper in its last issue, for example, published the portraits of the two beautiful Rumanian princesses with the hint that they might later be better known in Britain, a safe and indefinite suggestion in the circumstances.

Similarly it is equally vague to make suggestions with regard to the large royal family in Petrograd, but all the royal families of Europe has been the subject of many articles in the British press during the war and it has been pointed out how this has affected the diplomatic situation in Holland, Sweden, Bulgaria and Greece. Meanwhile there has been no wedding in the immediate royal family since the King's sister Maud married King Haakon VII of Norway in 1898.

COUNTING BY WHOLESALE

The counting of small objects is a tedious process which is being eliminated in many industries by the use of specially devised scales. Hand counting takes more time than the best counting machines of various kinds, which secured the desired totals in a fraction of the time required by a human accountant. But the scales make still better time than the best counting machines on record, and their accuracy can be depended upon absolutely. The Philadelphia street car companies are now using such scales for counting the mass of tickets and transfers collected each day.

The method is simple. If the company desires to count its tickets in quantities of 10,000 it adjust the scales at a ratio of 200 to 1. The pointer is then set at the 10,000, and fifty tickets are counted into the ratio pan suspended under the weighing beam. Enough tickets are then placed on the scale platform to balance the beam. This requires exactly 10,000.

CO-OPERATIVE HEALTH DEPT.

Seven Massachusetts cities have combined their resources to establish a single public health department. By this method each city secures more efficient medical inspection and sanitation at a less cost than was possible when each of them maintained an independent bureau of public health.

Wellesley, Framingham, Weston, Melrose, Needham, Winchester and Canton have established this central organization, which consists of a general administrative officer, a chemist, a bacteriologist and an inspector of plumbing and sanitation, together with a corps of assistants. The movement points a way by which the smallest towns in thickly settled districts may have their health safeguarded by experts as eminent as those employed in the largest metropolis.

BACKACHE--NATURE'S WARNING!

Usually Indicates Presence of Uric Acid. New Discovery Quickly Eliminates Poisonous Waste. Then Pains Disappear.

Authorities are agreed that the kidneys must be kept strong and active if health and life are to be maintained. It is their function to filter the impurities from the blood. When for any reason they fail to properly perform this work, the poisonous waste is forced back into the blood and carried through the system. Tiny acid crystals are deposited in the joints and muscles where they don't belong and where their presence is soon felt. The blood goes sluggish and poisonous pains and aches begin to shoot warnings that something is wrong. If you have a lame, aching back, stiff joints or muscles, have severe headaches or suffer with sudden shooting rheumatic twinges, prompt corrective measures should be taken at once or serious complications with untold agony and misery are likely to quickly follow. But, don't resort to external applications like liniments and plasters. While they may give temporary relief by the counter irritation they produce, you have got to remove the cause before anything like permanent benefit can be expected. In cases of this kind a new treatment that has already shown remarkable results in a large number of cases is being widely used. It is called Solvax. Solvax is a powerful dissolving agent that goes right to the seat of the trouble, working its way into every fold and crevice of the filtering membranes where it dissolves the uric crystals and clogging waste that are preventing the kidneys from performing the work nature intended. When Solvax starts work on the kidneys a complete change is noticed almost at once. Backaches and other painful symptoms disappear. The sluggish blood thoroughly cleansed of its load of poisonous waste starts pumping vigorously through the system and the whole being brightens up as if by magic. The kidneys, freed of all clogging impurities can now go to work with a vim. If you suffer from any form of kidney complaint, go at once to H. C. Kennedy or any other reliable druggist, and get a new packet of Solvax and see the difference. You are cheating yourself out of a big slice of life if you don't use Solvax at once. It is a safe, inexpensive treatment and always sold satisfaction guaranteed or money cheerfully refunded.—Advertisement.
